FOREWARD

San Sarin, worthy scholar of Sanskrit, is by profession an accountant though he possesses deep knowledge of Sanskrit language and literature, as he cherishes great interest in this subject. He is a regular contributor to the World Sanskrit Conference. He has visited thereby many countries where this conference was held in past.

We met in Leiden, The Netherland where the World Sanskrit Conference was organized. Fortunately he took us to an exhibition where photos etc. of the Khmer sculptures of Angkorian period were displayed. There with great interest he has explained especially the greatest temple in the world of “The Great God Viṣṇu of the world.” The complete structure of the series of these temples is spread in the area of 12 km x 12 km. which is known as “Big City”. As Mr. San Sarin has explained in his introduction, “The Big City” with its squareness (12 km x 12 km). This City is surrounded by large trenches and walls. It has four axial doors which direct to the four cardinal points of space. The centre of these four directions is started from the Bayon, the last Khmer “Temple-Mountain”. The fifth door called Dvār Jay, “Victory Door”, is at the East side, opened on the ancient pavement guided toward the “Royal Tribune” and the “Royal Palace”. Each door of the City has three big and imposing towers.”

The author of “Samudramanthana” is inspired by this scene of churning of the ocean for Amṛta. He has provided us with the text of “Samudramanthana” from the Ādi Parvan of Mahābhārata with translation and a critical notes on each and every word. Here his deep knowledge of Sanskrit Grammer is evident. He has in his introduction provided us with the comparative study of “Samudramanthana” of Matsya-Purāṇa, Viṣṇu Purāṇa, Bhāgavata Purāṇa and Mahābhārata.

As it is noted by Mr. San Sarin in his introduction – “On counting the protagonists at the right hand of the dancing God Viṣṇu, we have 92. This is the demon’s camp. At the left hand of the God, the number of protagonists is 88. This is the gods’ camp.” Being an accountant he has tried in his own way to explain the secret of 92 and 88, which would prove interesting.

I congratulate Mr. San Sarin for his deep critical study of the Sanskrit Text of “Samudramanthana” of Mahābhārata Ādi Parvan. He has sent this text to me before some years. I have presented it to the Grant-in-aid committee for publication and Prof. V. Kutumbshastri, then Vice-Chancellor of the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan, and other members have approved it for publication. Today the book sees the day light especially when the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan (Deemed University) is organizing the World Sanskrit Conference.

I thank Dr. Radha Vallabha Tripathi, the Vice-Chancellor of the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan, New Delhi, for bringing out this work at a proper occasion.

INTRODUCTION

I wanted to be a Sanskrit reader and to understand some basics of the language, but it has not been enough to grasp the fundamental sense of certain passages of the epic stories which had been depicted by my ancestors through the many bas-reliefs of Khmer temples.

What I have seen through them, I have realized that the sculptors of the past had deeply known the stories extracted from the great Hindu epics, i.e. the _____ and the _____.

Moreover, they had rendered the living appearance of what had been told through the strophes of the epics and other old tales.

After a while, I have discovered what I will do, facing the matter which could have got mixed up over the question. To distangle the train of my thought, I have concentrated my mind on three relevant points, so that they should not notice anything discrepant in what I am intending to do. These three relevant points are :

- a) iconography,
- b) Sanskrit grammar studies,
- c) stories depicted by Khmer sculptors of Angkorian period.

These points may be believed to be consistent with the evidences handed down by cultural heritage.

Iconography is one of the matters or topics associated with archaeological studies and it may be a fit element for the framework, which I would like to set forth in the scope.

Sanskrit grammar studies as meant in this view assent to a way of dealing with positive real knowledge of the order and discipline of this language. These grammatical studies attempt to unravel some of the first operational, intellectual attainments of the fundamental elements of Panini's Sanskrit grammatical system. An analysis of each strophe of the purposeful story aims at bringing in the first elements of Paninian grammar and at the same time improving the contact of the beginners. I have made a decision about the large knowledge of Panini's work by focussing one's attention on each strophe. For that purpose and by degrees, I have never hesitated about quoting the _____ from The _____ as it is about how to instil into one's mind the deepness of Sanskrit grammatical rules. Otherwise, it is intent on creating an acceptable way with a view to understanding the meanful word used in each strophe. I have resolved the full account of my analysis by producing some useful references as they are needed.

The last relevant point is the story being considered as a support of discussion and analysis. For the present time, I have chosen the large bas-relief that anyone can see at Angkor Vat Temple, East gallery, Southern part (3rd surrounding wall). This is the bas-relief a 50 metres long and 2 metres high; obviously, Khmer sculptors of the Angkor Vat period had a panel of 100 square metres. Admittedly, this is the biggest bas-relief of the world devoted to the churning of the Ocean for Amrta.

Angkor Vat had been built under the reign of King Suryavarman II (1113-1150 A.D.). In this period, Khmer civilization had been at its apotheosis. The Angkor Vat Temple was dedicated to the King as after his death, his soul was believed to be identified with the God _____, and received accordingly the posthumous name _____, "The Great God _____ of the World".

The theme of the churning of the Ocean for had been taken up again after II's death. The demons, the gods and the serpent had the choice place as they became part and parcel of the creation of urban art. After thirty years of the Angkor Vat style, the forthcoming one was under the reign of Emperor Jayavarman VII (1181-1219 A.D.). Bayon style, that is what scholars name the new form of Khmer art of this reign. Moreover some huge temples having been raised up by his authority, the remaining famous work of this Emperor was Angkor Thom, "The Big City" with its squareness(12 km x 12 km). This City is surrounded by large trenches and walls. It has four axial doors which direct to the four cardinal points of space. The centre of these four directions is started from the Bayon, the last Khmer "Temple-Mountain". The fifth door called ___ Jay, "Victory Door", is at the East side, opened on the ancient pavement guided toward the "Royal Tribune" and the "Royal Palace". Each door of the City has three big and imposing towers.

The elements of the churning of the Ocean for Amrta had been making arrangements to create the new effect by the authors of the Bayon style. When anyone goes into the City, he must take the large pavement jumping over the outer trench; the road runs quite a way under the imposing towers and leads then to the Bayon temple. Before reaching these towers, the large pavement on the solid bridge, has at each side the guard-rails made by fifty four colossal human figures. Western travellers and visitors call this pavement the Giant's Causeway, after certain novelists. The giants grapple with a long, immense serpent Vasuki whose tail and five heads raise up again vigorously at the ends. They turn their backs toward the City, and are for anyone who enters in it, the gods at his left-hand and the demons at his right. Grappling with the Vasuki's body and holding on to their positions for ever, their eyes gaze on anyone who has to go in the City. At each door, there are 108 protagonists of the churning of the Ocean.

Going in the City, any visitor is always overwhelmed by a) an uncanny, glassy stare of all the threatening faced demons from his right-hand, b) a silent serene of purpose becoming apparent from the mild features of the gods' faces from his left-hand, c) the gigantic faces of the high three towers, bearing sway over any creature by offering a constant, enigmatic smile. These faces seem to thoroughly stand looking over the 108 protagonists who did what they had been told to be successful in this operation.

One may appreciate B.P.Groslier's point of view : "Now, if one considers the city with its ensemble : the central temple which symbolizes the Mount, the swivel of the Universe, the doors being symmetrically opposed to East-West and North-South, one gets simply a representation of the churning of the Ocean on a gigantic scale. For example, the gods of the Southern door hold on to an end of the nâga [serpent] who symbolically coils round the central mount, he is on other side, grabbed by the demons of the Northern door. Alternately pulling out, they can make the mountain revolve and spur the Ocean aiming at obtaining the ambrosia. At any time, Khmer Kings had been compared with Visnu churning the Ocean of Milk in order to have the amrta come up, that is abundance, in other words"<sup>1</sup>.

Through two reigns, the theme of the churning of the Ocean had been outshining other decorative lines. Grasping the cause of the choice made by the high authority and the artists of those days will be quite a treat. Did they have a wide choice ? To see the same theme within less than forty years, one would believe they were intent on conveying a deep message for Cambodia and its people. There is no need for us to hesitate so much about something as it will be about this. For the artists of those days to drop down the theme of churning had been impossible. For us to understand their own mind and intention is still difficult.

The theme of the churning of the Ocean for Amrta did not fail to be known or appreciated in the former period of Khmer art. The case of the Angkor Vat period may have symbolically aimed at what it must have done to strengthen the Kingdom. The churning of the Ocean would have become the “idea-force” as it had been so positive about finding out again the fourteen (or thirteen) precious things which had been lost in the former chaotic period of the universe(_____).

The Angkorian high power had been struck off by the Cham armies in 1177 A.D. Of course, the situation was woeful and people were overcome with grief. The future Jayavarman VII fought back and obtained victory for the whole country. The Emperor began to rule by following the Khmer Mahayana buddhist principles without kicking out what had been handed down by the past. Under the Jayavarman VII's reign, and besides the classical and well-known meaning, the same theme bore out a practical sense. When the victory had been recovered, people were elated at the thought of peaceful living conditions, but the high political authority had not to be content with glee at the delightful meeting. All that they needed seemed to be a fit set of operational ideas that enabled people to protect themselves and the convenient means to gloat over their potential aggressors. The essential meaning of the churning of the Ocean for had been considered as blending the vital impulse with respect to conveying the purposeful message. The image and the spirit of the theme of the churning had then appeared as a suitable way to impress the good notions upon people of how important the protecting mission was. The reason for what might be called the original method of training that was fitted to stand by in case any battlefield arose.

The Bayon style had an innovation that was the urban art grounded on an important mythology of creation. For us, the real comprehension of the period of Jayavarman VII is still limited. Facing the majesty of each entrance of Angkor Thom, B.P. Groslier says that “abundance” could have been one of the key-words of the message left by the men of those days.

Before 1177 A.D., Angkor Thom had no surrounding wall at all as it was believed to be protected by divine spells reinforced by the Magics of parole. The wall and the entrances at the important points determined by the axes of the Bayon temple would bear a part in signification. At each entrance, one of the four-faced heads<sup>1</sup> seems to watch the gods and the demons being at the churning position. This ensemble may be a representation of the Brahma's intervention in the very bad moment endured by the gods<sup>1</sup>. Brahma ordered that the ambrosia should be obtained by churning the ocean of Milk.

1. Since the late period, the four-faced heads of Angkor Thom and the Bayon temple are called “Brahm” (sk. _____) by common speech. Besides the God Brahm of Hindu _____, some scholars have considered them as the form of Lokeçvara and each smiling face could be supposed to be the portrait of the emperor Jayavarman VII. The Emperor would have been considered as a “Buddha- _____” pervading all things on the earthly life. This is one of many theories.

Thus on the summit of Mount Meru, Brahma said : "Devas ! You should follow My advice and make peace with the distracted demons; then you should make an effort to churn the ocean of milk for nectar. You should win the sympathies of Lord Varuna, and then appeal to the mighty Visnu for help. You should in churning the ocean employ the Mount Meru as a churning-stick, the Sêsa serpent as the string of the churning -stick. For the being you should appease Bali, the king of the demons, so that he may be the supervisor in this work and pray to Kûrma, the tortoise-incarnation of the eternal Visnu, in the Pâtâla, as the base, and the Mount Mandara also for help".<sup>2</sup>

1. In the war between the gods and the demons, restored the killed Asura to life. Then, they were constantly powerful and ready to fight the gods. Cf. The, Part II, chapter 249, st.4-12, Nag Publishers, Jawaharnagar, Delhi, 1983, p. 1082.

2. Cf. The, Part II, chapter 249, Ibid. p. 1082-83; there are some strophes as following :

(H)		idam aha jagat pati // 12 //
	Brahmovaca
mad	tat tathaiva
	sakhyam atra	// 13 //
		// 14 //
Manthana	mandara
		// 15 //
mandara	ca aila	avyaya
		// 16 //

This is the legitimacy of the churning of the Ocean for nectar. Each door with the four-faced heads and the rows of the gods and the demons created an ensemble which stamped Brahm 's orders on the mind for ever as the gods had been on the verge of defeat. Brahma's orders had summoned up the gods' courage and also had avoided anything that might have unnerved them. They had borne the brunt of the great hardships of a ruthless battle, and might have come the unforeseen case as to obscond from their chosen path and being consequently thought to be craven. Brahma's intervention had helped them remain undaunted by the difficult task that lay ahead. The message of the churning felt by people living in the Jayavarman VII's period would have been actions with dauntless courage and unfaltering spirit, and for their native land, they must have kept going unflinching to the very moment when triumph or failure are decided. What has struck me most is the high standard of their message. What was it that thus inspired them ? The creators were smart to have the knack of being able to convey the message which normally makes anyone quick on the uptake and alert in discerning how the coming days should be.

The 2nd line of the st.15 mentions Bali, the King of the demons. In Khmer ritual ceremonies, there is a seance of invocation and offering devoted to Bali, (wedding ceremony, inauguration of a new house, ordination ceremony, buddhist ceremonies in a monastery). Bali holds on to his importance in numerous ritual acts and accordingly in the Khmer language people have the word (a), (from sk. bali + ____). Besides a seance of invocation towards Bali, the word (a) itself means an offering presented to the non-buddhist spirits and animism. In Khmer feeling, (a) (or sometimes (a)) is synonymous to ____.

On hearing Brahma's speech, all the gods went to the Patala and firstly told Bali what they had received as orders from the Creator of the Universe.

About the "abundance" (according to B.P. Groslier), the churning of the Ocean had made people entertain hopes of being reassured about the whole thing. The fourteen (or thirteen) precious things are said in certain

About the numbers 92 and 88

Preliminary Notice

When visiting the 3rd gallery East, in the Southern part of the Angkor Vat Temple, one sees a large panel of bas-relief devoted to the churning of the Ocean for _____. A visitor may notice a) the big and long five-headed snake known as who had been used as a rope, b) the dancing God holding in his hand his sword and discus(cakra) as he controlled all of the steps of the enterprise, put rythm into the churning motion, c) the Asuras' chief with 36 heads, 18 arms, standing on his two big legs, d) the nearby dancing God , the mountain Mandara at the centre of the panel had been used as the churning stick, e) the Ocean is suggested by the presence of a five-headed and many fishes which were cut by the terrible centrifugal churning force when they had reached the Mandara mountain.

On the opposite side of the demons'Chief, Hanuman, the R ma's General, is standing up near the uki's tail.

The sculptors of the bas-relief obeyed bilateral symmetry as being the fundamental principle in architecture and sculpture. This principle extends its rigour and its determining trends in various ways through many centuries of Khmer art.

On counting the protagonists at the right hand of the dancing God , we have 92. This is the demon's camp. At the left hand of the God, the number of protagonists is 88. This is the gods' camp.

By referring to the bilateral symmetry mentioned above, each camp should have the same number of protagonists. It is incredible that the leading chief of sculptors should have avoided this rule of symmetry. However skilful and creative they might be, they would not have given up that well-known principle. Whatever one may think, it was not a mistake in their work that had been approved by the highest authority of those days.

When he started conceiving the project of this bas-relief, the leading chief of sculptors should have in his mind a clear and valuable reason for him choosing the fit number of protagonists for each camp. He followed his plan so that he would not change what he was intending to do.

In good sense, anyone expects to see the same number of protagonists in each camp, but the leading chief of sculptors had arranged to choose 92 demons and 88 gods. There was nothing to prevent him from doing so. One thing seems certain: he would have been made to provide the reason for his choice. What concept would have his reason approved ? It was so needful a concept that anyone could be eager to know it. On looking at the concept and the reason, there was however a debate as to what should be done. I wonder the concept ought to bring some of its influence to bear on the choice. As a matter of fact, it is not sure whether the reason was required. I found it interesting that someone would be able to answer this question. Besides, the question whether the reason leant by a practical intelligence exercised an influence over the concept or not. In this respect, I believe the reason was conducive to breed the work as anyone sees it until today. I won't go further into the matter as the reason of the creator's choice is worth knowing.

What will be said is contemplating finding out the reason connected with the number 92 and 88. After a while, I have had to defer making my decision as I have not anticipated being gripped by such a complex entangling situation.

I propose starting with the datum. I have just begun to realize how so little had been done. Only 92, 88 and the characteristics of the Asuras' chief are clearly shown. All that worries me is that the situation looked uncomfortable. The two great Hindu epics inform us about the story and they don't provide for significant digits being fitted for what this adequate matter requires for a trustful answer. The well-known and important numbers 27, 18 and 108 are efficient at making shift with the first reckoning approach. The theme mixed with the subject resort to effective elements for an elaborated calculation. As far as I know, a serious pattern of calculation is still distant.

Sometimes, I wonder would the sculptors have meant the secret of their choice to be kept. The realistic aspect is too difficult for me, but presumably these two or three numbers may be trusted to reach what I intend to do. Whereupon, to proceed with the essence of the matter is needed. There is little prospect of any simple idea that would be capable of something to redeem from oblivion some ancient human works braving the perils of the time. Otherwise, I can't bear anyone to believe that the number 92 and 88 had been the hazard of the depicting work. I won't have anyone laugh at the sculptors' choice. In that case, I should get these numbers to deal with a cultural framework.

On account of the importance of theme and the place of the bas-relief of 50 metres long, the cultural influence stands for the background and the trend of the depicted work. In view of the Khmer religious context, the choice of the numbers 92 and 88 would better be related to the Veda. Khmer Vedic knowledge of those days should not have failed to express its lofty outstanding paragon through some forms as the opportunity had been offered. About these two purposeful numbers, I am not entirely affirmative, still I cannot help feeling an irresistible bent for the Vedic link. What will strike people most would be the best way of combining these numbers with the ensemble of the elements of the large panel.

This should be a good opportunity for me to consider some Khmer reckoning ways as they were known even in the recent period. Through many steps of calculations, Khmer operational ways have brought in a valuable contribution. I should find it careless in my survey to omit such a useful contribution.

It is then that I am captivated by some inside aspect of the bas-relief and I become preoccupied with silly questions which can throw anyone into raptures. I should have mistrusted the appearance of things, but I am interested in getting an insight into anything.

At the Angkor Vat Temple, the theme of the churning of the Ocean for shows an imposing way of depicting composition ; it is 50 metres long at the East gallery, Southern part.

The mountain Mandara and the God are at its centre. There are 92 Asura(demons). When regarding the bas-relief, they are on the left-hand side; their chief stands near the five heads of who acts as the rope of churning. The Asuras' chief has 36 heads, 18 arms, and he stands only on two legs.

On the right hand, there are 88 deva (or gods), included (?), iva (?) and Hanuman.

$$\text{Asura: } 92 \rightarrow 9 \times 2 = 18 \text{ (A),}$$

$$\text{Deva : } 88 \rightarrow 8 \times 8 = 64 \text{ (B),}$$

$$92 + 88 = 180 \text{ (C),}$$

$$92 \rightarrow 9 + 2 = 11 \text{ (D),}$$

$$88 \rightarrow 8 + 8 = 16 \text{ (E),}$$

$$(D) + (E) = 11 + 16 = 27 \text{ (F),}$$

$$(D) \times (E) = 11 \times 16 = 176 \text{ (G).}$$

The sum of the terms of the numbers 92 and 88 is :

$$9 + 2 + 8 + 8 = 27 \text{ (H),}$$

$$92 \times 88 = 8096 \text{ (I),}$$

$$96 + 80 = 176 \text{ (J),}$$

$$96 - 80 = 16 \text{ (K),}$$

$$(J) + (K) + (F) = 176 + 16 + 27 = 219 \text{ (L),}$$

$$219 + 2 = 221 \text{ (M).}$$

N.B. :- The number 2 represents the two camps in action, i.e. the demons and the gods.

$$(G) - (F) = 176 - 27 = 149 \text{ (N),}$$

$$(J) - (K) = 176 - 16 = 160 \text{ (O),}$$

$$(N) + (O) = 149 + 160 = 309 \text{ (P),}$$

$$309 \times 20 = 6180 \text{ (Q).}$$

N.B. The number 20 is the number 2 of (M) multiplying by 10, the “radix”.

$$(Q) - (C) = 6180 - 180 = 6000 \text{ (R),}$$

$$(A) \times (M) = 18 \times 221 = 3978 \text{ (S),}$$

$$3978 + 20 = 3998 \text{ (T).}$$

N.B. :- In (S), the sum of the terms is  $3 + 9 + 7 + 8 = 27 = (9 \times 3)$ , in (T) the sum of the terms is  $3 + 9 + 9 + 8 = 29$ $\rightarrow 2 \times 9 = 18$ .

By permuting the number 9, we have  $29 \rightarrow 92$ .

Again, in (T), we can have :

$$\begin{aligned} \text{a)} \quad & 3 \times 9 = 27; 9 + 9 = 18, \\ & 27 - 18 = 9; \end{aligned}$$ $$\begin{aligned} \text{b)} \quad & 9 \times 8 = 72; 9 + 9 = 18, \\ & 72 - 18 = 54; \end{aligned}$$

- c)  $54 - 9 = 45 \rightarrow 4 + 5 = 9;$ $\rightarrow 4 \times 5 = 20;$
d)  $54 + 9 = 63 \rightarrow 6 + 3 = 9;$ $\rightarrow 6 \times 3 = 18.$

In the line c), we obtain the number 20 which is added to 3978. Otherwise, (R)  $6000 / 300 = 20$ ; ( $300 = 3 \times 100$ , the number 100 may represent the various qualities of gods, the number 3, the Trimurti.

$$(T) - 4 = 3998 - 4 = 3994 \text{ (U).}$$

N.B. :- The number 4 is the difference of  $92 - 88 = 4$ .

$$(R) - (U) = 6000 - 3994 = 2006 \text{ (V).}$$

At last, 2006 is the number of the adhyaya (chapters) seen in the Rgveda.

Control :- This result may be controlled.

$$(F) \times (G) = 27 \times 176 = 4752 \text{ (F'),}$$

$$(K) \times (J) = 16 \times 176 = 2816 \text{ (K').}$$

The chief of the demons has 36 heads, 18 arms and only two legs; an operation can be set up as :

$36 \times 18 \times 2 = 1296$ . Fortunately, the sum of the terms gives out as :

$$1 + 2 + 9 + 6 = 18.$$

$$88 - 18 = 70 = (7 \times 10).$$

$$(F') - (K') = 4752 - 2816 = 1936 \text{ (DF),}$$

$$(DF) + 70 = 1936 + 70 = 2006.$$

Hence, the number 2006 is found.

Elaborate lines of calculation.

A strict control must help. What will follow is not only a control grasped in the general sense, it will be the processes of reckoning and also the control at the same time.

We consider again the characteristics of the Asuras' chief with his 36 heads, 18 arms and two legs.

$$36 \times 18 \times 2 = 1296 = (36) \text{ (Ia).}$$

Most of calculating ways may follow the spirit of the strophe :

_____ gati_ //

The sum of the terms of 1296 is :  $1 + 2 + 9 + 6 = 18$  (IIb).

In 1296, we consider the numbers 1 and 6, these two numbers are at the extreme position :

1296 —— 16 → 61 (IIIa);
 secondly 1296 —— 62 → 26 (IIIa');
 → → then we have 6126 (IIIb); thirdly 1296 →  $12 \times 9 = 108$  (IIIc);

N.B. :- It confirms that the number 108 bears a functional position in the purpose. This number can be given out by the sum of  $12 + 96 = 108$  or by dividing  $1296 / 12$ .

$$96 - 12 = 84 \text{ (IIId)}$$

$$84 / 6 = 14 \text{ (IIIe)}$$

$$(\text{IIIc}) + (\text{IIIe}) = 108 + 14 = 122 \text{ (IV)}$$

→ → then we obtain 6126122(IVa).

$$\text{In } 1296 \rightarrow 9 - 2 = 7 \text{ (Va)}$$

$$7 \times 10 = 70 \text{ (Vb).}$$

N.B. :- The "radix" can be obtained by additonig 9 to 1 (in 1296).

→ → We can write down as : 612612270 (Vc)

$$\text{In } 1296 \rightarrow 96 / 12 = 8 \text{ (Vd)}$$

→ → At last, we have 6126122708 (VI).

N.B. :- From (IIIa) to (VI), the operations are known in Khmer language as jra. This purposeful expression that most of determining operations turn round the number 1296. The effect of jra is called tamriep khdan' as it is seen in (IIIb), (IVa), (Vc) and (VI). jra means "to arrange, to put or to set something in a right order". Khda indicates a digit which is determined by its own position in a number, i.e. unity, ten, hundred, thousand H (lekh puon khda) can be rendered as "a number of four digits".

In (VI), we write each digit from right to left-hand, and we have :

This is the real number which is, at this step, the object of our operations.

We see ten digits; the last one being at the extreme right-handed position may represents a limit and forms the usual "radix". In the two last digits of the number 1296, we consider 96 and divide it by 16 as  $96 / 16 = 6$  (VIII). This result will help us to find out the number of protagonists of the churning as they had been depicted on the bas-relief.

$$8072216216 - 6 = 8072216210 \text{ (IX)}$$

From the number 8 at the extreme left position to the last digit of (IX), the zero(0) is the 10th digit and forms with the last but one digit the number 10. We have, of course, five pairs of digits as following : 1st 80, 2nd 72, 3rd 21, 4th 62, 5th 10. The 5th pair of (IX) is the "radix".

The number 6 of (VIII) is the right one in the result shown in (VII). With regard to the forthcoming operations aiming at finding out the number 92 as being part of the result established by the relation (VII). The number 6 by its own nature in the situation may appear as a “surplus”. The following relation is sufficient to take heed of its case :

$$6 \times 6 \times 6 \times 6 = 6 = (36) \times (36) = 1296, \\ (\text{it may have seen in Ia}).$$

The sum of the terms of (IX) is :

$$8 + 0 + 7 + 2 + 2 + 1 + 6 + 2 + 1 + 0 = 29(\text{X}).$$

By permuting the number 9, we obtain 92, this is the number of Asura. The number 92 is given out in the secondary operations connected with (T). The result cannot be entirely satisfied with the condition which may have been defective, but at each step an ascertaining way is needed. Then, we proceed by multiplying 29 by the “radix” :

$$\begin{aligned} 29 \times 10 &= 290 \text{ (Asu1)}, \\ 290 \times 29 &= 8410 \text{ (Asu2)} \\ (\text{Ia}) / 12 &= 1296 / 12 = 108 \text{ (Asu3)}, \\ (\text{Asu3}) / 2 &= 108 / 2 = 54 \text{ (Asu4)}; \end{aligned}$$

N.B. :- 27 multiplying by 2 gives also 54.

$$(\text{Asu2}) + (\text{Asu4}) = 8410 + 54 = 8464 \text{ (Asu5)}.$$

The square-root of 8464 is 92; this is the number of the Asura of the bas-relief.

The number of the deva of the bas-relief has to be found out. The elements and the condition may produce a convenient, intermediate number for confirming the good position of the relation (VII). In (Ia), we make a series of operations.

$1296 / 2 = 648$  (XIa), $648 - (\text{IIb}) = 648 - 18 = 630$  (XIb), N.B. :- The number 18 can also be obtained by the following relation :  $1296 / 72 = 18$ . The idea connected with jra is still hinted at this step.

$1296 / 6 = 216$ (XIc), $(\text{XIc}) - 6 = 216 - 6 = 210$ (XII), N.B. :- The number 6 may be removed as it is said in (IX).
 $(\text{XIb}) - (\text{XII}) = 630 - 210 = 420$ (XIIa).

With (Xib) and (XIIa), we proceed on the same way as it has done in (IIIb), (Iva), (Vc) and (VI), —→ —→ then, we obtain 630420(XIII).

 $(\text{XIa}) / 2 = 648 / 2 = 324$ (XIIIa), $(\text{Ia}) / (\text{XIIIa}) = 1296 / 324 = 4$  (XIIIb);

N.B. :- The following operations deal with 324 and 4; $1296 / 12 = 108$ ;  $108 \times 3 = 324$ ; $12 + 96 = 108$ ;  $108 / 27 = 4$ .
—→ —→ We write down 4 as 6304204(XIV).

The sum of the terms of (XIV) is :

$$\begin{aligned} 6 + 3 + 0 + 4 + 2 + 0 + 4 &= 19(\text{XIVa}); \\ &\quad \rule{0.4cm}{0.4pt} 91; \\ 91 - 3 &= 88(\text{XV}). \end{aligned}$$

N.B. :- The number 3 may represent the .

An accurate scanning of this result has to be done. We have two ways at our disposal. Consider

The square-root of 7744 is 88. This is the number of gods(deva) of the bas-relief at Ankgkor Vat Temple.

Another way can be possible through these relations :

$$\begin{aligned}(12 + 96) + (1a) / 18 &= 108 + (1296 / 18) = \\ 108 + 72 &= 180, \\ 180 / 9 &= 20, \\ 108 - 20 &= \mathbf{88}.\end{aligned}$$

Thus, all the results are entirely cleared up.

Like in (VI), we write the relation (XIV) from the right to left-hand, and we have :

4024036(XVI).

The number 4024036 is the square of 2006.

Now, the condition may have to ascertain the real nature of the number 8072216216(VII) in this point and that the operational ways have not been deluded me. When dividing the relation (VII) by the number 2006, we obtain :

$$8072216216 / 2006 = \mathbf{4024036} \text{ (XVII).}$$

The result of the relation(XVII) is the same as in the one of (XVI) as well. Thus, the number of (VII) is :

$$8072216216 = 2006 \times 2006 \times 2006 = \mathbf{(2006)} \text{ (XVIII).}$$

The total number of the adhyaya of gveda is the swivel which had been chosen by the sculptors of the bas-relief in the period of the Angkor Vat Temple. But the result seems to give credence to the point of the concept and would certainly bias anyone in favour of what I just have set up.

I would not like to impress upon anyone the seriousness of the cause I have expounded. I myself have been impressed by what it has given.

The point which has emerged during my survey raised courage in my objective about the validity of the reckoning ways. Sometimes, I had been dubious about showing an acceptable task. There is nothing to prevent anyone disbelieving the evidence of the prosecution steps; just that it seems to have no system to deal with. Only some fundamental processes of calculation are used; this is why I deem it necessary that many points should be taken in critical apparatus. I also deem it my duty to initiate the forthcoming ways of calculation. I don't know what anyone can deduce from my statements, but I hope that anyone deduces that there will be too many views raised up in the rationalism as it stands. Now I have been even more dubious as to whether I have done the right thing.

Confirmation.

On account of taking into consideration the contrary opinions, I try to bring in a confirmation grounded on some simple elements. When I have realized this, I can't help speaking about a Khmer way of calculation known as yo. This way is not a confirmation grasped through Western comprehension. It can only be compared with Aphd_ which means "to reduce" aiming at pointing out a result.

Aphdan < aph - d , aph may be a corrupted form (?) of sk. apa; d , means "to pull out, to draw, to drag, to haul". Yo_, a verb, bears the sense of "to lift up"; in this context, it may have the sense as "to refer, to have reference". Yo_ could have the same sense as upa-DI_- as does Sanskrit. Due to a sort of preciousity in the period of Phnom Penh, aphd_ yo_ had been rejected and substituted by the expression ke_ gu_, (sk. kendra _____), "to put up an equation, to gether and to focus the essential qualities (of numbers)" for the forthcoming operation.

In our purpose, aphd yo bears effectively the sense given out by the following operations :

From the number 8072216216(VII), we can obtain :

8 9 3 8 7 (Ay1),

$$\begin{aligned} \text{as } 8 + 0 &= 8; 7 + 2 = 9; 2 + 1 = 3; \\ 6 + 2 &= 8; 1 + 6 = 7; \end{aligned}$$ in (Ay1), we can obtain onward :

17 11 7 (Ay2),      as  $8 + 9 = 17$ ;  $3 + 8 = 11$ , and 7

8 2 7 (Ay3);      as  $1 + 7 = 8$ ;  $1 + 1 = 2$ , and 7

The sum of the terms of (Ay3) is :  $8 + 2 + 7 = 17$ (Ay4).

The sum of the terms of (Ay1) is :  $8 + 9 + 3 + 8 + 7 = 35$  (Ay5);

$$(\text{Ay5}) - (\text{Ay4}) = 35 - 17 = 18 \text{ (Ay6);}$$

$$(\text{Ay4}) = 17 \rightarrow \rightarrow 71$$

$$\rightarrow \rightarrow 7 - 1 = 6 \text{ (Ay7);}$$

$$(\text{Ay5}) - (\text{Ay7}) = 35 - 6 = 29 \text{ (Ay8), this is equal to (X).}$$

Curiously, we see the same result through the operations :

$$(\text{Ay4}) = 17 \rightarrow 71 \text{ (Ay8a),}$$

$$(\text{Ay5}) = 35 \rightarrow 53 \text{ (Ay8b),}$$

$$(\text{Ay8a}) - (\text{Ay8b}) = 71 - 53 = 18 \text{ (Ay9),}$$

this is the same result as in(Ay6).

Otherwise, consider the numbers (Ay4) = 17; (Ay5) = 35, and the elements of (Ay9), i. e. 71, 53.

We will have four interesting steps :

$$35 + 17 = 52 \text{ (St1),}$$

$$71 + 53 = 124 \text{ (St2),}$$

$$124 - 52 = 72 \text{ (St3),}$$

$$35 + 10 = 45 \text{ (St4),}$$

N.B. :- The number  $45 = 180 / 4$ , see the number 180, $108 + 72 = 180$ .

$$(\text{St3}) - (\text{St4}) = 72 - 45 = 27,$$

Consequently,  $27 \times 4 = 108$ . (see the number 4 in (XIIIb).

We dispose the ensemble :

$$17 11 7 \text{ (Ay2),}$$

$$8 2 7 \text{ (Ay3).}$$

$$17 \times 7 = 119 \text{ (*),}$$

$119 - 27 = 92$  (**), it is equal to the root of (Asu5);

$8 \times 11 = 88$  (\*\*\*) , it is equal to the root of (Dev2).

Through many ways of calculation, the number 1296 (=  $36 \times 18 \times 2$ ) holds on to its importance. The number 6 plays its function at some determining points; it is equal to  $3 \times 2$ , and the number 3 is not directly used. Its metamorphosis is adequate to deal with the calculation as

$$108 / 3 = 36.$$

The number 1296 (=  $36 \times 36$  ) is derived by nature from the characteristics of the demons' chief as to what the sculptors of the Angkor Vat style felt the demoniacal prowess to be of his utmost to partake.

There are some principal steps of calculation according to what it has normally appeared, namely

- a) the number of the demons (92),
- b) the number of the gods (88),
- c) the number of the _____ (2006) of the gveda.

Curiously, the number of the demons is firstly found, which corresponds to Brahm 's advice as it is expressed in the 2nd line of st.13 (H) _____ sakhyam atra _____, (alright quoted from The ).

To seek the method of calculation and also to maintain it in the spirit of the Indo-Khmer cultural framework, it needs only to call into play the well-known numbers 18, 108 and 27. Until this point, it must be made clear that the calculation has been proceeded by using the number 1296. Hasn't one any idea of how the sculptors had these numbers. Can they be thought to know the same kind of calculation ? I am at a loss of what to say. Doing what I might, I failed to reach the whole truth. For all one may think, the question is still hankering for the slightest issue. One can guess how painful it is to set forth a lot of reckoning elements, and the situation shows a wistful aspect. It is absurd to think the sculptors could have used the reckoning lines as I show at present. If I were to say the realistic aspect, they hadn't these lines. If they were to stamp the results as they had done, they would have known something like that.

Knowing the direct connection of the numbers 92 and 88 with 2006, another question is worth asking. Can the calculations proceed from the number 2006 ? Due to elementary logic, the case would be possible. Of course, the numbers 108 and 10 (the 'radix') are needed in this purpose.

$$2006 = 2000 + 6(Ka),$$

We divide 2000 and 6 by the 'radix'

$$10, 2000/10 = 200,6 \text{ (Kha)},$$

$$6/10 = 0,6 \text{ (Ga)},$$ the last digit of 2006 must be omitted as the case has been occurred in the relation (VIII), though the elements have been in different conditions. We make a series of subtraction :

$$(Kha) - (Ga) = 200,6 - 0,6 = 200 \text{ (Gha)},$$

$$200 - 108 = 92 \text{ (Na)},$$

$$200 - 4 = 196 \text{ (Ca)},$$

$$196 - 108 = 88 \text{ (Cha)}.$$

Then, we obtain the number 92 demons and 88 gods, which is correspondent to the bas-relief.

The numbers 200 and 108 are common from the relations (Gha) to (Cha). The result of the relation (Cha) needs the one of (Ca) where 200 is subtracted by 4. Thus we have 196, which is the determining step to obtain the number 88. What is the raison d'être of this number 4 ? We may go back and see simultaneously :

- a) the relations (VII), (VIII), (IX), (X) to (Asu5),
- b) the relations (XIV), (XV) to (XVI).

The number 92 belongs to the relations quoted in a), and the number 88 has its connection with b). Otherwise, a) is for the number of the demons and b) for the gods.

On knowing these conditions, we can understand the relations (XIIia), (XIIib) and (XIV). The number 4 is given out in the relation (XIIib). This number 4 is concerned with the relations (XIV), (XV), (XVI) and undoubtedly concerns to find a solution to such situation. By the way, there is no need to suppose the number 4 has something to do with the result linked to the number of the gods' participation. At the very step and in every respect, the subtraction of the relation (Ca) is obviously needful to the reckoning way for the number of the gods.

Now, I bring one's attention to bear on elaborate lines of calculation that has any bearing on the matter; I just pointed out everything that has borne a relation to what one inquires into the numbers 92 and 88, everything that regards them. I can say the ways have at any rate showed such and such an element in the one case has been a counterpart of an element in the other. What do I produce the relations (Ka) to (Cha) for ? To ascertain the opposite possibility. To all intents and purposes, these relations are suited to outline the short reckoning ways and they succeed in calling up something that is essential about them and permeate a mnemotechnic processes. One would feel satisfaction at having conveyed to anyone a clever methodology and would be brimming with joy when he hands down a convenient path for right comprehension. The relations (Ka) to (Cha) are in this fashion that many good things have to be learnt how to quickly be grasped. What I have put forward in the relations (Ka) to (Cha) must not be compared to the elaborate lines of calculation. Finally the short reckoning ways have reached the same results, though the starting point does not link up.

Again, the number 8072216216 (relation VII) has entailed obtaining number 92 Asura, the relation (XIV) gives out the number 88 gods. Each case has respectively been confirmed by the relations (Asu5) and (Dev2). The relation (XVI) is the square of 2006 and the relation (XVIII) is equal to the cube of 2006. How best to have them interpreted ?

Before writing, I know the most important question to which I have no answer. My way has been conducive to a deadlock. I am vexed at being powerless to give an acceptable answer. I wonder this originates from my weak comprehension, scant datum. What can I do facing the square and the cube ? I am resolved to stay in the present condition and wait for forthcoming surveys. It is purposeless to compel one's way in. The problem is that it is still difficult for either of us to admit some sort of _____, "philosophy" related to fundamental mathematic elements according to the Indian view, i.e. the square and the cube. At the moment, nevertheless, several snags are hampering the correct running of what I intended to promote better understanding the problem; I have had to try to remedy that, but I have been thwarted in the plan by many incoherent elements which will be apt to fake the whole thing.

“To you, O long-lived one, I tell this story (related to) Āstīka I being the one who I (preserves life of snakes) in that way as has been heard by me from my father”.

kathayataḥ : kathayata-, (coming from the root ~ KATH- 10th cl.), verb. adj., N.sg.m. ; mayā : coming from the stem asmad-, (or mad-), I.sg.

kathāyāmi : coming from the root KATH- “to tell”, Ist pers.sg. pres. tense Parasmai pada ; the vowel a of-aya-must be lengthened as it is directly followed by the nasal m of mi ;

te : coming from the stem yuṣmad- (or tvad-), D. or G.sg., used for Saunaka ;

āstīkam : āstīka, proper name of Jaratkāru's son, object of kathāyāmi ; Ac. sg.

ākhyānam : ā-khyāna- s.nt. “a legend, a story” (kathā-purāvṛtta), Ac.sg., object of kathāyāmi ;

idam : Ac.sg.nt., related to ā-khyānam ;

āyuṣyam : āyuṣya- adj. “preservative of life” : s.nt. “duration of life”, related to āstīkaṁ; this sage, by meeting with the king Janamejaya, was giving life to any snake ; the king put and end to the sacrifice of snakes ;

pitur : pitṛ-, “father”, G. or ABI.sg., sandhi : the r is maintained as it is followed by the nasal (sonant) m of ek;k maya ;

sakāśāt : (sakāśa- adj.), Ab.sg. or sa-kāśatas, “from the presence, from”, vai : ind. (kila), expletive particle ; śrutam̄ : śruta- s.nt. “learning” (vidavattva); “heard”; yathā : ind. “according to, so that, since”.

sandhi of sakāśād : the final voiceless dental t changes into d (sonant) before the v of vai.

samupete : samupeta- adj. “possessed of” (with I.), (syn. upanna), N.dual, if. ;

adbhute : adbuta- adj. “wonderful” (āścaryakara), “extraordinary” (alaukika, amānuṣa, atimānuṣa) ; s.nt. “a wonder miracle” (āścarya, camatkṛti), “a prodigy”; related to samupete; sandhi: the vowel a of adbhute must be dropped down before the last vowel e of samupete : In Khmer language, the word āścarya is spelled as ascāryā; it is largely used by people ; abbhuta is used through a khmer neologism (without definition) that was held by Buddhist monks living in big towns.

In indology, some scholars believe that adbhuta is “constructed” from the Pāli abbhuta ; no one can assert the question, and its etymology is still doubtful.

purā : ind. “formely, in olden days” (prāk) ; “at first” ;

an-aghe : an-agha- adj. "sinless, faultless, uninjured", N. dual, f.

sandhi : the vowel a of an-aghe must be dropped down as it follows the vowel e of dbhute. May be anagha also in vocative case.

tulya : adj. “equal to, of the same kind or class or number or value, similar, comparable, like”, <sup>o</sup>tejas– adj. “equal in splendour”, <sup>o</sup>tejasah Ac.pl.m., related to sutān ;

The word tulya is explained by a pāṇini's sūtra, VI.2.2:

Tatpurṣe tulyārthatṛtīyāsaptamyu-

Kaśyapam vinatā tadā /9/

“To her (i.e. Vinatā), the husband gave boon (of two sons who are) extremely desired ; then, Vinatā spoke to Kaśyapa” “well let it be so”.

evamastviti : evam + astu + iti, sandhi : the vowel u of astu changes in v before the vowel i of iti according samprasāraṇa principle. About the latter, we can read some pāṇini's sūtras : I. 1.45

(see also the sūtras VI. 1.13 ; VI. 1.15).

astu : coming from the root AS– “to be”, Imperative tense, Parasmai pada, 3rd pers.sg. ;

iti : ind. “thus, so, as you know”, it introduces a direct speech or a quotation ;

evam : ind. “thus, in this way, in such a manner, such”, (from pronominal base e) ; tām : coming from the stem tad-, Ac.sg.m.

cāha : ca + āha, aha coming from the root AH–, considered as defective verb, 3rd perfect tense sg., “to say, to speak, to express, to signify”.

pāṇini gives a following explanation, III. 4.8 :

bruvaḥ pañcānāmadita āho bruvaḥ / 84 / padāni / bruvaḥ pañcānām āditah āhaḥ bruvaḥ (parasmai padānām ḡalatusuthala<sup>o</sup> la-aḥ vā) / bhavanti tasminnayogena ya yu ya āh aśanda ādeśo bhavati /*

āhatuh “they two say” ; āhuḥ “they say”. Though AH– is considered as a defective verb, it has also its conjugation like the verb BRŪ- : sg. āha or bravīti brrvīṣi bravīmi (AH- cannot give for this) dual āhatuh or brūtah आहतुः: āhathuh or brūtah brūvah ;

tasai: coming from the stem tad - D.sg.f.

prādād : prādāt (in pausa), pra-a-da-t, pra prefix, a augment (bhūtakarāṇa), dā, (root), t, personal flexional ending of 3rd pers.sg. Imperfect tense, Parasmaī pada; sandhi:the final voiceless dental t of prādāt changes into d before the vowel a of adhyardham; varam : vara-s.m. “boon”, Ac.sg., object of prādāt;

adhy-ardham : ḍardha- “having an additional half” “one and half” sandhi : the vowel ī of adhi becomes y before the a of ardham according to samprasārana principle (see Pāṇini's sūtras V. 1.45; VI. 4.131; VI. 1.13);

About ardha, we can read some Pāṇini's sūtras. I. 1.33:

prathama caramatayālpārdhakatipayanemāś ca /33/ padāni / prathama carama taya alpa ard katipaya nemāḥ ca (vibhāṣājasi sarvājasi

Ardha “half” is always neuter and generally takes a tatpuruṣa compound; the sense of ekadeśin and ekādhikaraṇa must be understood in this sūtra.

(see also the sūtras I. 1.23; V.4.5; VII. 3.26,27).

īpsitam : īpsita-adj. “wished, desired, dear to” (iṣ-a); “wish” (icchā), Ac. sg., related to putram;

kaśyapam : kaśyapa, proper name of Ṛsi, object of āha; vinatā : proper name of a Prajāpati's daughter, N.sg., subject of āha; tadā: “then”(tasmin samaye); it is said by a Pāṇini's sūtra:

sarvaikānyakimyattadaḥ kāle dā / 15/ padāni/sarva eka anya kim yat tadaḥ kāle dā/ vṛttih/      saptamyā iti varttate na tvitarābhya iti/sarvādibhyah prātipadikebhyo dā pratyayo bhavati/tralopavādah/

The correct reading must be prādādatyartham; on the point, the Edition of V.S. Sukthankar, BORI, Poona is doubtful. Ati-ar�ham can be rendered as “extremely”, īpsitam “desired”; i -y before the vowel a(samprasāraṇa).

garbhāvityuktvā : garbhau + iti + uktvā, au becomes āv before the vowel u of uktvā, according to saṃprasāraṇa principle, see Pāṇī’s sūtras shown in analysis of strophe 9; garbhau: garbha-s.m., “the womb, belly” (ja-hara, garbhāśaya); “conception” (garbhagrahana); garbha is also used in Khmer language (man garbh, dran garbh); N.Ac. dual;

sa : “with”, being the 1st member of compound, bahuvrīhi, (saha); mahātapāḥ may be understood as an adj. in Ac. pl. f.; the sense could be “it is said that the women are endowed with great penance”;

bhārye : bhārya-s.f., “a wife”, N. Ac. dual;

te : coming from the stem tad- A. Ac. dual,;

uktvā : abs. of VAC-, samṛ̥ṣ-e : samṛ̥ṣ-a-adj. delighted, glad, (from samṛ̥ṣ- HRS-), N. Ac. dual, f. related to bhāryau; vara – s.m. “a boon”; kaśyapo : kaśyapas (in pausa), kaśyapa, proper name, N.sg.

sandhi : the group – as becomes o before the sonant v of vanamāviśat; āviśat : coming from the root VIŚ- 6th cl., “to enter” (GAH-); “to resort to” (ā-ŚRI-); “to go in”, Imperfect tense, 3th pers. Sg. Parasmai pada, ā+a-VIŚ-a-t, ā, prefix, a, augment (bhūtakaraṇa), VIŚ-, root, -a-, vowel indicating the stem of system of present conjugation, t, personal flexional ending;

vanam : vana – s.nt. “forest”, Ac. sg.

कालेन महता कद्रूण्डानां दशतीर्दशा। daśatīrdaśa : “a thousand”, (used in Ac. or in N. case);

kālena : kāla—s.m. “time, period, I.sg;

mahatā : mahat- adj., “great, long”, I.sg.;

viprendra : vipra+indra: “great of Brahmins”, Voc. Sg. ; sandhi : a + i — e this is explained by a Pāṇini’s sū, VI. 1.87:

ādgunaḥ / 87 / padāni / āt guṇaḥ / vṛttih / acītyanuvartate / avarṇātparoyo’c aci ca pūrvo yo’ varṇastayoh /

pūrvaparayoravarṇācoḥ sthāne eko guṇa ādeśo bhavati / dve ande : dve of dvi-nt., ande; anḍa- s.nt. “an egg”, Ac. dual; in regular way owing to the rule of sandhi applied to e+a, this vowel a of ande must be dropped down, but in the present pada, it is maintained for having 8 syllables, (instead of dve’ ḡde). the rule realated to e+a is stated in VI. 1.109:

eṇaḥ padāntādati / 109 / padāni / eṇaḥ padāntāt ati / vṛttih / eṇ yaḥ padāntastasmādati parataḥ pūrvaparayo sthāne pūrvarūpamekādeśo bhavati /

In fact, the sense of this sūtra can also be applied to o in the body of the word. The vowels e or o must be followed by a short a which is very important in regard of the raison d'être of the rule.

vāyo iti — vāyaviti (o followed by i) vāyo āyāi — vāyavāyāhi (o followed by a long ā)

For a right understanding, it is intended to distinguish a) “final in a pada, b) “at the end of a word”, c) “in the body of the word”.

Vinatā, proper name, subject of janayāmāsa ;

tadā : ind. “then”;

janayāmāsa : janayām-āsa, (āsa perfect tense of AS-), peripharastic perfect tense, 3rd pers. sg., (janayām, from the root JAN- 4TH cl., to rise, to be born”; kadrūraṇḍānām : kadrūs aṇḍānām : sandhi : the dental sibilant s of kadrūs being directly preceeded by a vowel (except a or ā) changes into r and it is followed by a vowel; kadrūs: N.sg.f.

taylor : tayos (in pausa), coming from te stem tad –, dual f. (or m.nt.), G.L; sandhi: the final dental sibilants s changes into r before the vowel a of aṇḍāni;

aṇḍāni : aṇḍa-s.nt. “an egg”, Ac.pl., object of nidadhuḥ paricārikāḥ : paricārikā-s.f. “female servant” (sevikā), N.pl. f., subject of nidadhuḥ prahṛṣ-āḥ: pra-hṛṣ-a-, coming from the root HRS-(pra-HRS–), “to rejoice” (MUD–), “to be pleased” (TUS), N.pl.f., related to paricārikāḥ; nidadhuḥ : coming from the root DHR-or DHĀ, “to bear, to assume, to hold, to bear up, to sustain”, the vowel ā is at its end, it follows the conjugation (declension) of the verb DA-, perfect tense, 3rd pers.pl. Parasmai pada; ni, prefix, da, reduplication (abhyāsa); sandhi: the letter r of -ur, personal flexional ending, changes into ḥ (visarga) before the voiceless p of prahṛṣ-āḥ.

sandhi : the palatal sibilant ś becomes k at the end, according to anta principle; this k is followed by a dental sibilant s which changes itself into a cerebral sibilant ś, and we obtain kś; the vowel r̄ of the root is unchanged; this point is very important as i, ī, ū take guṇa at Ātmane pada.

putram: putra – s.m. Ac. sg., “a son”, bibheda: coming from the root BHID – (1st cl. or 7th cl.), “to break, to rend, to pierce (CHID-); “to divide, to separate” (Viśliṣ-), bi, reduplication (abhyāsa), bhed (i—e, the reduplication is stated by some Pāṇini's sūtras, i.e.

vinatā : proper name, N.sg.f. , subject of bibheda;

anḍam : anḍa-s.nt. “an egg”, Ac. sg., object of bibheda;

Tataḥ : tatas (in pausa, +tasmāt), see Pāṇini's sūtra, V. 3.7, in analysis of strophe 14;

Putrārthīnī : from putra + arthīnī, arthin-adj., “desirous of (with Ins. Or in cpds), (abhilāṣuka); “possessed of desire” (sprhāvat-); putra ° , “desirous of son”, arthīnī, N.sg.f., related to vinatā;

Tvayā: coming from the stem yuṣmad – (tvad–), I. sg. ; about tvayā, there are some Pāṇini's sūtras, VII. 2.89:

Yoci / padāni / yaḥ aci /

It can be set declension going as:

Yuṣmad+Tā = tva-ad+ā= tvay-ay+ā= tvayā; by these two sūtras, we can obtain : mayā, mayi, tvayi, yuvayoḥ, tvām, mām, tvat, mat; see also sūtra VI. 1.97 and VII. 1.32.

kṛto : kṛtas (in pausa), kṛta – adj. “made, done”, N. sg.m., related to aham, sandhi: the group –as changes into o before the sonant m of mātas, cf . VI. 1.113; śandhi: śarīreṇa : śarīra– s.nt. “body”; this word is in Pāṇini's sūtra, III. 3.41, the analysis of the strophe 16; śarīra is also used in Khmer language where śava, “dead body”, ; (Khmer spelling sārīra for sārīra, sab for śava); evam : ind. “thus in this way, in such a manner, such”; mātas: (from māṭr-), mātar (in pausa), Voc. Sg. f., sandhi; the final r of mātar must be changed into ḥ (visarga) before any voiceless consonant, but in the present case, the final r becomes s (dental sibilant) which is maintained as it is followed by the voiceless dental t of tvayā.

The phenomena is stated by three Pāṇini's sūtras:

saha : ind. “with”, used along with the verb vi-spardhase;

vi-spardhase : vi – SPARDH-, “to emulate with” (Ac.I. with or without saha), 2nd pers. s. tense, Atmane pada; eṣa: esas (in pausa), coming from the stem etad –, N.sg.m., sandhi: the final dental sibilant s must be dropped down before any consonant and before any vowel. Except a, see Pāṇini’s sūtra, VI. 1.132, (in analysis of strophe 16); varṣa –śatāni–asyā. Varṣa –“a year”. Śatāni: śata–s.nt. “a hundred”, N.pl.; sandhi: the vowel i of śatāni changes into y before the vowel a of asyā, according to samprasāraṇa principle, which is stated by Pāṇini’s sūtras : VI. 1.77:

suto : sutas (in pausa), suta –s.. “a son” (putra) ; “a child” , N.sg., sandhi: the group –as changes into o before the sonant m of mātar, see Pāṇini’s sūtra shown in analysis of the st. 17, Pāṇ. VI. 1.113;

mātar: coming from mātr-, Voc. Sg.f., sandhi: the letter r is maintained before the sonant d of dāsyatvān; some Sanskrit, grammatical books written by Western scholars state that the s and the r become r when they follow any vowel, except a or ā, i.e. avis mama — avir mama, dhenus iva — dhenur iva. By considering matar dāsyatvān, we are at the presence of the letter r following the vowel a; I think this r is maintained though it follows the vowel a. The fact is also seen in the Gītagovinda (5,10) “.....svayamidametya punar jagada rādhām”, but it deals with punar, and anyhow we have the letter r following the vowel a, this r is maintained before the sonant j of jagāda. So, the Pāṇini’s sūtras VIII. 3.15 and VIII. 3.34 cannot be applied (see them in the analysis of the strophe 17);

dāsyatvān : dāsyatvāt (in pausa), dāsyā – tva-s.nt., dāsyā – s.nt. “servitude, slavery, service”; the suffix tva shows the condition, the fact of something; it is generally at the end of a compound; tvaāt, Ab. Sg. sandhi: the voiceless final dental t changes into the nasal n of its class before the nasal m of mokṣayisyati; the phenomena is explained by Pāṇini's two sūtras, II.1.39:

Yadyenam, sandhi : the vowel i of yadi changes into y, according to samprasāraṇa principle, (Pāṇini’s sūtras VI. 1.77, VI. 1.127, see in analysis of the st. 18);

Api : ind., it is explained by the following Pāṇini’s sūtra, I.4.96 :

mātas: from mātar (in pausa), Voc.sg., sandhi: the final r must be changed into ḥ(visarga) before any voiceless consonant, but in the present case, it is followed by the voiceless dental t of tvam, (Pāṇini’s sūtras, VIII.3.15, tvam: coming from the stem yuṣmad – (or tvad–), N.sg., Pāṇini’s sūtra, VII. 2.94:

iva : ind. “like” ; “nearly, about, as if on a path”;

aṇḍa : s.nt, “an egg”;

vibhedenāt : vi–bhed –ana–, coming from vi–BHID–ana, vi–BHID+lyu, “splitting, cleaving, piercing” the interconsonnatic vowel i changes into e(guṇa).

About śaptvā it may have a sense of speaking sharply; Vinatām must be the object of śaptvā. Another comprehension could be possible as : “thereafter injuring like that the son moves in the air (from) Vinatā”. But it is still rare that an Ac.sg. which is used in the place of an Ab. (or G.?). Owing to a fundamental and moral conduct, does anyone dare to injure his mother? I wonder how best to understand the first line.

 with augment a (būtakaraṇa), DĀ, root (ani-); sya in-fix indicating the future tense, t, personal flexional ending of conditional tense; the conditional tense is still rare, it can be obtained by associating (with the root) an augment, an infix -sy-, and the personal flexional ending of imperfect tense; sandhi: the final dental t, personal flexional ending, changes into the dental nasal n bore the same one of na, negative particle, (it can be referred to Pānini's sūtras, II.1.39; VI.3.2, see in analysis of st. 18); two possibilities can be considered:

- a) without this negative particle na, the sandhi must be ādāsyat+ātmano ādāsyad + ātmano—ādāsyadātmano; in fact, it is a correct form, but the sense is not plausible. Garuda is born for undertaking something useful in regard to general interest. It is absurd to think Gaurḍa could have wished that enjoyment of eating food were his only care.
- b) ādāsyān (ādāsyānātmano), 3rd pers. Pl. of conditional tense, is not possible as it is intended to be Garuḍa (sg.) who performs action. So viewed, the germination of the nasal n must be kept off.

A plausible comprehension may be ādāsyat + na +ātmanas; the group —as of ātmanas changes into o before the sonant bh of bhojyam °, (Pāṇ. VI. 1.113, see in analysis of st. 17);

Asya : coming from the stem idam-, G.m.sg., “for him”;

I have translated mahāvīryah(of the st.4) by using “the great strength”; Vīryah means also “heroism” (śaurya) and “luster” (tejas); it is intended to be the force and in the same time a mass of mighty light. The latter makes an action that is expresse by jvalantam(st.5 and ākṣipantam. The great strength or the great luster shines also on what is brone by the gods and the Gandharvas. In this strophe, the poet describes the fantastic expansion of the mass of fire which rises up and takes fire on the great mountain; medicinal plants are consumed. The pāda a shows an interesting image dealing with the fast progression that the flame goes on like the keen snakes pursueing their prey. The case of the foresaid image can be observed in a realistic aspect in summertime. It would “Ascending the beautiful table –land of it (i.e. the great mountain), covered with many jewels, perforated by an inexhaustible, universal destruction (caused) by great physical strength, gods of all round”.

Anantakalpa is the mahāpralaya in Hindu belief.

Even in later religious faith (i.e. theravāda Buddhism), Khmer people know the idea of what this world and this universe will be ended. Khmer idea about that final destruction is caused by seven suns who will rise up at the sky; any ocean will be dried up, the Big fish will come out of its resort. This Big Fish (trī rāj, Royal fish of king fish) will reach the land and die; its fat will flow out of its corpse. With the very hot sunbeams, this fat will take fire, so the world and the universe will be set on an inexhaustible fire. I give roughly the narrative according to popular point of view.

Upāruhya: abs. of upā-RUH-, “to ascend, to go up to, to mount”; prṣ-ham: prṣtha-s.nt., Ac.sg., “the back, the rear” (prṣ-haka); “the hinder part or rear of anything”; by seeing the word and as being indicated a surface of mountain, it can be thought that in Khmer language we have the word khnaṇ bhnam. It is a “table-round” or “plateau” of a mountain; prṣ-ha may be intended to express a table round. In khmer music, people know a famous song called pad(a) khnaṇ bhnam describing a scenery of a plateau;

subham: śubha-adj. “bright, beautiful, auspicious” (rucira); “good, virtuous” (sādhu), Ac.sg., related to prṣ-ham; ratna –s.nt. “jewel”; viddha- partic. Of past form of the root VYADH-, “pierce, perforated, struck, stabbed, beaten, torn, hurt”, ud- viddha may mean “struck” (and rising up), it is still doubtful;

an- anta- adj. “eternal, inexhaustible’ (śāśvata); “endless, infinite”;

kalpam: kalpa-s.m. “universal destruction” (mahāpralaya);

Mahā: “great, mighty”, sandhi: ā+o —au, according to Pāṇ. VI.1.88, (see in analysis of st.3);

surāḥ sarve may be understood as a Voc. Or exclamative way of saying; it can be rendered as “O gods in all round”; it can also take a meaning of “sage, learned man”(?)

If it were a locative case we might see dadhni, instead of dadhabhau. One wishes dadhni were in the pāda c. Otherwise, the form of dadhi suggested that it come from the root DAH- a reduplicated form of DHĀ-; it is not absurd to think the case could have connected with what I say. Three Pāṇini’s sūtra are worth while to be know;

We can hardly have what it is dealt with dadhabhau, do we? I sort of feel that dadhabhau is the form of dadhi – s.m., in locative case sg. ; it looks to me as though I am going to grasp a right sense. The 2nd line could be rendered as “while having been churned in the great (ocean) of coagulated milk, then the nectar . . . ”

tataḥ: tatas (in pausa)=tasmāt, Pañcayāstasil, Pāṇ.V. 3.7, see in analysis of st. 14, adhy. 14; “then, thereupon”;

amṛtam: amṛta- s.nt. "nectar", Ac.sg., object of avetsyadhvam ; devāvetsyadhvam: deva+avetsyadhvam, vetsyadhvam: vet-sya-dhvam, vet, coming from the root VID, – 2nd cl. (or VID–6th cl.) i—e, guṇa, -sya-, infix indicating a future tense, dhvam, personal flexional ending of 2nd pers. Pl. conditional tense, Ātmane pada; deva: Voc. Sg.

First logico -grammatical analysis. – in deva-avetsyadhvam, we can see an effect of sandhi (a+a—ā, praślis-asandhi); according to the narrative, there were many gods who churned the ocean, and devās (Voc. Pl.m.) should be written, but the case is not possible at the present place as devās avetsyadhvam shall lead to devā avetsyadhvam; in that way, the hiatus (ā a) has to be maintained and consequently the pāda d shows more than 8 syllables; it is wrong facing the chanda (anuṣ-ubh scheme). In its ensemble, the case of the augment a must be considered as we have dhvam, termination of 2nd pers. Pl. Ātmane pada. The presence of -sya- is determinant for all we can say about that; avetsyadhvam is in conditional tense. Anyhow, deva may be understood as it is used by Nārāyaṇadeva in his speech to numerous gods being at the place of churning, although deva is in Voc.sg., grammatically speaking.

Case of vet, stem of conjugation: the sonant dental d of VID–(OR VED– with guṇa) changes into the voiceless dental t as it is followed by the dental sibilant s of the infix -sya-; it can be explained by a Pāṇini's sūtra:

Pāṇ VIII. 4.55: khari ca/ 55 / padāni / khari ca/ vṛttiḥ / khari ca parato jhalāṁ carādeśo bhavati/

The words jhalāṁ and carāḥ have been seen in the former sūtra; the present vṛttiḥ points out the condition of the substitution (ādeśa).

About the voc. Sg. deva: we may see it through a Pāṇini's sūtra, VI. 1.69: eñhrasvāt sañbuddheḥ / 69 /

padāni / eñ hrasvāt sañbuddeḥ/vṛttiḥ / lopa iti varttate haliti ca/ aprktamiti nādhikriyate / thatā ca pūrvasūtre punaraprktagrahaṇam kṛtam / eñantāt prātipadikād hrasyāntādyā paro hallupyatesacet sañbuddher bhavati /

It deals with Voc. Sg. affix; see also sūtra VII. 3.108, the short vowel of the stem is replaced by a guṇa (in Voc.sg.):

Agni—agne, vāyu—vāyo;

sūtra VII. 3.107, the long vowel of the stem is substituted by a short vowel (in Voc.sg.), nadī—nadi; vadhu—vadhu; see also sūtra VII. 1.24; VI. 1.107; VI. 1.85, for the Voc. Sg. of neuter noun.

We can say that deva of the present strophe is in Voc. Sg.

Second logico-grammatical analysis. — About manthadhva, we may consider the root MANTH- 9th cl., and in regular way, it should have been manthnīdhvam as nī is the infix of the 9th cl. of verb, for the weak stem. Relating to nā, nī or n, we can learn from Pāṇini's sūtra, III.1.81:

Krayādibhyah śnā / 81 / padāni / krī adibhyah śnā / vṛttiḥ / ( . . . ) krīñ dravthavinimaye ityevamādibhyo dhātubhyah śnāpratyayo bhavati /

See also VIII. 4.2 for nā (ṇā), ana (Lyu-), ina (Tā);

See also VI. 4.113 for KRĪ + La—KRĪ + śnā + terminations —krīṇītas, krīṇīthah, vah, mah;

See VI. 4.112 for n(or ḡ) before the terminations beginning with a vowel.

One seeing manthadhvam, one is inclined to consider the root MATH-, 1st cl., its imperative conjugation (2nd pers. Pl. Ātmane pada) must be mathadhvam.

Iti śīmahābhārata ādiparvanī pañcadaśo dhyāyah.

“Here ends the 15th chapter of Ādiparvan, in the famous Mahābhārata”.

Vihaga-s.m., (or vihaṅga), “a bird”(pakṣin); “a cloud” (megha); vihaga may relate to vi+HĀ-, “to become expanded, to open , to fly open”; viha (in 1st member of a compound), viha-ga- “sky-goer”, a bird;

The word mandaram of the former strophe may be understood in this present one. Samghuṣ-am: samm+ghuṣ-a-, (coming from the root GHUS-10th or 1st according to the use; ghuṣ-a- past partic., “sounded, resonant, announced”; related to mandaram.

There is a Pāṇini’s sūtra VII.2.28 directly related to saṁghuṣa:

Gaṇās: gaṇs- s.m. “a flock, group, multitude” (samūha), N.pl., sandhi: the final dental sibilant s of the group – ās is maintained as it is followed by the voiceless dental t of tadā, Pāṇ. VIII. 3.34; VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of st. 17, adhyāya 14;

tadā: “then” (tasmin samaye, tasmin prasaṅge); śakta: śakta-adj. “able, competent, capable” (with G.L. or inf.), (samartha); “strong” (balavat-); “significant” (arthavat-); śaktās (in pausa), related to gaṇās; sandhi: the final dental sibilant s must be dropped down before the sonant v of vai, Pāṇ. VIII. 3.19; VIII. 3.22, see in analysis of st. 10, adhyāya 15;
vai: a particle of emphasis and affirmation, generally seen in Brahmāṇas, but less frequent in the sūtras; sarve: sarva-pron. N.pl., “all, all of”;
tamuddhartum: tam-ud-dartum, tam: coming from the stem tad-, Ac.sgm, used for the mountain Mandara;
ud-dhartum: ud HR-, “to take out” (ā+DĀ-), “to carry (DHR-), inf. With the suffix tum; sandhi: ud+h—uddh, the first real form is ut+h, and it can be explained by a Pāṇini’s sūtra, VIII.4.62:
*jhayo honyatarasyām / 62 / padāni / jhayah hah

We have three words; uh is a genitive sg. of r (“of r, in the place of r”, as is it can be rendered); aṇ means a, r,u (long and short); raparah qualifies aṇ meaning a r after. Having these elements, we can see clearly r—ar. The guṇa or the three guṇas have a, e and o. By obeying to the sūtra, a is the guṇa of r, and this a, must have r after it. So, we have ṛ —ar; see also the sūtra VII.1.1 100; IV. 1.115; IV.1.97); viṣṇum: viṣṇu-s.m. “All perverder”, proper name of the principal Hindu deity; he is the 2nd god of the Trimurti; the Viṣṇu Purāṇa says:

Yasmād viṣ-am idam sarvam tasya śaktyā mahātmanah

Tasmād evocaye viṣ-nur viśer dhātoḥ praversanāt /
(III.1.45)

“Because the whole world has been perverted by the power of that Supreme Being, he is entitled Viṣṇu, as the root Viś means “to perverse”.

There is a R̄gvedic mantra:

Tau stotāḥ pūrvyam yathāvida ṛtasya garbham januṣā pipartana āsyā jānanto nāma cidvivaktana mahas te viṣṇo sumatim bhajāmahe / II. 2.26

āśinam: āśīna-verb. adj. (coming from the root ĀS-), sitting, seated’ (upaviṣ-a, adhiṣ-hita), related to viṣṇu, Ac.sg.; abhyetya: abhy-etya, abhi, prefix, etya, abs form of te root I-, “to go near, to approach” the vowel I of abhi changes into y before the vowel e of etya, according to samprasāraṇa principle, Pāṇ. I.1.45; VI.4.131; VI. 1.77; VI. 1.127, see in analysis of st. 3;

About etya, the vowel e may be understood as the guṇa of i; the absolute form of I is generally seen as itya;

Brahmāṇam: brahmṇa – s.m. “the God Brahma”;

Cedam: ca+idam : sandhi: a+i—e, Pāṇ VI. 1.87, see in analysis of st.12, adhyāya 14; idam: Ac.sg.nt., Pāṇ. VII. 2.108;

VII.2.111; VII.2.113; V.3.11, (see in analysis of st.11, adhyāya 15);

VII. 2.113: hali lopah / 113 / padāni / hali lopah / vṛttih / halādau vibhaktau parata idamo' kakrārasya idpasya lopo bhavati /

The id of idam is elided before the desinence beginning with a consonant. The rule I.1.52 does not apply here.

VII. 2.108: idamo mah / 108 / padāni / idamah mah / vṛttih / idamah sau parato makārontādeśo bhavati / (for the case of ayam, N.sg.)

It deals also with N.sg.m. (see sūtra VII. 2.102; VI. 1.68; VII. 2.110; I. 1.27)

Abruvan: coming from the BRŪ- 2nd cl., a, augment (bhūtakaraṇa), bruv- the vowel u changes into o or au, but ū—uv before the vowel of an, personal flexional ending of Imperfect tense 3rd pers. Pl. Parasmai pada; the case of brū—bruv may be related to Pāṇini's sūtra VI. 4.77:

aci śnudhātu bhruvāṁ yvoriyañuvañau / 77 / padāni / aci śnu dhātu bhruvā yvo iyan uvañau/

The sūtra VII. 3.84 does not apply here.

I know very well that the personal flexional ending of imperfect tense, 3rd pers. Pl. (a-bruv-an) can not be explained by an adequate Pāṇini's sūtra, but one can consider three sūtras. I am quoting these and one is supposed to appreciate by holding up an analogical way.

har— (guṇa, Pāṇ.I.1.51)+ana (aṇa.), see in analysis

*naiḥśreyasiṁ: f. form of word nīḥśreyasa, meaning “auspiciousness”, Ac.sg.f., related to buddhiṇi;*

*sandhi: the dental sibilant s changes into visarga before ay voiceless consonant, even before the sibilant itself.; three Pāṇini’s sūtras may be known:*

VIII.3.34: visarjanīyasya saḥ /34 / padāni / visarjanīyasya saḥ /

vṛttih / visarjanīyasya sakāra ādeśo bhavati khari parataḥ / vṛttih / visarjanīyasya visarjanīyādeśo vā bhavati śari pare / vārttikam / kharparesāri vā lopo vaktavyah /

The visarga can be optionally maintained or substituted before a sibilant;

Aḥ+s or ś +ś, aḥ +ṣ +ṣ ; aḥ +s or s+s;

(see also sūtra VIII. 4.40; VIII . 4.41);

kriyatām: coming from the root KR – ṛ—ri, Pāṇ. VII. 4.28: riṇ śayagliṅksu / 28 / padāni riṇ sa yak liṇ kṣu / vṛttih / ṛkārāntasyāṅgasya śa yak ityetyor liṇI ca yakārādau asārvadhātuke parato riṇityayamādeśo bhavati / liṇi = yakārādau asārvadhātuke; the rule does not apply to potential; śa means the vowel a added to the root of the verb of VIth class, a stem of conjugation is obtained, the guṇa is blocked here (III. 1.77); yak is used with a root for indicating a passive from (bhāva, the action itself or karman, the object, III.1.67):

-ya-= yak, see above;

III. 1.67: sārvadhātuke yak / 67 / padāni / sārvadhātuke yak (bhāva karmaṇoh) vṛttih / bhāvakarmavācini sārvadhātuke parato dhātor yak

-tāṁ, personal flexional ending, 3rd pers. Sg. of Imperative mood, Pāṇ. III. 4.85: lo-o laṇvat / 85 / padāni / lo-ah laṇ vat /

vṛttih / lo-o laṇ vat kāryaṁ bhavati /

The sūtra gives an abalogical view with the personal endings of Imperfect (laṇ); One may reed III. 4.83 where vā is in it, and this analogy is really a limited one.

III. 4.90: āmetaḥ / 90 / padāni / ām etaḥ (lo-ah) / vṛttih / lo- sambandhina ekārasya āmityayamādeśo bhavati /

We can have, viz.:

3rd sg. bharatāṁ, 3rd dual bharetāṁ; 3rd pl. bharantāṁ 3rd sg. pacatāṁ; 3rd dual pacetāṁ; 3rd plural pacantāṁ.

These two sūtras deal with Ātmane pada, (see also sūtra III. 4.79);

About imperative conjugation, there are three

Pāṇini's sūtras;

III. 4.2: kriyāsambihāre lo- lo-o hisvau ca tadhvamoh / 2 / padāni / kriyā samabhiāre lo- lo-o hi svau vā ta dvamoh (dhātusambandhe) /

III. 4.3: samuccaye'nyatarasyām / 3 / padāni / samuccaye anyatarasyām (lo- lo-o hisvau vā tadhvamoh) /

vṛttih / samuccīyamāna kriyāvacanāddhātoranyatarasyām lo-o pratyayo bhavati tasya lo-o hisvāvādēsau bhavataḥ/

III. 4.4: yathāvidhyanuprayogah pūrvasmin / 4 / padāni / yathā vidhi anu prayogah pūrvasmin / vṛttih / pūrvasmin lod vidhāne yathāvidhyanuprayogo bhavati / kurutām : coming from the root KR- 8th class, r — ru, Pāṇ. VI. 4.110: ata utsārvadhbātuke/ 110 / padāni / atah ut sārvadhbātuke kniti /

vṛttih / ukārapratyayāntasya karoterakārasya sthāne ukāra ādeśo bhavati sārvadhbātuke kniti paratalḥ/

A short u is substituted for the a of KR-, karu—kuru; for the personal flexional ending tām, Pāṇ III. 4.85; III. 4.90, see in analysis of this st.5; kurutām can be the 3rd pers. Dual, Imperative mood, Parasmai pada or the 3rd pers. Sg., Imperative, of Ātmane pada; I think kurutām is in 3rd pers. Dual as we have bhavantau (dual).

Hitāya: hita— adj. “put, placed” (nihita); “fit, suitable” (yogya); “useful, beneficial”(pathya); s.nt. “benefit, advantage”, D.sg., Pāṇ.VII. 3.102:

kārāntasyāṅgasya bhavati/

Yañ= ya, hita+Ne, ita+ya—hitāya; Ne means dative, see also VII. 1.13;

nah: nas (in pausa), coming from the stem asmad- nas can be the short form of asmān (Ac.pl.), or asmabhyam (D.pl.), or asmākam (G.pl.), Pāṇ VIII. 1.21:

“Then,the gods along with the mountain reached the ocean, (and)spoke to it (the ocean): “we will churn the water , for the sake of the nectar”, tatas=tasmā, thereupon,hence ,therefore”,for the word tatas, Pan. V.3.7;VI.3.35,see in analysis of st.14,adhāya 14; sandhi: the final dental sihilant s of the group –as of tatas is maintained before voiceless dental t of tena, Pan.VIII.

2.66,see in analysis of, st.17,adhyāa 14;

tena: coming from the stem tad–I.sg.m.(or nt).

surāḥ: sura–sl.m, “a god” deva),n.pl.;

samundram:sam–udra–“gathering to gether of waters”, the sārdham:sardha–adj, “increased by half,having a half over “ (adhyardha); ind, “with, I company with “ (with I), (saha);

Upatashire: upa-ta-sthire, coming from the root upa + STHĀ, “to stand near, to approach” (upa-GAM-); “to serve, to worship” (SEV-); “to oblige” (upa-KR-); “to lead to” (KLP-); “to unite, to join” (sam- YUJ_); ta, reduplication (abhyāsa), sth, stem of conjugation without its initial vowel a that is substituted by an i as it is added by a personal flexional ending beginning with a consonant, re, personal flexional ending of 3rd pers. Pl. of perfect tense, Ātmane pada; sthi can be understood as a weak stem of STHĀ in perfect conjugation; the vowel
i of sthere can be explained by a Pāṇini’s sūtra, VI. 4.64:

āto lopa i-i ca/64/padāni/ātaḥ lopah i-i ca/vṛttih / idādāvardhadhātuke kniti vākārāntasyāṅgasya lopo bhavati /

The personal flexional ending ire may be understood through the following Pāṇini’s sūtra, III. 4.81:

Li-astajhayoreśirec / 81 / padāni / li-ah ta jhayoh eś irec / vṛttih / lidādeśayostajhayor yathāsamkhyameś irec ityetāpādeśau bhavataḥ /

The letter ś of eś may be considered as it replaces the affix ta (see Pāṇ. I. 1.55); the letter c of irec shows the accent (see PāṇVI. 1.165).

According to Viṣṇu – Purāṇa, there is a description of seven oceans surrounding seven continents. The information extends about seventy strophes, II. 4.

nirmathisyāmahe : coming from the root nir + MATH - , “to churn”; nir-math-i-sya- mahe, nir, prefix (upasarga), math- , root, i, the vowel joining the root and the infix -sya - , mahe, personal flexional ending of future tense, 1st pers. Pl. Ātmane: pada, Pāṇ. III. 3.15; III. 3.132; III. 1.135, see in analysis of st. 17, adhyāya 14;

Two Pāṇini’s sūtras are related to the vowel i of i-sya.

paramaipadeṣviḍagamo bhavati / iṣ-iḥ / ātmanepadena samānapadasthasya gamerayamidagamonesyate /

The nature of the infix sya is explained by a Pāṇini’s sūtra I. 3.92:

vṛdbhyah syasanoh / 92 / padāni / vṛdbhyah sya sanoh (vā parasmai pada) /
vṛttiḥ / vṛtu vṛdhu śadhu syand ktapū / etebhyo dhātubhyah

The affixes sya and san may be optionally used in Parasami pada in case of future and conditional, and also desiderative conjugation.

pr̥ṣ-ham: pr̥ṣ-ha – s.nt. “the back, the rear” (pr̥sthaka); “the upper side, surface, top”, N.sg.;

samarpitam : sam – arpita-, “inserted, fixed”, in connection with this, two Pāṇini’s sūtra may be known :

VI. 1.209 : juṣ-ārpite ca chandasi / 209/ padāni / juṣ-āarpite ca chandasi /

(see also Pāṇ. VI. 1.159; VI. 1.197)

yantraṇa + indras (in pause), sandhi : a+i—e, Pāṇ. VI. 1.87, see in analysis of st. 12, adhyāya 14; yantra – s.nt. “a prop, support, barrier, tie”; “any instrument or apparatus mechanical contrivance, engine”; “mystical diagram supposed to possess occult power”;

In the sphere of Khmer magico – religious practice, the word yantra, used through Pāli from yanta, is still largely known among people; the sense of “engine” or machine is also well known, i.e. rīen haṇs (a), hamsayantra, “a mechanical apparatus” which can move highly in the air as modern aircraft does ; this is one of a famous Jātaka in Khmer Buddhism.

In colloquial speaking, the word yantra (yanta) is added to Khmer word, i.e. yant (a) ter, “a sewing- machine”, ter yant (a), “machine sewn”, lān hoh, “aircraft plane” or kapal’ hoh; for “plane”.

This way became some years after the end of World War II. A small group called “cultural commission” had been created by Government supported by French Colonial authority<sup>1</sup>.

Sandhi : the dental nasal n of yantrena changes into the cerebral n of yantrena changes into the cerebral ɳ, Pāṇ. VIII. 4., 1; VIII. 4.2, see in analysis of st. 3, kūrmēṇa;

1. Being under Western influence (with its bad sides) especially with French oversea spirit, they created the new word by taking Sanskrit datum and laying out in queer and whimsical way, i.e. for cinema (or movie), they gave at first yant (a) bhāb (a) (yantrabhāva), and after a moment they changed it into bhāb (a) yant (a) (bhāvayantra); they authorized the use of this fancy word by official decree. But in popular way throughout the whole country, people use till nowadays the word kun, being, as one can suppose, a corrupted form due to Siamese pronunciation of kala (sk. Or Tamil?). After some years, the result of the act of the Cultural Commission had created an artificial word. They did not consider the Indo-Khmer heritage and turned down the popular feeling that continued to care of the linkage of Khmer culture. Now, some Khmer people see that the result is dangerous for Khmer language as its own structure can be destroyed by the act of some Buddhist monks. The official of the Cultural Commission along with these monks despised the living and popular language having its solid background in Khmer and Sanskrit as at the dawn of Khmer history Sanskrit is growing contribution to local language. The bad result has its source: setting aside the indo Khmer heritage, mistaking concept of value and incompetence. They wanted to create the new words for khmer language with Western conception where they did not know the real elements of the question.

indro' bhya: sandhi: the group – as —o before the vowel a that consequently must be dropped down, Pāṇ. VI. 1.109, see in analysis of st. 12, adhyāya 14;

abhyapīdayat: abhi + a- pīdayat, sandhi: the vowel I changes into v before the vowel ai of a-pīdayat, sandhi: the vowel I changes into v before the vowel a of a-pīdayat, according to samprasāraṇa principle, see Pāṇini's sūtra in analysis of st.3; abhyapīdayat : coming from the root abhi + PīD- 10th cl. “to press, to squeeze”, “to overpower” (abhi – BHŪ-); “to press out of”, a augment (bhūtakarāṇa), pīd-, root, the interconsonantic vowel ī is maintained, -ay- suffix of the verb of 10th cl., a, vowel indicating the stem (anga) of system of conjugation, t, personal flexional ending of Imperfect tense, 3rd pers. Sg. Parasmai pada; that a-pīdayat is in Imperfect tense can be asserted; the Pāṇini's sūtra VII. 4.3 speaks of the causative stem and the reduplicated aorist of PīD-; apipīdat (or apipīdat) is in this kind of aorist.

The verb PīD - is seen in Manusmṛti, I, st.51:

About samarpitam, it must be rendered as “inserted”. “Inserted” may be fitted to the situation. The word “fixed” the Mandara mountain on is back does not satisfy the real fact that may be understood as following: the gods and the demons under te patronage of Hari (Viṣṇu) must give a friction through the body of the serpent Vāsuki; this body takes office of a rope which makes the mountain turning round and producing a great force; this force must make the Amṛta come from the bottom of ocean of Milk.

While imparting again and again a constant friction, the Mandara mountain goes down progressively. A way must be found out to granting the stability of the process of churning. Then, Viṣṇu divides himself and takes a form of mighty tortoise who goes down and reaches the bottom of the ocean; there, he inserted himself between the bottom and the low, large end of the mountain. By the way, the tortoise has a space to prop up the mountain by supporting it on his back all of the weight, then the churning can go on without difficulty. According to my own opinion, the st. 11 may take this possible sense and the process is likely suggested by the drawing herewith produced. This drawing is made according to what it is still seen on the huge bas-relief at Angkor Vat temple (bas-relief having 49 meters in length and almost 4 meters in height; this is the biggest bas relief devoted to the churning).

The word kūrma is seen in the Bhagavadgītā, II, st. 58:

 is maintained before the voiceless dental t of tato, Pāṇ.
 VIII. 3.34; VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of st. 17, adhyāya 14;

The word nidhimabhasām is related to samudram (ocean), the abode of waters. The gods are first engaged in the action as they were very keen to have te nectar and its energy. Their aim is pointed out clearly by the word amṛtārthinas.

Brahman, Voc. Sg., is out of lthe grammatical network; this Voc. Informs us that Sūta spoke of the event to the Brahman and his company in the Naimisha forest.

agrān : agrāt (in pausa), agra- s.nt. “summit, top” (śikhara), Ab.sg.,

sandhi : the final voiceless t changes into the nasal of dental class before the nasal m of mahādrumāḥ, Pāṇ. VI. 3.2; II. 1.39, see in analysis of st.18, adhyāya 14; parvata + agrān, a + a → ā, Pāṇ. VI. 1.101, see in analysis of st.6.

Through the present strophe, the situation was very difficult for the birds of all kind; the trees were torn up by the roots, they fell down in the ocean and were carried away by the waters being in strong whirling streams. This fact was caused by the churning of the ocean for the sake of the nectar. violent and ceaseless pressures were to be exerted on the body of Vāsuki by the force of the demons and the gods. The birds had to escape, they flew from the danger happened to the low trees; they reached the big, high trees at the summit of the mountain Mandara. Many high trees began to fall down, the birds like others dwellers of the forest were caught in danger of death.

In the strophe, the word upetāḥ is very important as the birds continue to find out protection.

Tato : Tatas (in pausa) = tasmāt, “hence, therefore”, sandhi : the group –as changes into o before the sonant n of nānā, Pāṇ. VI. 1.113; VI. 1.114, see in analysis of st.17, adhyāya 14; for the word tatas, Pāṇ. V. 3.7; VI. 3.35, see in st.14, adhyāya 14;

nānā : ind. “various, diverse, manifold”, in Amarakoṣa, st.247; Pāṇ. V. 2.27; VI. 3.35, see in analysis of st.8, adhyāya 15;

vidhās : vidha- s.f. “division, part, portion”; “form, manner”; sandhi : the final dental sibilant s of the group –ās is maintained before the voiceless dental t of tatra, Pāṇ. VIII. 3.34; VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of st.17, adhyāya 14;

tatra : ind. “there, then” (tadā), Pāṇ.V. 3.10; see in analysis of st.15, adhyāya 14;

sāgarāmbhasi : sāgara + ambhasi, sandhi : a + a → ā, Pāṇ.VI. 1.101; see in analysis of st.6;

sāgara- s.m. “the ocean”; sa-gara became sāgara as named by Bhagīratha to the chasm dug by the 60,000 sons of the king Sagara; these numerous Sagara's sons looked for the horse of Aśvamedha. They began digging with spades and others tools ceaselessly and reached the Pātāla, after killing the demons and the snakes which they met. They saw the horse in the Pātāla. Nearby the place, there was Kapila, showing a great mass of splendour. They did not honour Kapila who looked directly at them; after an instant, these 60,000 sons were reduced to ashes by the mighty flame darted from Kapila. Amśumat, son of Asamañjas, knew where the remain of the 60,000 sons was. (Asmañjas was the one of Sagara and the queen Keśinī). Amśumat came to see Kapila and begged pardon from him. Kapila agreed with what Ansumat asked to be appeased. Kapila stated seriously that the grandson of Amśumat should be the unique person being able to accomplish a suit ceremony for the remain of the 60,000 sons. Kapila allowed Amśumat to take the sacrificial horse to Sagara; thus, the king was enabled to complete his sacrifice. After a moment, Amśumat had a son named Dilīpa; and then, Dilīpa obtained a son who was Bhagīratha. With Śiva's boon and his own austerities Bhagīratha named Sāgara to the Gaṅga river, descending from heaven, and after leading it over the earth to the sea, he conducted it till the Pātāla, where the ashes of his ancestors were laved and purified with its waters. The story of king Saara is narrated in Aranya Parvan of Mahābhārata III adhyāya 107, 108. The word sāgara is still connected with this story.

niryāsā : niryāsās (in pausa), niryāsa- s.m., “plants, juice, resin, extract, decoction”, N.pl., sandhi : the final sibilant dental s of the group –ś must be dropped down, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.19; VIII. 3.22, see in analysis of st.18, adhyāya 14;

oṣadhi- s.f. (= ausadhi, is or ī), “a herb, plant, simple, any medicinal herb”; sandhi : a + u → au, Pāṇ.VI. 1.88, see in analysis of st.3, adhyāya 15;

rasāḥ : rasa– adj. “the sap or juice of plants, liquid, essence, water, liquor, drink, elixir, potion”, N.pl.m. ; bahavaś : bahavas (in pausa), bahu- adj. N.pl.m., “much, many, great or considerable in quantity”, sandhi : the dental sibilant s changes into the palatal sibilant ś before the voiceless palatal c of ca, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.35; VIII. 4.40, see in analysis of st.12, adhyāya 15; mahādrumānāṁ : mahā-druma– s.m. “great tree”, G.pl. ;

susruvuh : coming from the root SRU- 1st cl., “to flow, to stream, to gush forth”; su, reduplication (abhyāsa), sru-v, stem of SRU-, (sru → sruv may be explained by Pāṇ.VI. 4.77, see in analysis of st.4), uh (ur, us), pers.flexional ending of perfect tense, 3rd pers.sg.; about the vibhakti uh (us), Pāṇ.III. 4.82, see in analysis of st.8.

“Exactly, by the sake of the juice, the gods with (their) golden (ornament) and their immortality, came on moreover for the drink and for this energy of the nectar”.

vīryānāṁ : vīrya- s.nt. ifc. “manliness, valour, strength, power, energy”; G.pl. ;

rasānām : rasa– s.m. “essence, water, liquor, drink, the best or the finest part of anything”, G.pl. ;

teṣām : coming from the stem tad-, G.pl.nt. (or m.);

amṛta : “the nectar”;

payasaiva : payasā + eva, sandhi : ā + e → ai, Pāṇ.VI. 1.88, see in analysis of st.3, adhyāya 15; I. sg. of payas- s.nt., “vital spirit, power, strength”, juice”;

eva : ind. “just, exactly, already, immediately on, indeed”;

amaratvam : amaratva- s.nt. “the condition of the gods”, i.e. immortality Ac.sg.;

kāñcanasya : kāñcana- s.nt. “gold”, G.sg. ; adj. “golden, made or consisting of gold”;

niḥsravāt : niḥsrava- s.m., (related to the root niḥ-SRU-), “remainder, surplus, overplus, moreover”, Ab.sg., frequently used in this case, surā : surās (in pausa), sura- s.m. “a god, divinity, deity”, N.pl., sandhi : the final dental sibilant s of the group ās must be dropped down before the sonant j of jagmuḥ, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.19; VIII. 3.22, see in st.18, adhyāya 14;

jagmuḥ : coming from the root GAM-, ja, reduplication (abhyāsa), -gm-, weak stem of conjugation of Perfect tense, uh, personal flexional ending of 3rd pers.pl. Perfect tense, Parasami pada, Pāṇ.VI. 4.98, see in analysis of st.22, adhyāya 14, and the st.19 of the present adhyāya;

The idea of “ornament” is expressed in the st.6, adhyāya 15.

“Thus, the liquid was this water produced from this ocean; then, mixed with the best of essence, it was made the ghee (melted butter)”.

tasya samudrasya : G.sg., “this ocean”, it seems that this G. has a function of Ab. ;

udakam : udaka- s.nt., “water”, Ac.sg. ;

payah : payas (in pausa), “liquid, power, any fluid” N.sg. of nt. ;

jāta- adj. “born, engendred by” ; “produced, caused, appeared” Ac.sg., related to udakam; taj : tat (in pausa), Ac.sg.nt., related to udakam; sandhi : the final voiceless dental t changes into j before the sonant palatal j of jātam, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.40, see in analysis of st.11, adhyāya 15;

vimiśram : vimiśra- adj. “mixed, mingled with”;

rasottamair : rasa + uttamair sandhi : a + u → o, Pāṇ.VI. 1.87, see in analysis of st.12, adhyāya 14; rasa- s.m. “essence, water, drink”;

uttamair : uttamais (in pausa), uttama- superlative, from ud, “uppermost, highest, most elevated, best, excellent”, I.pl., sandhi : the final dental sibilant s changes into r before the sonant v of vimiśram, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.15, see in analysis of st.1, adhyāya 16;

atha : ind. “now, then, moreover, certainly”;

tatah : (= tasmāt), “then, hence, therefore”, see in analysis of st.25; kṣīrād : kṣīrāt (in pausa), kṣīra- s.nt. “milk”, Ab.sg., in Meghadūta, one sees :

bhittvā sadyah kisalayapu-ān devadārudrumāṇām ye tatksīrasrutisurabhayo dakṣiṇena pravṛttāḥ/ sandhi : the final voiceless dental t changes into d before the vowel a of abhūd Pāṇ.II. 1.38, 39; VI. 3.2, see in analysis of st.6;

ghṛtam : ghṛta- s.nt. “ghee (melted butter)”;

abhūd : abhūt (in pausa), coming from the root BHŪ- a, augment (bhūtakaranya) bhū- root (Pāṇ.II. 4.77; VI. 4.71), t, personal flexional ending of 3rd pers. s. Aorist tense, Parasmai pada, sandhi : the final voiceless dental t of abhūt → d before gh of ghṛtam;

There are some Pāṇini's sūtra connected with Aorist conjugation and also with abhūt;

III. 1.43 : cli luṇi/43/padāni/cli luṇi (dhātoḥ pratyayah)/ vṛttih/ cleḥ sijādeśo bhavati/

vārttikam/ sprśa mr̥ṣa kṛṣa tṛpa dṛpāṁ sijvā vaktavyah/

The vowel i of cli is for the articulation, the ca is used for accent and it is also an affix which has an indicatory; by ca one can see certainly that it has udātta on its final. The i of sic is for the pronunciation, the ca is for the accent; the real affix is s.

II. 4.77 : gātisthāghupābhūbhyaḥ sicaḥ parasmaipadeṣu/

77/padāni/ gāti sthā ghu pā bhūbhyaḥ sicaḥ parasmaipadeṣu (lug)/

Śrīranantaram utpannā
ghṛtāt pāṇḍuravāsinī/ surā devī samutpannā turagah pāṇḍuras tathā/34/

“Immediately after, Śrī (who) dwelt in a white (place) arose from the ghee like water; then the goddess of nectar and the white horse as well appeared”.

In the present strophe, we see the words tura-gah pāṇḍuras. It was not to be excepted that these words should come and give us an agreeable reading. The idea related to the white horse must be found out in the adhyāya 15, (st.1, 2, 3); the horse Uccaiḥśrava as being considered as the king of horse is described in three strophes. This horse is really mighty; anyone is not even allowed to approach him, Indra must come and lead away this “supernatural” animal, So, Indra is the owner. Has this horse got to be considered in the comparison? Doesn't the comparison really need to take Śrī and the horse as its elements? It need only be said that the narrative knot ought to follow the right sense. In one hand, the horse (as an animal) has many qualities, and in another hand Śrī (= Lakṣmī) is endowed with best qualities for human ideal and yearning. Then, Viṣṇu gets her as his beloved wife. Owing to a realistic aspect, one has got to remember that the horse has been taken by Indra, and Śrī has just gained Viṣṇu's protection. The narrative knot does do remarkably its right road.

pāñduras: pāñdura adj. "whitish, white, pale, yellow", N.sg.m., related to turagah;

turagah: tura-ga- "going quickly", a horse, N.sg.m.;

surā: s.f. "a goddess"; devi: s.f. "female deity, goddess"; sma-utpannā: adj. "arisen, produced": "occured, happened", N.sg.f., related to devī; tathā: ind. " so, thus, so also", pāñ.V. 3.26, see in analysis of st.6; sandhi of pāñduras: the final dental sibilant s is maintained as it is followed by the voiceless dental t of tathā, Pāñ.VIII.3.34; see in analysis of st.17, adhyāya 14; ghṛtāt: ghṛta- (coming from GHRN- or GHR-, 3rd cl, 5thcl., 8th cl.), "illuminated"; The Pāṇini's sūtra VI.4.37 may be read:

*anudāttopadeśavanatitanotyādīnāmanunāsikalopojhali-it intends to deal with the roots ending with a nasal. there are 6 roots when adding kta, a nasal must be elided as we can have:

yan→ya-ta, ram→ra-ta, nam→na-ta, gam→ga-ta, han→ha-ta, man→ma-ta. The Tanādi roots belong to the eighth class; we have the suffixes kta and ktavatu that come to be added to the roots of this class. The Tanādi roots are ten in number: tan, san, Kṣan, rñ, trñ, ghṛñ, van, man and kṛñ.

Tan→ta-ta, tatavān ; Kṣan→Kṣa-ta, kṣatavān ; ṣṇ→ṛ-ta, rtavān ; Trṇ→tr̥-ta, tr̥tavān ; ghṛṇ→ghṛ̥-ta, ghṛtavān ; van→va-ta, vatavān ; Man→ma-ta, matavān ; the root San takes a long ā (VI.4.45).

vāsinī: vāsin-, "who dwelt in, who in", N.sg.f., related to śrīr; utpannā: adj. "risen, gone up, arisen, born, produced", N.sg.f., related to śrīr ; śrīr: śrīs (in pausa), śrī s.f., proper name of Lakṣmī as being produced at the instant of the churning of the ocean of milk ; Śrī or Lakṣmī became the Viṣṇu's wife. She is the goddess of prosperity and beauty, N.sg., Sandhi: the final dental sibilant s changes into r before the vowel a of an-antaram, Pāṇ. VIII. 3.15, see in analysis of st.1; anantaram: an-antaram is used for a privative a which is stated in Pāṇ. VI.2.116, see in analysis of st.4, adhyāya 15.

Tatas tad amṛtam tasyai striyai dānavadaiteyāḥ sarve tad gatamānsāḥ/40/

“Then, all of these silly, senseless demons and descendants of Diti gave this amṛta to this woman.”

Logico-grammatical analysis. This ending strophe of the present adhyāya is a conclusion of the narrative knot as we learn that the nectar is gained by the churning participants being under Viṣṇu's patronage.

The group of subjects is te mūḍhacetasah, gatamānsāḥ and dānavadaiteyāḥ sarve. Mūḍhacetasah and gatamānsāḥ show the mental condition of the demons at seeing the fascinating woman due to the Viṣṇu's māyā. The verb is dadus declined in Perfect tense; the object of this verb is tad amṛtam; the beneficiary of the demons' act if tasyai striyai. What is the real function of tad which after sarve in the last pada? This tad may be with gatamānsāḥ and it can be rendered as “(whose) spirit having disappered in this (manner” or “ (whose) conciousness being deprived in this (way)”.

tatas : (= tasmāt), see in analysis of st.25; sandhi : the final dental sibilant s is maintained as it is followed by the voiceless dental t of tad, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.34; VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of st.17, adhyāya 14'

tad : tat (in pausa), coming from the stem tad-. Ac. sg., sandhi : the final voiceless dental t changes into the dental sonant d before the vowel a of amṛtam, Pāṇ.II.

1.38, 39; VI. 3.2, see in analysis of st.6;

amṛtam : amṛta. s.nt. “the nectar”, Ac.sg.;

tasyai : coming from the stem tad-, D.sg.f.;

te : coming from the stem tad- N.pl.m.;

dadus : coming from the root DĀ-, “to give”, da, reduplication (abhyāsa), d, the remaining stem of conjugation as its initial vowel is omitted before a personal flexional ending of 3rd pers. pl., Perfect tense, Parasmaipada;

sandhi : the final dental sibilant s is maintained as it is followed by the voiceless dental t of te, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.34; VIII. 2.66, seen in analysis of st.17, adhyāya 14;

mūḍhacetasah : mūḍha–cetas– adj. “bewiledered in mind, foolish, silly” Npl.m.; striyai : strī–S.f. “woman”, D.sg.;

sarve : sarva– “all of”, N.pl.m.;

daiteyāḥ : daiteya– s.m. “a son of Diti, an Asura, a demon”, N.pl.;

mānasāḥ : mānasa adj. “belonging to the mind, or spirit, mental, spiritual, expressed only in mind, performed in thought” gata : ga–ta– (coming from the root GAM), the nasal is elided , Pāṇ.VI. 4.37, see in analysis of st.34;

gata–mānasa– adj. “deprived of sense or consciousness, senseless”, “void of understanding”, N.pl.m.

(bhūtakaraṇa), piba-, stem of system of conjugation of presence, Pāṇ.VII. 3.78, see in analysis of st.1, adhyāya 15, t, personal flexional ending of Imperfect tense, 3rd pers.sg. Parasmai pada, Pan.III. 4.100; III. 4.111; VIII. 2.23, see in analysis of st.4, adhyāya 16.

“Then, when the nectar is taken by this demon through his throat, it has been told by the Moon and the Sun desiring welfare of the gods”.

tasya : coming from the stem tad-, G.sg., used for the demon Rāhu ;

dānavasya + a-mrte : sandhi : a + a = ā, Pāṇ.VI. 1.106, see in analysis of st.6, adhyāya 16;

a-mrte : a-mṛta- s.nt. “the nectar”, L.sg., for privative a. Pāṇ.VI. 2.116, see in analysis of st.4, adhyāya 15;

kaṇṭham : kaṇ-ha- s.m. (or nt.), “throat, neck” (gala, kandharā, grīva), Ac.sg. anu-pra-āpte : anu-pra-ĀP-ta-, adj., “arrived, returned”; “obtained”; “having got, having reach”; coming from the root anu-PRĀP-, “to come, to go, to reach, to attain”; “to get, to arrive”; -āpte L.sg., related to a-mrte;

tadā : ind. “then, at the time”, Pāṇ.V. 3.15, see in analysis of st.9, adhyāya 14;

dānavasya : dānava- s.m. “a demon”, G.sg., used for Rāhu said in the st.4 (2nd line);

kāmyayā : kāmyā- s.f. “a wish, intention” (icchā, hetu); I.sg.;

hita : adj. “put, placed” (nihita); “fit, suitable” (with D.) yogya; “useful, beneficial”; s.nt. “benefit, advantage”

(kalyāṇa, śreyas);

“welfare” (kuśala)Hita-kāmyayā is used in the Xth chapter of the Bhagavadgītā yat te'ham priyamāṇāya vaksyāmi hitakāmyayā/1/ (2nd line)

surāṇām : sura- s.m. “god” (deva), G.pl., sandhi : the nasal dental n changes into the cerebral nasal ṇ after the letter r of the word, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.1; VIII. 4.2, see in analysis of st.3, adhyaya 16;

ākhyātaṁ : a-KHYĀ-ta, coming from the root ā + KHYĀ, “to tell, to communicate, to inform, to declare”, °ta- verb.adj., Ac.sg. ;

candra-sūryābhyaṁ : candra-sūrya, dvandva compound, I.D.Ab.dual, candra may be considered as an Instr. or Dat. case as it is used with the verb.adj. of the root KHYĀ- ; about the dual -bhyām, a Pāṇini's sūtra may be quoted :

Pāṇ.VII. 3.102 : Supi ca/102/padāni/supi ca/

vṛttih/ ato dīrgho yañityanuvartate/supi ca yañādau parato'kārantasyāṅgasya dīrgho bhavati/

The expression ato dīrgho yañ iti is a very important meaning ; the case is applied for a -kārānta; we see vṛksābhyaṁ, but agnibhyaṁ.

yañ means semi-vowels + nasal + jh, bh.

Logico-grammatical Analysis. – Anu-prāpte and amṛte may be considered as a case of an absolute locative; tasya dānavasya takes a function of an Instr., although we see a genitive case; the sense may be an Instr. Kaṇṭham, Ac.sg. shows the way by which the nectar must be taken by Rāhu, i.e. the nectar will be drunk by him. Unfortunately, what he wanted to do is known by the Moon and the Sun. Of course, the gods want to debar any demon from drinking the nectar that is the privilege of the Immortal beings. The 4th pada of the strophe asserts the purpose. So the function of surāṇām may be understood with hita-kāmyayā, viz. “intention of getting the advantage of the gods” or “... among the gods”.

bhagavatā : bhagavat- s.m. “Lord”, used for Viṣṇu, I.sg.;

tasya : coming from the stem tad-, G.sg., used for the demon Rāhu;

śirāś : siras (in pausa), s.nt. “the head” (mastaka); “skull” (kapāla), N.sg.; sandhi : the final dental sibilant s changes into the palatal sibilant ś before the voiceless ch of chinnam, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.35; VIII. 4.40, see in analysis of st.12, adhyāya 15;

Actual Khmer language uses sirasā, sirasī through Pāli of Theravāda buddhism.

cakreṇā : cakra- s.nt. “a disc” (bimba), I.sg., sandhi : the dental nasal n changes into the cerebral ṇ after the letter r, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.1; VIII. 4.2, see in analysis of st.3. adhyāya 16; for cakreṇā, it can be seen as cakra + ḍ = cakra + ina = cakreṇā; there is Pāṇini's sūtra VII. 1.12 :

ṄasiṄasāminṄatsyāḥ/12/padāni/ṄṄasiṄasām ina āt yāḥ/

vṛttiḥ / akārāntādaṅgāduttareśāṁ ḍānasiñasām ina āt sya ityete ādeśā bhavanti yathāsaṅkhyam/

It concerns the declension of a stem in short a as deva +  $\ddot{d}/niṣi/niṣas$  → deva + ina/āt/sya → devena (VI.1.87)/devāt(VI.1.101)/deva-sya ; the case of sakhi + -ā gives to sakhyā (V.1.77);

kṛtam : kṛta- verb.adj. “done” (vihita), we see in Subhāṣita : namah kṛtam kṛtam karmaṇ na sarīrakṛtam kṛtam.

ojasā : ojas- s.nt. (or oja- s.nt.), “physical strength” (bala);” vitality, metallic lustre” (jīvanaśakti); “splendour” (dīpti), I.sg.;

alam : ind. “enough, adequate to”; “completely” (sarvathā); alam is seen in Meghadūta : arhasyenam śamayitumalaṇ vāridhārāsaha – srair apānnārti(...), st.56;

pibato'mṛtam : pibatas amṛtam (in pausa), pibat-, pres. participle of the root PĀ-, “to drink”, Ab.g.sg.m. (or nt.);

amṛtam : a-mṛta- s.nt. “the nectar”, for the privative a, Pāṇ. VI. 2.116, see in analysis of st.4, adhyāya 15; san  $\ddot{d}hi$  : the group –as changes into o before the vowel a of a-mṛtam and accordingly this vowel a must be dropped down as it is stated by a Pāṇini's sūtra VI. 1.109 :

āyudhena : āyudha- s.nt. “weapon” (pradhana- s.nt., astra- s.m.); “opposition” (virodha); I.sg.;

chinnam : chinna- adj. “cut off, cut, divided, torn, cut through”, from the root CHID-, “to cut, to lop, to rend”; chinna is used in the VIth chapter of the Bhagavadgītā : kaccin nobhyavibhraṣṭāś chinnābhram iva naśyati (...) st.38.

Pāṇ.III. 1.68, see in analysis of st.14, adhyāya 16, tī, personal flexional, 3rd pers.sg.Parasmai pada, present tense.

The word vaira is stated by a Pāṇini's sūtra, Pāṇ.III. 1.17:

śabdavairakalahābhrakaṇvameghebhyah karane/17/padāni/

śabda vaira kalaha abhra kaṇva meghebhyah karane

Here the word karaṇa is in the sūtra ; it means “doing” as its primary sense.

Karana is not be Instrumental case.

śabdāṁ karoti = śabdā-ya-te, “makes noise”, vairāṁ karoti = vaira-ya-te, “shows hostility towards nānā : ind. “various, diverse, manifold”, in Amarakośa, st.247, Pāṇ.V. 2.27, see in analysis of st.8, adhyāya 15;

praharaṇair : praharaṇais (in pausa), coming from the root pra-HR-, pra-har-aṇa- r à ar, Pāṇ.I. 1.51, see in analysis of st.4, adhyāya 16; see also Pāṇ.VII. 1.100; IV. 1.115; IV. 1.97; har + ana, Pāṇ.III. 1.134 ; III. 2.150, see in analysis of st. 5, adhyāya 16; n →ṇ, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.1; VIII. 4.2, in analysis of st.3, adhyāya 16; “beating, striking”, see in analysis of st.1;

bhīmair : bhīmais (in pausa), bhīma- adj. “terrible”I.pl., related to praharaṇair praharaṇair and bhīmair are under the same rule of sandhi, the sibilant s becomes r before the sonant, (respectively before bh and d), Pāṇ.VIII. 3.15, seen in analysis os st.1, adhyāya 16;

The Pāṇini's sūtra VIII. 3.34 needn't quote in this very case; the sūtra VIII. 3.7 is right enough to understand the phenomena showed by ān + c, ān + ḍ and ān + t. Besides, the changing of the dental sibilant s into ś (palatal) case of ān + c, the sūtra VIII. 3.35 and VIII. 3.40 are fit to the present case. The sūtra VIII. 3.34 would help to grasp the presence of the dental sibilant s that it is considered firstly as the analogical s. According to anta principle (VIII. 2.23), this dental sibilant s is not mattered as it may be dropped down, but in the case of ān + c and its kind, this analogical s is maintained and consequently it is under the rule of an anusvara(m) in the three cases. (The term “analogical s” is used by some Western scholars, viz. J.Gonda).

ivāsprśat : iva+asprśat, iva, preposition, asprśat, coming from the root SPRŚ-, VIth cl., “to touch” (MRS-); “to cling to (SNIH-); “to wash” (KŚAL-); “to, go, to reach” (pra-ĀP-); “to affect, to move” (ākulīBHŪ-); “to refer to (DIŚ-); we have : a-sprś-a-t, a, augment (bhūtakaraṇa), SPRŚ-, root, a, thematic vowel (vikaraṇa) of system of conjugation (system of present), t, personal flexional ending of 3rd pers.sg., Imperfect tense, Parasmai pada.

Chindhi bhindhi pradhāvadhvam pātayābhisareti ca/ vyaśrūyanta mahāghorāḥ śabdās tatra samantataḥ/17/

“Cut, break, run forth, approach by making [them] fall down; then on all sides, the great terrible noises had been heard”.

chindhi : coming from the root CHID- 7th cl., chi-n-d + dhi, the consonant d is dropped down, n, infix indicating the weak stem of 7th cl. of conjugation, dhi, pers. flexional ending of 2nd pers.sg.Imperative tense, Parasmai pada; the spelling chinndhi can also be seen, it is an optional case. In the 7th cl., the infix na (vikaraṇa) is added to the root between the radical vowel and the last consonant for the strong stem, Pāṇ.III. 1.78 :

rudhādibhyaḥ śnam/78/padāni/rudha ādibhyaḥ śnam vr̥ttih/ rudhir āvaraṇe ityevamādibhyo dhātubhyo śnam pratyayo bhavati

The indicatory m of the affix śnam means that the nasal na is to be placed after the last vowel of the root as explained by Pāṇ.I. 1.47 :

midaco'ntyāt paraḥ/47/padāni/mid acaḥ antyāt paraḥ/vr̥ttih/ acāṁ sannivisṭānāgantyadācaḥ paro mid bhavati/

This sūtra tells us how to use rightly the indicatory m (muc + śa + ti ; muc + num + śa + ti muñcati) ; case of ru-na-dh-dhi = ru-ṇa-dh-dhi, Pāṇ.VIII. 2.37:

ekāco baśo bhaṣ jhaṣantasya sdhvoh/37/padāni/eka acaḥ baśah bhaṣ jhaṣ antasya s dhvoh/vr̥ttih/ dhātoravayavo ya ekāc jhaṣantah tadaवayavasya baśah sthāne bhaṣ ādeśo bhavati jhali sakāre dhvaśabde ca parataḥ padānte ca/

(jhaṣantasya, ending by voiced aspirate, i.e. jh, bh, gh, dh, dh); case of ru-ṇa-d + dhi, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.53 :

jhalāṁ jaśjhaśi/53/padāni/jhalāṁ jaś jhaśi/vr̥ttih/ jhalāṁ sthāne jaśādeśo bhavati jhaśi parataḥ/ jhal means jhay + śar, jaś = j, b, g, ḍ, d, jhaś = jh, bh, gh, ḍh, dh, j, b, g, ḍ, d.

for cerebralisation of dental nasal (n), see Pāṇ.VIII. 4.2 :

aṭkupvāñnumvyavayepi/2/, (see in analysis of st.3, adhyāya 16).

In imperative tense (lot), the strong stem is considered at the first pers. of sg., dual and pl. of Parasmai pada. For the weak stem (chind-), the vowel a of the vikarana na is dropped down, Pāṇ. VI. 4.111 :

śnasorollopah/111/padāni/śna asoh at lopah sārvadhātuke kniti/

vṛttih/ śnasyātēś cākārasya lopo bhavati sārvadhātuke kniti parataḥ rudh + La = ru-na-dh + La, ru-n-dh + vas → rundhvās (1st pers.dual, pres.tense, Parasmai pada), ru-n-dh-mas, rundhmas (1st pers.pl.);

AS- + La-, as + tas = stah (2nd pers.pl.Parasmai pada), the vowel a of the root AS- must be dropped down, AS- + anti → santi, 3rd pers.pl.

bhindhi : coming from the root BHID- 7th cl. “to break”, sometimes the spelling is chinddhi; 2nd pers.sg., imperative tense, Parasmai pada ; its conjugation follows the rules mentioned above (under chindhi);

pradhāvadhvam : pra-DHĀV-a-dhvam, 1st cl., pra, prefix, DHĀV-, root, a, thematic vowel (vikarana), dhvam, pers. flexional ending of 2nd pers.pl. Imperative tense, Atmane pada; for the vikarana a, Pāṇ. III. 1.68 (kartari śap), see in analysis of st.14, adhyāya 16, for the pers.flexional ending of Imperative tense, Atmane pada, Pāṇ. III. 4.85; III. 4.90; III. 4.2 III. 4.3; III. 4.4, see in analysis of st.5 adhyāya 16, pra, prefix, “forward, forth, in front of”; “beginning, folded” (prabaddha); “excessive, excellent” (prakṛṣ-a), pra is also used in Khmer language; DHĀV-, “to run” (SR-), “to assault” (abhi-DRU-); “to run away” (para-ay-); pātayābhisareti : pātaya-abhi-sar-a-iti, sandhi : a + a = ā, Pāṇ. VI. 1.101, see in analysis of st.6, adhyāya 16; a + i= e, Pāṇ. VI. 1.87, see in analysis of st.6, adhyāya 16, ahisareti;

abhi-sar-a, coming from abhi + SR- + a, the radical vowel

R→ ar, Pāṇ.I. 1.51 see in analysis of st.4, adhyāya 16, abhi-sar-a, this last vowel a (vikaraṇa) is a thematic vowel of 1st cl. of conjugation, Pāṇ.III. 1.68, see in analysis of st.14, adhyāya 16; sara is the stem (aṅga) of the root SR-; in this present case abhi-sara is the 2nd pers.sg. of Imperative tense, Parasmai pada, the termination hi is elided, Pāṇ.VII. 1.35; VI. 4.105; VI. 4.106;

VI.4.105 : ato heḥ/105/padāni/ataḥ heḥ aṅgasya/
vṛttih/ akārāntādaṅgāduttarasya her lugbhavati/

Generally, the termination hi is omitted after a stem ending in short a, i.e. paca, gaccha.

Hi is elided after the vowel u of an affix (vikaraṇa) with which the present stem is made and that u is not preceeded by a conjunct consonant ; Pāṇ.VI. 4.106 utaś ca pratyayādasam̄yogapūrvāt/106/padāni/utah ca pratyayāt asam̄yoga pūrvāt/

vṛttih/ ukāro yo'sam̄yogapūrvas tad antāt pratyayād uttarasya her lug bhavati

vārtikam/ utaś ca pratyayād ityāś chandasi veti aktavyam/

In the Vedas, the elision of hi after u of the vikaraṇa is optional.

Another case of an optional elision of hi (or tu) may be known through Pāṇ.VII.

1.35 : tu hyostātañāśisyanyatarasyām/35/padābu/tu hyoḥ tātañ āśiṣi anyatarasyām/vṛttih/ tu hi ityetayorāśiṣi viṣaye tātaṅgādeśo bhavat�anyatarasyām/

When benediction is meant, tātañ takes place of hi (or tu); jīv + Lot, jīv + śap + hi (or tu) = jīv-a-tāt, “may you live long”.

iti : particle introducing a direct speech ;

pātaya : pāta- s.m. “an attack” (avapāta); “occurencee” (vṛtta); coming from the root PĀT-, pāt –aya, absolute of PAT- with causative value ;

vyaśrūyanta : vi–a–ŚRŪ–ya–nta, sandhi : the vowel i becomes y before the augment a, according to samprasāraṇa principle, see Pāṇini's sūtra in analysis of st.3, adhyāya 16;

vi, prefix, a, augment (bhūtakarāṇa), ŚRŪ– root with a long ū, ya, infix added to the root in the conjugational tenses, nta, pers.flexional ending, 3rd pers.pl., Imperfect passive form; ŚRU– “to hear” (karṇe KR), “to learn, to study” (PATH–, adhi–I); “to obey” (anu–RUDH–); for the infix ya, indicating a passive form, Pāṇ.III. 1.67, see in analysis of st.5 or 15, adhyāya 16; Pāṇini's sūtra, VII. 4.28, makes us know the function of ya even with the root of VIth cl.; by considering lini yakārādau asārvadhātuke (a part of the vṛttiḥ of the sūtra), the sūtra does not apply to Potential, see in analysis of st.5, adhyāya 16;

tatra : ind. “there, then”, Pāṇ.V. 3.10, see in analysis of st.15, adhyāya 14 śabdās : śabda– s.m. “a sound, a noise”, N.pl., sandhi : the final dental sibilant s of the group –ās is maintained as it is followed by the voiceless dental t of tatra, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.34; see in analysis of st.17, adhyāya 14, (also VIII. 2.66; VIII. 3.15);

mahāghorāḥ : mahā–ghorāḥ, adj. “great, terrible”, N.m.pl., related to śabdās; samantataḥ : “on all sides, wholly” (samantāt, samantah).

एवं सुतुमुले युद्धे वर्तमाने भयावहे।

“Thus, there became such a fierce battle, that both the forms of Lord Viṣṇu viz. the Nara (man) and Nārāyaṇa came to the war”.

evam : ind. “thus, hence”;

yuddhe : yuddha– s.m. “battle, fighting ground”, L.sg.; this word is used in Khmer language;

su-tumule : su–tumula– adj. “tumultuous” (ghosavat–); “fierce” (bhayaṅkara); “excited” (ksubdha); “perplexed” (kuṇ-hita); s.m. “an uproar” (kolāhala); L.sg.;

vartamāne : vartamāna–, varta–māna–, pres. participle (or adj.), ātmane pada and about māne (m–āna–), there are two Pāṇini's sūtra :

Pāṇ.III. 2.124 : laṭḍh śatṛśānanāvaprathamāsamānādhikaraṇe / 124/ padāni/ laṭḍh śatṛśānacau aprathamā

Pāṇ.VII. 2.82 :āne muk/82/padāni/āne muk/

vṛttih/ āne paratoṅgasyāto mugagamo bhavati/ bhayāvahe : bhaya + vahe, bhaya–, (coming from the root BHĪ–, ī → e, Pāṇ.I. 1.2; VII. 3.84, see in analysis of st.14, adhyāya 17, BHĪ → bhe, bhe + a → bhaya, e à ay, Pāṇ.VI. 1.78, see in analysis of st.5, adhyāya 16, vahe, pers. flexional ending of 1st pers. dual, present tense, Atmane pada; a Pāṇini's sūtra may be quoted, III. 4.79 :

īta ātmanepadānām ḍre/79/padāni/ītaḥ ātmanepadānām ḍh e (lasya)/

vṛttih/ īto lakārasya sthāne yānyātmanepadāni teṣāṁ

(see also VI. 4.1; I. 1.72; III.1.1).*

devau : deva– s.m. “god”, N.dual;

For declension, there is a Pāṇini's sūtra, IV. 1.2 :

svaujasamau  $\square$  chaś  $\bar{a}$  bhyām bhyasñasi bhyām bhyasñasosām ñas is ām, ñi os sup (ñayāprātipadikāt) vṛttih/ ñayāprātipadikāt svādayah pratyayāh bhavanti/nārāyaṇau : nārāyaṇa– s.m., “the God ” nārāyaṇa;

samājagmatur : samājagmatus (in pause), sam–ā–ja–gm– atatur, coming from sam–ā–GAM– sam–ā–prefix, ja, re– duplication (abhyāsa), Pāṇ.VI. 1.1; VI. 1.4; VI. 1.10.
VII. 4.59; VII. 4.62; VII. 4.61; VII. 4.66; VII. 4.60; VIII.
4.54, see in analysis of st.2, adhyāya 17; (VI. 1.8, in analysis of st.15, adhyāya 14) the interconsonantic vowel a is elided, Pāṇ.VI. 4.98, see in analysis of st.22, adhyāya 14, atur, pers.flexional ending of Perfect tense, 3rd pers. dual, Parasmai pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.82, see in analysis of st.8, adhyāya 16; sometimes, atur is spelt as atus or atuh ; in the present case, the visarga or the dental sibilant s becomes r before the vowel ā of āvaham, Pāṇ.VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of st.17, adhyāya 14; Pāṇ.VIII. 3.15, see in analysis of st.1, adhyāya 16;

āhavam : ahava– s.m., Ac.sg., “a sacrifice” (āhavana, yajña), “war” (yuddha–), “battle”; this word is seen in the Bhagavadgītā, adhyāya I :

na ca śreyo'nupaśyāmi hatvā svajanam āhave/ (st.31, 2nd line)

“(Arjuna said :) “I do not feel that any welfare would come by killing one's kinsmen in battle”.

tatra : ind. “there” (= tasmin sthāne, tasmin prasange), Pāṇ. V. 3.10, see in analysis of st.15, adhyāya 14;

divyam : divya- adj. “divine”, div- + ya, Pāṇ. VI. 2.101, see in analysis of st.7, adhyāya 15;

narasya : nara- s.m. “a man”, G.sg.

api : ind., Pāṇ.I. 4.96, see in analysis of st.19, adhyāya 14;

dhanur : dhanus (in pausa), dhanus- s.nt., Ac.sg., sandhi : the final dental s → r before the sonant d of dr̥ṣṭvā, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.15; see in analysis of st.1, adhyāya 16;

dr̥ṣṭvā : abs. of DRŚ-, “seeing”, abs. in -tvā, Pāṇ.I. 1.40; III. 4.16; III. 4.21; III. 4.18, see in analysis of st.11, adhyāya 16;

vai : expletive particle;

cakram : cakra- s.nt. “a disc”, Ac.sg.;

bhagavān : bhagavant-/bhagavat-, N.sg.m., about the termination -ān, Pāṇ.VI. 1.68; VIII. 2.23, see in analysis of st.6, adhyāya 16;

viṣṇur : viṣṇus (in pausa), viṣṇu- s.m., proper name of a most popular God of Hinduism, N.sg. ; sandhi : the final dental s becomes r before the sonant d of dānavo, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.15; see in analysis of st.1, adhyāya 16;

dānava— s.m. “a demon”, sūdanam : sūdana—, coming from the root SŪD— 1st cl., seen at the end of compound, “killing, destroying”; “the act of killing, slaying, destruction”, Ac.sg.; sūdana can be understood as SŪD— + Lyu (= ana); if it is the case, two Pāṇini's sūtra, III. 1.134; III. 2.150, will be considered, (see in analysis of st.5, adhyāya 16);

cintayāmāsa : periphrastic perfect, 3rd pers.sg., Parasmai pada, coming from the root CINT–aya–ām–āsa, 3rd pers.sg. perfect tense, Parasmai pada, coming from the root AS— ; the infix –ām is related to a periphrastic perfect, about this infix, Pāṇ.III. 1.35; III. 1.36; III. 1.37, see in analysis of st.24, adhyāya 16.

varcasam may be considered as an Ac.sg.m. (f.), referring to the declension of sumanas, though varcas would be written in Ac.sg.nt., according to the declension of manas (paradigme). At last, varcasam of varcasa- s.nt., “lustre”, may be used in the strophe.

tadā : “then, at the time” (tasmin samaye), Pāṇ.V. 3.15, see in analysis of st.9, adhyāya 14;

vegavat : adj. “agitated” (as the ocean), “impetuous, rapid, hasty, swift, violent”, Ac.sg., it can be considered as an adverb as it is near the verb nyapatata ;

punah punar : punas punas (in pausa), the first one (punah) may be seen as the final dental sibilant s changes into the visarga (ḥ) before the voiceless labial p of punar, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.34 ; VIII. 3.35, see in analysis of st.13, adhyāya 16

punah : ind. “again, once more” (punarapi); “but, on the other hand” (tu) ; further, besides” (kiñ ca) ; “again and again” (when repeated), (asakṛt); punar : punas (in pausa), sandhi : the final dental sibilant s changes into r before the sonent n of nyapatata, Pāṇ.VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of st.15;

nyapatata: ni-a-pat-a-ta, coming from ni-PAT-, “to fall down, descend”, ni → ny, i → y, according to samprasāraṇa principle, Pāṇ.I. 1.45 ; VI. 4.131; VI. 1.77 ; VI. 1.127, see in analysis of st.3, adhyāya 16, a, augment (bhūtakarāṇa), PAT-, root, the vowel a is maintained, Pāṇ.I. 1.2; VII. 3.84, see in analysis of st.14, adhyāya 17, a, thematic vowel (vikarāṇa), Pāṇ.III. 1.68, see in analysis of st.14, adhyāya 16, ta, pers.flexional ending of Imperfect tense 2nd pers.pl.Parasmai pada ;

sahasraśah : “by thousands” ;

danujān : danuja- s.m. (danusambhava, danusūnu), “a demon” (dānava), Ac.pl. ;

diti : s.f. “cutting, dividing” (chedana); “liberality” (audārya);

karetitam : kara + īritam, īrita- past partici. of the root īR-, 1st cl., “to go” (GAM-) ; “to shake” (KAMP-) ; “to move” (CAL-) ; “to rise, to spring from” (pra-BHŪ-) ; Sandhi : a + ī = e, Pāṇ.VI. 1.87, see in analysis of st.12, adhyāya 14; kara coming from KR- + ḍ, kar-a → kara, s.m. “a hand”, “a ray of light” about KR- + ḍ, kar-a, there ia a record in Amarakoṣa :

(see also VIII. 3.19, 20, 22 ; y is elided by these sūtras ; aś is used here for the sake of the subsequent sūtra, and aś means all voiced phonemes, aC + haś).

This sūtra VIII. 3.17 must clear up :

- the case of śira udanya (śiras udanya, in pausa), in st.14, adhyāya 16,
- the case of samāna iva (samānas iva, in pausa), in st.33, adhyāya 16,
- the case of divya utpanno'mṛta° (divyas utpannas amṛta°, in pausa), in st.35, adhyāya 16.

iva : ind. “like, in the same manner as, just, exactly, indeed, so”; ivava<sup>o</sup>, sandhi : a + a = ā, Pāṇ.VI. 1.101, st.6, adhyāya 16;

avalelihat : ava-le-lih-a-t, coming from ava-LIH-, “to flicker” (as a flame), ava, prefix, le, reduplication (abhyāsa). the radical vowel i becomes e (guna); in LIH-, the vowel i is maintained, the stem is leliha- where a is a thematic vowel (vikarāṇa), t, pers.flexional ending of 3rd pers.sg. Parasmai pada, Imperfect tense(?) of Intensive conjugation follows roughly the rules known through Pāṇ.VI. 1.1 ; VI. 1.4 ; VI. 1.8 ; VI. 1.10; VII. 4.59; VII. 4.62; VII. 4.61 VII. 4.66, see in analysis of st.2, adhyāya 17. tāñ : coming from the stem tad-, Ac.pl.m., related to gañān ;

a-sura : a, privative vowel, Pāṇ.VI. 2.116, see in st.14, adhyāya 15, “non-god”, i.e. “a demon”;

gaṇān : gaṇa- s.m. “a flock, troop, multitude”, Ac.pl.;
prahsahya : abs. of pra + SAH-, “to overpower” (abhi-BHŪ-), “to make effort” (YAT-) “to endure” (SAH-); nyakṛntata : ni-a-krnt-a-ta, from ni-KRNT- 6th cl., “to cut, to cut off, to cut in pieces, divide, tear asunder, destroy” (LŪ- 9th cl.) ; the vowel i of ni changes into y, according to samprasāraṇa principle, see some Pāṇini's sutras in analysis of st.3, adhyāya 16, a, augment (bhūtakaraṇa), KRNT-, root, a, vowel of the stem of conjugation of present system (vikaraṇa), Pāṇ.III. 1.68, see in analysis of st.14, adhyāya 16, ta, pers.flexional ending of Imperfect tense 2nd pers.pl., Parasmai pada; the root KRNT- can be understood as being in the 7th class, “to surround, to compass”; this case is likely right and the troop of gods must have cut the multitude demons in small groups, so that they can be overpowered. dahat : pres. participle of DAH-, N.sg.nt., “burning”, related to jvalana ;

īritam : īrita- past participle of the root īR- 1st class, “to go” (GAM-), “to shake” (KAMP-), “to move” (CAL-); īr + i+ kta → īrita, Pāṇ. VII. 2.52, vasati kṣudhori see in analysis of st.23, adhyāya 14, (also VII. 2.53, 54) ; about i- + kta (or simply i-), the sūtra VII. 2.35, ārdhātukasyed vadeḥ, is a governing rule having its effect in 40 sūtras.
 About it, an increment marked with t (or k), there is a Pāṇini's sūtra I. 1.46:

ādyantau □kitau /46/padāni/ādi antau □k itau/vṛttih/ ādisid bhavati antah kid bhavati sasī nirdis sya/

According to the present sūtra, we have two indicatory letters □and k ; the special use of them is explained here. By referring to the governing rule (VII. 2.35), one may know where is this it to be added, in the beginning or the end or the middle of the ārdhadhātuka affix? The answer is in this sūtra.

N.B. The point of the analysis of īrita must be connected directly to the one of the former strophe (st.22).

muhuh : “suddenly, at once, in a moment” ; “for a moment, constantly, incessantly”; ksitau : L.sg. of ksiti – s.f. “wane, perishing, ruin, destruction”; “an abode, dwelling, habitation”; earth, soil of the earth”;

viyati : L.sg. of viyat- pres. participle of vi + I-, “going apart or asunder” “being dissolved, vanishing”; s.nt. “the sky, heaven, air, atmosphere”;

prava- adj. (from the root PRU-). fluttering, hovering”;

prava + īritam, sandhi : a + ī → e, Pāṇ.VI. 1.87, see in st.12, adhyāya 14;

rāne : rāṇa- s.m. (or nt.), “war” (yuddha) ; “a battle-field” (raṇaksetra) ; rāṇa + ni, rāṇa + i = rāne, L.sg. ;

piśācavat : from piśācā + vat (or vant-), piśāca- s.m. “demons endowed with fondness for flesh”; “a fiend, ogre, demon, devilish being” ; this kind of demons is spoken in the Veda along with Asuras and Rākshasas; like a fiend”;

The Manusmṛti says :

(...) rakṣāṇsi ca piśācāś ca tāmasīśūttama gatih. (XII, 44)

(XII, 57)

atho = atha ind. “now, moreover, therefore, certainly, likewise” ;

rudhiram : rudhira- adj. “red” (rakta) ; s.nt. “blood” (asj-) ; s.m. “Mars” (bhauma);

papau : coming from PĀ- 1st cl. “to drink, quaff, suck, sip, enjoy”, pa, reduplication (abhyāsa), see Pāṇini's sūtra in analysis of st.2, adhyāya 17, pā + au = pau, Pāṇ.VI. 1.88, see in analysis of st.3, adhyāya 15; au, pers. flexional ending of Perfect tense, 3rd pers.sg.Parasmai pada ; about the long ā substituted by au, we know a Pāṇini's sūtra, VII. 1.34 :

āta au ḷalah / 34 / padāni / ātah au ḷalah/vṛttih/ ākārāntādaṅgāduttarasya ḷala aukārādeśo bhavati/

So, we can write : pā + ḷal → pa-pā + au (VI.1.8 ; VII.4.59)→pa-p-au (VI.1.88). It is the vṛddhi-ekādeśa; (it requires a way of sthānivat, according to I. 1.56 ; I.1.59, dvirvacane'ci) ; for VI.1.8, see in analysis of st.15, adhyāya 14; for VII.4.59, see in analysis of st.2, adhyāya 17.

The strophe uses the metre rucirā (= Prabhāvatī).

abhi-pra-pad-ya : abhi-pra-PAD-ya : abs. in –ya, “to come towards, reach at, enter into”; “to resort to”;

mardayams : mardayan (in pausa), coming from the root MRD- 9th or 1st cl., the vowel r → ar, Pāṇ.I. 1.51, see in st.4, adhyāya 16; I. 1.2 ; VII. 3.84, see in analysis of st.14, adhyāya 17; causative mood, “to press, to squeeze hard, crush, break, oppress, torment, destroy, kill” ;

sandhi : mardayan + tadā, before the voiceless dental t, n → ṣ, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.7, see in analysis of st.6, adhyāya 16; (see in Logico...) ;

suragāṇa— “troops of gods”, tatpuruṣa compound, object of mardayamṣ ;

Logico-grammatical analysis.— About mardayamṣ, it may be considered as mardayan (in pausa) that would be a present participle of the root MRD—(mard-ay-a-n, N.sg.m.). The present case is not fit for the sense of the strophe as a-surā (a-surās, in pausa) needs a verb in plural 3rd pers.. The real form may be a-mard-ay-a-n, 3rd pers.pl. of Imperfect tense, Parasmai pada. The fact weather to verily see the vowel a of gāṇa or the augment of a-mardayan is being dropped down. At first, I am not sure why a long ā had not been written. In regular way, we may read guṇāmardayamṣ tadā (sandhi a + a → ā). Anyhow, one a is elided. This is a particular case of an Imperfect tense that has been used without its augment. The reason may be found out through the chanda at the end of the 1st line of Rucirā metre :

mu	hur	mu	huḥ	su	ra	ga	ṇa	mar	da	yamṣ	ta	dā
JA			BHA			SA			JA

We see ṇa is at the middle element of SA gāṇa, and it is to be in a short vowel, therefore the sandhi a + a → ā can't take its normal effect. The SA gāṇa at that very point of the 1st line of the strophe gives reason to the poet's choice in considering “gāṇamardayamṣ”. the present case is imperative for one to see the determinating influence of the metre. In chanda, the gāṇa are so strict that hardly any poet can afford to avoid them.

The metre Rucirā is used in the strophe.

अथाम्बराद्वयजननाः प्रपेदिरे सपादपा बहुविधमेघस्तुपिणः।
महाद्रयः प्रविगलिताग्रसानवः परस्परं द्रुतमभिहत्य सस्वनाः॥२५॥

“Stricking quickly one another with the noises, the mountains with their oozing top of table-land, the tress appearing as clouds in various particular forms had taken effect causing the terror from the sky”.

The strophe uses the metre Rucirā atha : ind. now, moreover, (also in analysis of st.24);

drutam : ind. “quickly, swiftly”, immediatly” (sadyam); druta– s.m. “a scorpion” (damsa); “a tree” (naga); “a cat” (biḍāla); rūpinah : rūpin– adj. “having or assuming a partic. form or figure, embodied, coroporeal”; ifc. “having the form or nature or character of, characterised by, appearing as”, N.(or Ac.) pl.m. ; svanāḥ : svana– s.m. “sound, noise” (nāda, dhvani), the sound produced by the roar of wind, thunder, water; abhi–HAN– 2nd cl., “to strike, to beat” (TAD– 10th cl.); “to kill, to destroy” (HAN–) ; “to drive, to ward off” (apa–NUT–); “to beat” (as drum) ; abhihatya : ind. “striking, killing”; In the Manusmṛti XI, we read :

avagurya tvabdaśatam sahasramabhihatya/st.206.

prapedire : pra–ped–ire, coming from pra–PAD–, “to fall or drop down from (Ab.)”; “to go forwards, set out for”; “to fall upon, attack, assail”; “to undertake, commence, begin, do” ; “to assume, to come one, appear, take effect”; pra, prefix, a reduplication (abhyāsa) is not seen and the vowel a is substituted by e ; two Pāṇini's sūtra must be known.

VII. 4.60 : halādih śeṣah/60/padāni/hal ādih śeṣah/

vṛttih/ abhyāsasya halādih śisyate anādir lupyate/

The word halādih is not a compound, though it could be in a tatpuruṣa meaning “first among the consonants”. Through the word ādi, it can be supposed as a Karmadhāraya. We have the word abhyāsa in the vṛttih, it bears a sense of jāti, “generic property” or kind. Śeṣah and śisyate lead the same object expressed to us by “is retained”. About prapedire, pra, prefix, only p “is retained” as pa-pad + ta → ped + e, the reduplication pa is dropped down, the p of PAD- is maintained. Practically speaking, in the weak stem of Perfect tense (Li) of Ātmane pada, the reduplication or the consonants of abhyāsa are all elided; the first one “is retained”; it appears as śeṣah is the determining word of the sūtra. For best comprehension, one can discuss the sense of the sūtra through the retention or the cessation facing the consonants. And one can feel an insight of the trend of the injunction.

VI. 4.120 : ata eka halmadhye'nādeśāder li/120/padāni/ ataḥ eka hal madhye anādeśādeḥ li/ vṛttih/ kṇītītivartate/li parata ādeśa ādiryasyāṅgasya naśimanyoralivyetvam vaktavyam/vā°/ chandasayamipacorapyali etvam vaktavyam/vā°/yajivapyoś ca/

According to this sūtra, we understand pad → ped as the vowel e is substituted for the short a standing between two simple consonants. The effect takes place with personal endings of Perfect tense which have a k indicatory (I. 2.5). When the vowel e is substituted, the reduplication is all elided. The case is confirmed by the sūtra VII. 4.60. About the personal flexional ending -ire, there is a Pāṇini's sūtra III. 4.81, see in analysis of st.8, adhyāya 16; the vowel i of -ire can be cleared up by the sūtra VI. 4.64, see in analysis of st.8, adhyāya 16; 3rd pers.pl. Perfect (Li-), Ātmane pada.

pravigalita- (pra-vi-GAL- + i- + kta, vi-GAL-i-ta, Pāṇ.VII.
 2.52, see in analysis of st.23, adhyāya 14), “oozing”;
sānavah : sanu- s.m., (from the root SAN-), “a summit, ridge, surface, top of mountain, mountain-ridge, table-land”, N.pl.;

parasparam : ind. “one another, each other, from one another”; we see the dental sibilant s is maintained before the voiceless labial p. In general way, the dental sibilant s has to be changed into the visarga. Through analogical view, Pāṇini's sutra VIII. 3.38 may be quoted :

sopadādau/38/padāni/sah a upadhādau/ vṛttih/ sakāra ādeśo bhavati visarjanīyasya kupvorapadādyoh paratah

we have payaspāśam (V. 3.47), payaskalpam, yaśaskalpam (V. 3.67); (see also VIII. 3.48, 49, 51).

bhr̄sam : ind., generally used at the beginning of a compound, “much, abundant”; “strongly, violently, vehemently, greatly, exceedingly, repeatedly” (bhūyas) abhi-garjatām : °garjat-, pres. participle of GARJ- 1st cl., “to roar at, to bawl at, to rise savage or ferocious cries”; “to thunder” (NAD-, STAN-); G.pl.m. (or nt.);

muhū : muhus or muhur, “again, again and again” ; sandhi : the final r must be dropped down before the letter r of raṇājire and consequently the vowel u is to be lengthened, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.14 :

ro ri/14/padāni/rah̄ ri/
vṛttih/ rephasya rephe parato lopo bhavati/

The real form of the sūtra is roh̄ ri; the form ro ri is a right understanding as ras ri (in pausa) has to be pointed out (sandhi : group –as → o, Pāṇ.VI. 1.113 VI. 1.114); rah̄ is the Genitive or r, and roh̄ would be the Genitive of ru, and accordingly roh̄ ri has nothing to do here. The lengthening of the vowel which precedes that r can be referred to the Pāṇini's sūtra VI. 3.111 :

dhralope pūrvasya dīrgho'ṇah̄ / 111/ padāni/dhralope pūrvasya dīrgho'ṇah̄ / vṛttih/ dhakārarephayor lopo yasmin sa dh lopah̄ tatra pūrvasyaṇo dīrgho bhavati/ parasparam : ind. “one another, each other, from one another”; the dental sibilant s of paras is maintained, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.38, see in analysis of st.25;

raṇājire : raṇa- a + AJ–ire, a, reduplication (abhyāsa), aj-, root, 1st cl. “to pers.flexional ending, 3rd pers.Perfect tense, Ātmane pada; for -ire, Pāṇ.III. 4.81; for the vowel i of -ire, Pāṇ.VI. 4.64, see in analysis of st.8, adhyāya 16;

vartite : gartita : gart-i-ta, coming from the root VRT- (sam°, pra°) “to begin, to set about; “to go against”, attack, to encounter”; L.sg.

Logico-grammatical analysis.— The earth (mahi) was shaken (pravicalitā) and struck (abhihatā); kānanā may be understood as an element which determines what is to be distinguished in a statement, being in connection with the subject. So, kānanā is a predicate related to mahi. The forest and particularly the trees depend on the earth to being in a good condition, but in the scenery shown by the strophe, the trees are broken or uprooted. The situation can be compared to the effect of an earthquake. Kānanā can't be kānanās (in pausa), though the final dental sibilant s of the group -ās has to be dropped down before the sonant m of mahādri; the case is to be kept off.

Case of abhihatā (or abhihatās, in pause) : if abhihatās had been used, its final dental sibilant s would have changed into visarga before the sibilant s of samantataḥ. Otherwise, if, indeed, abhihatās had been considered, the final sibilant s would have remained. Having viewed through these supposed cases, one may be sure that abhihatā, like pravicalitā, is related to mahī.

The case of pāta was the right one; the sandhi a + a took its effect (long ā), though pātā was likely possible with regard to mahī (or also kānanā(?)). Anyhow, pāta remains an element of the compound mahādri<sup>o</sup>.

Parasparam would have been put nearby abhisam□ pravartite, but the image of the fight (viruddha or yuddha) and its steps had obliged the choice that had been fitted to follow rightly the scheme of the metre. Each camp was in battle array :

a) war-cry grasped through <sup>o</sup>abhigarjatām, b) setting about fighting, indicated by abhisampravartite.

Bṛhśam + abhi is seen in two times and associated with the verb expressing the actions that required an artful preparation.

Raṇājire may be understood as raṇa + ajire (a, reduplication+AJ-), the form of the syllables established by the metre. Through <sup>o</sup>vartite, L.sg., raṇa is worth hinting at the place where the violent event takes place ; by the way, raṇa can be rendered as “as in the battle-field”.

This strophe 26 is not entirely written in the Rucirā metre. The first line has only 35 syllables. From mahādri<sup>o</sup> until samantataḥ, the scheme is :

ma hā dri	pā tā bhi	ha tā sa	ma nta taḥ
JA	TA	JA	RA

This part follows the scheme of vamśasthavila (or vamśatanita).

vara : adj. “excellent” (uttama); “better than” (śreyam); s.nt. “a desire” (icchā) “a boon” (īpsita– s.nt.) ; “a gift” (dāna); this word is used in Khmer language; kanaka– s.nt. “gold” (suvarṇa); agra : adj. “chief, best, prominent” (pramukha, ādya, śreṣṭha); “tip, point”; “the best (of any kind); “goal, aim” (sandhyāna); “surplus, excess” (adhikāra); now, agra is used in Pāli form as agga in Khmer language. Before the World War II, the so-called Khmer Prime Minister (2nd personage after the King) had aggamahāsenā as his title. The queen was called aggamehesī, i.e. “the Chief of the female buffalo”.

bhūṣaṇair : bhūṣaṇais (in pausa), bhūṣaṇa– s.nt. “ornament, decoration” (alaṅkāra) I.pl., sandhi : the final dentas sibilant s changes into r before the sonant m of mahesubhir, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.15, see in analysis of st.1, adhyāya 16; Pāṇ.VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of st.15, adhyāya 17;

gagana : s.nt. “atmosphere, firmanent” ; “sky” (ākāśa), “heaven” (svarga); “a cypher” (śūnya);

patham̄ : from pathin- s.m., strong stem panthan, older pantha, middle pathi, weak path, patha at the end of compound for panthin, s.m. “a way, path, road, course” (marga); “journey” (pravāsa); “range” (vishaya); “a sect, a doctrine” (śākhā, mata); the Pāṇini's sūtra V. 4.74 may be quoted for this :

vidārayan : vidārayat-(ant-), coming from the root vi-DĀ-, pres.participle in causative mood, “causing to burst asunder, to rend or tear to pieces”, N.sg.m., related to naras; the case may be seen as vi-dār-ay-a-n; root vi-DĀ-, the long ḍ à ār, *Pāṇ.*I. 1.3, see in analysis of st.22, (see also in Pāṇini's sūtra VII. 3.84, in analysis of st.28, adhyāya 16.

giri : s.m. “a mountain, an elevation” (naga); “a huge rock” (mahāśilā); in Khmer, the word is spelt as giri; síkharāṇi : síkhara– s.m. or nt. "pop, summit" (śringa); "crest" (āpīda), Ac.pl.

patribhīr : patribhīs (in pausa), patri– s.m. "an arrow" (bāṇa); "mountain" (bhūbhṛt); "a tree" (pādapa), I.pl., sandhi : the final dentas sibilant s changes into r before the sonant m of mahābhaye, see the same Pāṇini's sūtra as indicated under bhūṣaṇair ;

gāṇa : s.m. "a flock, troop, multitude, number, series, class";

tadā : ind. "then, at the time" (tasmin samaye), Pāṇ.V. 3.15, see in analysis of st.9, adhyāya 14; (see in st.13, 22, 23);

samāṇṛ̥ṇot : sam–ā–a–VR–ṇo–t, coming from sam–ā–VR–, 5th cl., "to cover all over, conceal, veil, encompass, surround" ; sam–ā–, prefix (upasarga), a, augment (bhūtakaraṇa), VR–, root, –ṇo–, infix indicating the strong stem of 5th cl., t, pers.flexional ending, 3rd pers.sg., Imperfect tense, Parasmai pada. (see also in st.22, adhyāya 16).

sandhi : the dental nasal n changes into the cerebral ṇ nasal after the letter ṛ of the root, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.1; VIII. 4.2, see in analysis of st.3, adhyāya 16. In VIII. 4.2 we read :

aṇkuṇvāṇnumvyavāyepi/2/padāni/aṇku pu ḣāṇ num vyavāye api/

The cerebral nasal ṇ takes place of n when the case is intervened by a vowel or y, v, r, h, or a guttural, or a labial or the preposition a or the augment num.

aṇ stands for vowels and the letters y, r, v, h, (karṇam, haraṇam, kiriṇā), ku means all the guttural, e.g. arkena, mūrkheṇa, pu means all the labial, e.g. darpaṇa repheṇa, garbheṇa, āñ means all the particle ā that is a vowel and do included in as pratyahāra, (VIII. 2.34; VIII. 4.14).

The vowel r of the root VR- does not become guna; it can be explained by two Pāṇini's sūtras, VII. 3.84; I. 2.4.

VII. 3.84 : sārvadhātukārddhadhātukayoh/84/padāni/ sārvadhātuka ārddhadhātukayoh/ vṛttih/ sārvadhātuke ārddhadhātuke ca pratyaye

The verb of 5th cl. as SU-, VR- and the like do not take guna, i.e. su-snu + tip → sunoti, At this, the sūtra I. 2.4 has a determinating effect.

I. 2.4 : sārvadhātukampit/4/padāni/sārvadhātukam ap-it (nit)/

vṛttih/ sārvadhātukam yadapittanid bhavati/

The distinction must be made :

– terminations marked by s (as called tiñ), – terminations marked by p (Tip, Sip, Mip, such as ti, si, mi); nit → śap with p (as marked by p, pit), nit without p, a-Pit, the affix is not gunated (e.g. kurutas).

The 5th class is stated by Pāṇ. III. 1.73 :

svādibhyah śnuh/73/padāni/su ādibhyah śnuh (sārvadhātuke kartari)/ vṛttih/ (...) ityevamādibhyo dhātubhyah śnupratyayo bhavati/

Su + tiP = Su + śnu + tiP → sunoti.

Let's compare the following lines :

BHŪ- + śap + tas = bho + a + tas = bhav-a-tas,

SU- + śnu + tas = SU-nu-tas, SU- is not gunated by Pāṇ.I. 2.4 and its interpretation is still difficult (with the elements dealing with P-it, a-P-it, N-it, Tiñ, Ś-it).

For the 5th class, see also VI. 4.107 ; VI. 4.87.

Logico-grammatical analysis.— By considering the sense of vidārayan<sup>o</sup>, patribhīr may be rendered as “by arrows” that were the means for bursting asunder the summits of the mountain, so that the demons' troops were in terror.

From mahābhaye until the end of the strophe, there is a possibility of an absolute locative. The condition described by this absolute locative is the direct consequence of the action said by vidārayan<sup>o</sup> ... patribhīr. It took a moment as the demons were more untoward in their dealings with the gods. Facing the dreadful situations created by the Supreme Lord on all sides, they could not hold out any longer against the temptation to indulge in terror.

Then, feeling reassured about the whole thing, the Supreme Lord concealed the road of the sky. He decided it was worth while to do so in this very case where he could better bear sway and hold them in bondage. It was very easy for him to disentangle their train of thought, and each time to cause them to labour under an error; at the end, they were floundering through a mortal blow, and for the moment, they couldn't go awry in all directions. It was all very well for them to have an issue. It was perhaps all that was left for them to withdraw from the battle-field. For the Supreme Spirit, the demons were due to follow the road that was remained for them. They had no choice at all. The Nara's act had to be understood by the demons as “you go where I want or don't you say a word, or else ...”. They had to bear the burnt of the destruction along with quailing for any instant of leaving the place, though they might have done so without being thought to be craven. While they moved on — as it will be said in the next strophe — the Lord may have stood up, waited, gaped and said not a word. What one is supposed to see the image as the case would be plausible.

The strophe is written in the metre Rucirā.

Perfect tense, Atmane pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.81, see in analysis of st.8, adhyāya 16. An observation may be said as KR- → kri-(ṛ→ri) follows the Pāṇini's sūtra VII. 4.28 and consequently the kri- is immediately followed by yak (= ya). The case has to be cleared up between kri of cakrire (Perfect tense) and the kri obeying the rule VII. 4.28.

saha : ind. “with” (sākam);

kirīthe : kirī-in– s.m. a proper name (or an epithet) of Indra, a name of Arjuna in the Bhagavadgītā, XI, st.35, (...) keśavasya kṛtañjalir vepamanah kirī-i/ D.m. ; bala-bhid : s.m. “Indra” (ākhaṇḍala); “the Slayer of Bala” (i.e. Indra) ; another meaning would be sought as the word is used in a particular context of the 2nd line of the strophe (cf. at the end of the analysis), “breaking or routing an army”

The metre is Rucirā.

Logico-grammatical analysis. – The last strophe of the present adhyāya shows two facts ; each one of them is stated by each line of the strophe. The whole troops of gods has drunk the nectar and delivered the remaining for themselves.

The 2nd fact appears as very important. Where the nectar has to be protected? And who is the high guardian of the divine treasure? The 2nd line of the strophe gives us an answer. At first, we see the verb dadau. Who gave the issue of the case? Why this question may be asked? The verb dade (3rd pers.sg., Perfect tense, Ātmane pada) would be convenient for the gāna at the beginning of the 2nd line (ॐ-ॐ-ॐ, dadau ca tam or dade ca tam). An impersonal case of expression would enable the poet to convey the idea – and the CASE does do the work well – but dadau has been chosen to put a mark on the determining occasion after contending with all the perilous difficulties that confronted the gods. The gesture (or the mystic act), which was fulfilled at the last moment, was due to Viṣṇu himself as the gods (and also the demons) were set about churning the ocean under his own patronage. The subject of dadau is Viṣṇu, although in this strophe his name (or his epithet) is not expressed. The object of dadau is tam nidhim, of course. The verb DĀ- is used generally with dative case. For this, we see kirīthe, i.e. Indra himself. Henceforth, the function of Indra is to guard (rakṣitum) the nectar as he is the great chief among the gods, so that the right protection is assured. In that way, Nārāyaṇa has nothing to reproach himself with. Amṛtasya is connected with tam nidhim and that can be understood as “this treasure of Immortality”. With whom is Indra guarding this treasure? With his army of gods. According to a religious, well-grounded belief, the nectar is thought to be at Indra's Paradise. Indra has his military force as it is suggested by bala-bhidathāmaraiḥ saha. The indeclinable saha ends the strophe and also the 17th adhyāya. Saha bears a full sense with regard to the Indra's entourage. Accordingly, it is too difficult for the demons to sneak into Indra's Heaven to steal amṛta. There is no reason why they shouldn't challenge the gods. They will take an opportunity to stir up all sorts of tricks in case that the gods should be absent-minded.

Bala-bhid can be seen as in N.sg. (or Ac.sg.), meaning “Indra” or “the Slayer of Bala”. Bala-bhid may be considered as an element of the Karmadhāraya compound “athāmaraiḥ”. This compound may be rendered as “moreover (atha) with the gods [being] the breakers of the army (of the demons)”. If bala-bhid has been used in N.sg. it would appear as Indra who had given the nectar to himself by considering the word kirī-ine. The possible supposed case leads to a queer fact as the ending part of the strophe conveys a positive conclusion to the narrative knot. It is imperative that the troops of the gods be mentioned somewhere. If bala-bhid were to mean “Indra” we might find another way. One may wonder how best to understand the 2nd line of the strophe. I should prefer bala-bhid not to be rendered by “Indra”. Try as I would, I could not avoid what kirī-īhe and saha were intended to mean.

pratyaye parataḥ samprasāraṇāṁ bhavati/*

When followed by an affix having an indicatory k, the semi-vowels of the roots VAC, SVAP, and the verbs of yajādi verbs are vocalised. The yajādi verbs can be recalled up as following : YAJ-, VAP-, VAH-, VAS-, VEṄ-, VYEṄ-, HVEṄ- ; VAD- and ŚVI- can also be added to the series.

mathitam : MATH- + i- + kta → math-i-ta, verb.adj., Ac.sg.nt., related to amṛtam; about -iṄkta, there is a governing rule of Pāṇini's sūtra, VII. 2.35:

yathā : (yad prakāre thāl), “as, in the manner mentioned, so, according as, so that” (yādrś, yena, anatikramya); Pāṇ.VIII. 1.37, see in analysis adhyāya 17, st.29; Pāṇ.V. 3.23:

According to this, it must be understood idam + tham=ittham; (see also the sūtra V. 3.2; V. 3.4).

The matter of thā can be observed through the sūtra V. 3.26 :

thā hetau cacchandasi /26/padāni/thā hetau ca chandasi/vṛttih/ kiṁ śabdāddhetau varttamānātthā pratyayo bhavati cakārāt prakāravacane/chandasi viśaye/

The word kathā (kiṁ + thā, ka + thā) is explained by the same sūtra.

yatra : (yad tral) “where, in which”, “when” (yadā), be □ cause”, Pāṇ.VI. 3.35 :

tasilādisvākrtvasucaḥ/35/padāni/tasilādiṣu ākrtvasucaḥ/

Consequently, we can understand : tasyāḥ śālāyāḥ = tataḥ ; tasyāṁ = tatra; yasyāṁ = yatra ; yasyā = yatas. (see also the sūtra III. 3.148)

sarvamākhyātam : sarvam-ā-khyā-ta; sarvam: sarva- pron.
 “all, all of, the whole”; ā-KHYĀ-tam: ā-KHYĀ-kta, past participle of the root ā-KHYĀ-, “said, told, declared, counted, recited ; made known”, N.sg.nt., related to amṛtaṇ;

the suffix kta = ta is stated by some Pāṇini's sūtra :

III. 4.70 : tayoreva kṛtyaktakhalarthāḥ/70/padāni/taylor
eva kṛtya kta khalarthāḥ/

vṛttih/ tayoreva bhāvakarmaṇoh kṛtyasañjñakāḥ ktakhalārthoś ca pratyayā bhavanti/ tayoh is related to bhāva “an Impersonal act” and karma, “object”.

khal (III. 3.126) tends to denote the object and the Impersonal act. After a transitive verb kṛtya, kta and khalārtha do not point out the bhāva, (“an Impersonal action”).

III. 4.71 : ādikarmani ktaḥ kartari ca /71/padāni/ādi karmani ktaḥ kartari ca (bhāve, karmaṇi)/ vṛttih/ ādikarmaṇi yaḥ kto vihitah sa kartari bhavati cakārāt yathā prāptam bhāvakarmaṇoh/

Besides ādikarmaṇi, the particle ca in the sūtra indicates that kta is used to denote the act and the object as well.

*III. 4.72 : gatyarthākarmakaśliṣaśīñsthāsavasajanaruha jīr

The affix kta is also used to denote the agent as well as the act and the object, in case of the verbs implying motion (after transitive roots) as śils, śi, sthā, ās, vas, jan, ruh, jṛ.

By virtue of the word ca “the act and the object” is added into the sūtra.

IV. 1.1: nīyāpratipadikāt / 1 / padāni / nā āp pratipadikāt / vṛttih/ adhikāro'yan/yadita ūrdhvamanukramiṣyāma āpañcamādhyāyaparisamāpter nīyāpratipadikād ityevam tad veditavyam/

This is an adhikāra aphorism which bears effect till the end of the Book fifth. It deals mainly with the feminine affixes nī or āp occurred after a nominal stem (pratipadika).

The term nī has three kinds of affixes, i.e. nīp, nīs and nīn. The term āp means the affixes known as  $\bar{a}p$ , dāp and cāp. All these feminine affixes are stated from the sūtra 4 to 65 of the chapter 1 of the Book fourth.

The word pratipadika is in the sūtra, and, moreover, we see the term (or word) ny-āp in it. With regard to the “key to interpretation” (paribhāṣā), the “nominal stem” (pratipadika) brings in two cases of consideration, a general on one hand and a particular on another as the word does in this sūtra. Which of these two cases will it be right? One has his own opinions about the matter. What advice to give such a beginner in grammatical Pāṇinian system!

VII. 3.105 : āni cāpah/105/padāni/āni ca āpah/ vṛttih/ āniti pūrvācāryanirddeśena tṛtīyaikavacanam grhyete/tasminnāni paratas cakārādosi ca āvantasyāṅgasyaikārādeśo bhavati/

E is substituted for the final ā of the feminine affix with the case-ending os and ā of the Instrumental. The latter is called  $\bar{a}$  which had been given ān by the ancient grammarians ; ān would be supposed to be a term handed down by Pre-Pāṇinian period.

mālā → māle + ā (e → ay, VI. 1.78) → mālayā;

VII. 3.106 : sambuddhau ca/106/padāni/sambuddhau ca/
vṛttih/ āpa iti varttate/sambuddhau ca parata āvantasyāṅgasya etvam bhavati/

E is substituted for the final ā of a feminine stem, in the vocative singular.

(see also VI. 1.69 in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.30) uccaiḥśravā : uccaiḥ-śravās (in pausa), uccaiḥ, ind. “aloft, high, above, upwards, intenely, powerfully”, uccaiḥ is seen in Atharvaveda, book fourth, chapter (anuvāka) I, Hymn 1, verse 3 (2nd line) :

brahma brahmaṇa ujjabhāra madhyān nīcāir uccaiḥ svadhā abhi pra tasthau/

“From Him comes the knowledge of the Vedas. Hence, Self-existent He pervades all places low and high.”

*uccaiḥ-*śravas— s.m. “long-eared or neighing aloud”, proper name of the horse born at the churning of the ocean of milk ; he is considered as the king of horses ; śravas of śrava “the ear”, śravas— follows the declension of sumanas-°śravā, N.sg.m. ; sandhi : the final dental sibilant s of the group –ās must be dropped down as it is followed by the dental nasal n (sonant) of nu, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.19; VIII. 3.22, see in analysis of st.14, adhyāya 18;

kimvarṇo : *kim-*varṇas (in pausa), varṇa— s.m. “outward appearance, exterior form, figure, shape, colour, colour of beauty”, N.sg. ;

sandhi : the group –as becomes o before the sonant bh of bhadre, Pāṇ.VI. 1.113, 114, see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.17 ;

jānīhi : coming from JÑĀ- 9th cl. “to know, to have knowledge with, to apprehend”, 2nd pers.sg. Imperative tense (with hi) ;

Pāṇ.III. 3.162 : loऽca/162/padāni/loऽca (vidhi nimantranā amamṛtrāna adhīṣṭā samprāśna prārthaneśu/ vṛttih/ loऽca pratyayo bhavati dhātor vidhyādiśvartheśu/

Lo expresses a command, summons, invitation, respectful command, deliberation and request (see also Pāṇ.III. 3.161);

Pāṇ.III. 3.163 : praiśātisargaprāptakāleśu kṛtyāś ca/163/ padāni/praiśā attisarga prāptakālesu kṛtyāḥ ca (loऽ/ vṛttih/ presaṇam praiśah kāpacārābhyanujñānamatisargah nimittabhūtasya kālasyāvasarah prāptakālah etesvartheśu dhātoḥ kṛtyasañjñakāḥ pratyayā bhavanti/

Pāṇ.III. 4.85 : loऽd laṅ vat/85/padāni/loऽdh laṅ vat/

This is an atideśa sūtra that aims to bring in an extended application by analogy. Firstly, lo is not like lañ (Imperfect tense), this latter has an augment a- (bhūtakarāñña, Pāñ. VI. 4.71). Imperative tense (lo) has no substitution of Jus for Jhi as it is stated in the sūtra III. 4.111, and particularly the sūtra III. 4.101. Secondly, the analogy between lo and lañ in this very purpose is limited ; one has to consider each case of analogy.

Pāñ. III. 4.87 : *serhyapic ca/87/padāni/señ hi apit ca vṛttih/ lodādeśasya ser hi ityayamādeśo bhavati/

**hi* is substituted for si, though it has not the indicative p of sip.

nu : ind. “now, still, just, at once, so now, now then”; “indeed, certainly, surely”; Pāñ. III. 2.121; VIII. 2.98;

III. 2.121 : nanvor vibhāṣā/121/padāni/na nvoñ vibhāṣā (bhūte prṣñaprati vacane lañ/ *vṛttih/ naśabde nuśabde copapade prṣñaprativacane

When referring to the general past the present tense (12-) can be used in case of interrogation and answer with the words na and nu.

VIII.2.98 : *pūrvam tu bhāṣāyām/98/padāni/pūrvam tu

*vṛttih/ bhāṣāyām viṣaye vicāryamāññāñām pūrvameva

In current speech a substitute prolated vowel (pluta) takes place of the first syllable which is the same of the last one of the word coming forth and the ensemble denotes a choice of deliberation.

The particle tu of the sūtra has a force. The determination wether to make tu bear the sense of “only” or “an alternative” would be being cleared up. Otherwise, tu can be understood as “an alternative only”.

*tan tu satyam pavamānasyāsnu yatra viśve kāravaḥ a, pers.flexional ending of Perfect tense, Pāṇ.III. 4.82.

(see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.1, along with some Pāṇini's sūtra related to samprasāraṇa principle ;

śveta : śvetas (in pausa), śveta– adj. N.sg.m. “white”, related to asvārājo ; sandhi : the final dental sibilant s of śvetas must be dropped down as it is followed by the vowel e of eva°, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.17, see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.23;

śveta is used in Khmer language and it is spelt like sveta; this latter can be seen in the compound svetacchatra meaning “the white umbrella having seven elements which are permanently opened beyond the throne” (rājapallaṅka). In decorative art, svetacchatra points out the kind of small, white umbrelled elements at the upper part of an ensemble of an ornamental arrangement.

eva : particle, “just, quite, exactly”, Pāṇ.VIII. 1.62, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.6;

rājo : rājas (in pausa), rājas– s.nt. ayam : coming from the stem idam–, N.sg.m., related to asvārājo, Pāṇ.VII. 2.111, see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.2, the ay– is substituted for id– and when ayam is obtained;

kim : interrogative pronoun, about the declension of kim, the case of N.(kartṛ) and Ac. (karman) sg.nt. is still kim. This pronoun has the same declension as tad– does ; ka is considered instead of kim in other cases, vṛttih/ yuṣmadasmador maparyantasya sau pare tva aha ityetāvādeśau bhavataḥ/

In the case of Nominative sg., tva is substituted for yuṣ and aha for as ; we can show the following operational steps:

yus-m-ad + sU = tva-ad-am = tva - m = tvam ;

as-m-ad + sU = aha-ad-am = aha - m = aham ;

What we have just seen must be completed by the sūtra VI. 1.107 :

śubhe : Voc.f.sg. of śubhā- adj., the final vowel a changes into e, Pāṇ.IV. 1.1; VII. 3.105, 106, see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.2 ; VI. 1.69, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.30 ;

manyase : coming from the MAN- 4th cl. “to believe, to think, to suppose”, man-ya-se, 2nd pers.sg. present tense (la), Ātmane pada;

About the affix -ya-, there is a Pāṇini's sūtra III. 1.69:

divādibhyah śyan/69/padāni/div ādibhyah śyan (sārvadhātu ke karttari)/ *vṛttih/ div ityevamādibhyo dhātubhyah śyan pratyayo

bhavati/*

About śyan, the final n is for sake of accent (udatta) which falls on the radical verb; the ś makes the affix sārvadhātuka ; see personal flexional ending of 2nd pers.sg. present tense, Atmane pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.79,

III. 4.79 : इता अत्मनेपदानाम् इते/79/पदानि/इताह अत्मनेपदानाम् इह ए (लास्या)/

वृत्तिः/ इतो लकारस्या स्थाने यान्यात्मनेपदानि तेषाम् इतेकारादेशो भवति/

The vowel e replaces the last vowel with the consonant that follows it ; the terminations of Ātmane pada replace what that la has an indicatory □

The la means the tense-affixes; the □ being at the end of l is seen in six cases : la□(present, vartamāna), li□(perfect), lu□(perisphrastic future), lṛ□(future, bhaviṣyanti), lo□(Imperative, ajñā), le□(subjunctive).

ि is used for the final portion of these tenses (la) in Ātmane pada. (see also the sūtra III. 4.80)

	Singular	Dual	Plural
3rd	ta→te	ātam→āte	anta→ante
2nd	thās→se	ātham→āthe	dhavam→dhve
1st	it→e	vahi→vahe	mahi→mahe

We have seen the structural constitution of the personal flexional endings of Ātmane pada (la□, indicative). The affixes Śānac and Kānac are also in Ātmane pada, and they remain unchanged. The vowel e has nothing to do in this very case. The reason is the presence of the word ātmanepadānām in the sūtra III. 4.79. By the context and as referring also to Atmane pada, the pratyāhāra tiṅ bears the effect of Parasmai pada and Ātmane pada as well, sūtra I. 4.99; I. 4.100. The latter is an exception (apavāda) with regard to the sūtra I. 4.99. By expressing tiṅas trīṇi trīṇi, “the three (and) three triplets of tiṅ”, the sūtra I. 4.101 states the determinating view on the prevailing extent of tiṅ.

The root MAN- has a specific regime, which is worth while showing. Two Pāṇini's sūtras can be referred to.

III. 2.82 : manah /82/padāni/manah (supi ḡnīḥ)/ vṛttih/ manvataḥ subanta upapade ḡnīpratyayo bhavati/

The affix ṅnī is added to the root MAN- when this latter is used in composition with a word having a case-affix.

II. 3.17 : manyakarmanyanādare /17/padāni/manya karmaṇī anādare vibhāṣā aprāṇīṣu (caturthī)/ vṛttih/ manyakarmaṇī prāṇīvarjite vibhāṣā caturthī vibhaktir bhavati anādare gamyamāne/vārttikam/ yadetadprāṇīṣviti tadanāvādiṣviti vaktavyam/

In denoting an object, which is not animate (a-prāṇīṣu), of the verb MAN- (+ya), the dative case is optionally (vibhāṣā) employed, when contempt (an-ādare) is to be shown.

A dative case (caturthī) is optionally not required with MAN- (+ya) when contempt is not meant and the object of comparison is an animate being.

varṇam : varṇa- s.m. “colour, figure”, Ac.sg., object of brūhi ; Pāṇ. VI. 1.107, see in analysis of the present strophe ; brūhi : coming from the root BRŪ- 2nd cl., a defective form in the non-conjugational tenses, it is replaced by VAC-, “to say, to tell, to speak”, 2nd pers.sg. Imperative tense (loङ्, Parasmai pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.2, 3, 4, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.5; Pāṇ.III. 3.162; III. 4.85; VIII. 1.51, 52, see in adhyāya 17, st.20; the present case is mat- tered with the termination hi, Pāṇ.III. 4.87, 88 :

Rgveda, I. 189.1

tvam : N. sg., used for Kadrū as Vinatā is saying her; tvam can be the subject of brūhi, but in that case a subject is not necessary, the personal flexional ending is clear enough, Grammatically speaking, the form of tvam is correct. About the use of pronoun, the stylistic value has outweighed the grammatical consideration. Through the acute way of goading words, tvam bears an expressive value and with api that comes immediately, insists on evidence of a motive for bringing her (i.e. Kadrū) round to a stake. Moreover, tvam could be understood as tvadīyā, which the sense of conversation has induced one to believe it.

apyasya : api-asya (in pausa), api particle having a cumulative force, “on one's part, in one's turn, moreover, besides, also, in addition”, Pāṇini's sūtra I. 4.96 :

sandhi : the final vowel i of api changes into y before the vowel a of asya, according to saṁprasāraṇa principle.

(see some Pāṇini's sūtras quoted in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.1);

asya : coming from the stem idam-, G.sg.m., “of him”, i.e. his colour ; for idam and its declension, see Pāṇ.I. 1.27; VII. 2.113; VII. 2.108; VII. 2.110; VII. 2.111; about the matter, the sūtras VII. 2.108, 113 are the leading trend of declension of this pronoun; the case of asya must be seen through the sūtra VII. 1.12 :

॥ñasiñasāminatsyah /12/padāni॥ñasi ñasām ina āt syah॥ sandhi : as + a → o+ , Pāṇ.VI. 1.109, see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.12;

atra : ind. coming from the personal base a, (asmin, etasmin vā, idam – etad vā saptamyāḥ, tral prakṛteḥ), “in this place, here”; “just now, in this respect, mater, case”; “so to this”;

vipanāvahe : vi-PAN-ā-vahe, vi-, prefix, PAN-, root, 1st cl., “to bet, to stake”, -a-, thematic vowel (vikarana), Pāṇ.III. 1.68 (see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.14), vahe, personal flexional ending of 1st pers. dual, present tense, Ātmane pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.79, (under analysis of manyase); the vowel a (Śap, vikarana) is lengthened as it is followed by v of vahe, Pāṇ.VI.3.101, see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.18;

vālam : vāla- s.m (another form of bāla- s.m.), “a tail”; Khmer people use generally the word bāl to call or the name any dog as this animal has an upward-curled tail (Khmer species domestic dog); hayam : haya- s.m. “a horse”, Ac.sg., object of manye, Pāṇ.VI. 1.107, see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.3;

enam : coming from the stem enad-, its declension is the same as the stem tad- does; so, enad- has only Ac.(in three numbers), the Instrumental sg. and the dual of Genitive and Locative;

smite : smita- adj. (from the root SMI- 1st cl.), “smiled, smiling”; s.nt. smile, gentle laugh”, L.sg.;

śuci- adj. “shining, gleaming, radiant, bright”, °smite, “with smiling brightly”;

mayā : coming from the stem mad-, I.sg., “by me, with me”;

dāsībhāvāya : from dāsī-bhāva- (from the root BHŪ-), “state, condition, rank, disposition”, °bhāva- s.m. “the condition of a female slave”, Dat.sg., Pāṇ.VII. 3.102, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.5;

ehi : coming from the I- 2nd cl., 2nd pers.sg. Imperative tense (loऽ, Parasmai pada, “come near”; i → e, guna, Pāṇ.I. 1.2; VII. 3.84, see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.4; adhyāya 16, st.5; Pāṇ.III. 3.162; III. 4.85; VIII. 1.51, 52, see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.20;

sārdham : sārdha- adj. “joined with a half, plus one half, increased by one half, having a half over (for example dve śate sārdhe, “two hundred together with a half”, it means then 250; –am “jointly, together, along with, with”;

dīvya : coming from the root DIV- 4th cl., “to play, to gamble” (with, for), 2nd pers.sg.Imperative (lo-), Parasmai pada; the radical vowel i becomes ī, Pāṇ.VIII. 2.77;

hali ca/77/padāni/hali ca/

vṛttih/ hali ca parataḥ rephavakārāntasya dhātor upadhāyā iko dīrgho bhavati/

In case of root ending in r or v the penultimate i or u must be lengthened, before an affix beginning with a consonant.

Of root ending in r or v must be understood in this sūtra, but divyati and caturyati are respectively derived from the nouns div and catur; the r and the v of these have nothing to do here (i.e. divamicchati = divyati, catur icchati = caturyati) ; the term ikah must be considered here, but the case of smaryate and bhavyam must be kept off.

This rule applies to the cases where r or v are in the middle of a word, not at the end of it.

hi, personal flexional ending of Imperative, Parasmai pada is omitted, Pāṇ.VI. 4.105, 106; VII. 1.35, see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.17.

It must be certain that dīvya is really in Imperative conjugation, it can't be an absolutive in -ya-. The absolutive of DIV-i + tvā → dev-i-tvā, (see also the sūtra VII. 2.35; VII. 3.84).

Dīvya is seen in the Rgveda, X. 42.9 :

samaya : sam-ay-a, sam-I sam-e (guna) + a sam-ay-a, (VI. 1.78, see adhyāya 16, st.5), s.m. “occasion, opportunity; fit time, a contract, a convention”; “a condition, stipulation”;

pratyayayoh/*

*vṛttih/ ādeśo yaḥ sakāraḥ pratyayasya ca yaḥ sakāra

The case of cerebral must be understood here from the sūtra VIII. 3.55, as well as the dental sibilant s. In the sūtra pratyayayoh is in the Genitive case and that latter has its force ; there is no denying it. That is inteded that s which is an ādeśa, and that s belongs to an affix. In the spirit and its operational effect, one can have two views, i.e. 1) samānādhikaramṣasःḥī, 2º) avayava-yogāṣṭaḥī. Again, that s is directly connected with the Genetive. Consequently, when considering the 2nd case (avayavaº-), the sūtra may mean that VIII. 1.1, the question whether to choose a substituted element or a portion of a substitute is being decided. In case of a portion of a substitute, it is worth changing the s, as s → ṣ.

Should the translation be of that s which is a substitute or an affix, one reaches an irregular way, i.e. karisyati, harisyati instead of kariṣyati, hariṣyati. The sūtra VIII. 3.59 has its reason in the force of Genitive pratyayayoh reinforced by the conditions already engaged by the sūtra VIII. 3.57, 58. Moreover, the situation of making an alternation is related to the sūtra I. 1.66, one of paribhāṣa-rules, and also the sūtra I. 1.67. Anyhow, the sūtra VIII. 3.59 is still an interesting pattern of Pāṇini's system. Fortunately, the coming sūtra VIII. 3.60 brings in the proper interpretation by determining the exact character of a vowel preceding the sibilant s of the purpose.

N.B. The sūtra VIII. 3.59 is seen in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.3.

About Dṛś- → DRA + ks-, r → ra, there is Pāṇini's sūtra VI. 1.58 :

root SRJ- 6th cl., “to create, to project”; root DRŚ- 1st cl. “to see”;

am means the vowel a ;

jhal —— all non-nasal consonants ;

the vowel a comes after the radical vowel r of the verbs SRJ- and DRŚ- with the affixes beginning with jhal, excluding those marked by indicatory k (a-k-it-i).

SRJ- + tumun → sṛ-a-j + tum → sr-a-ṣ-tum → sra-ṣ-um; but

* DRŚ- + kta → dr-ṣ-ta → dr-ṣ-ta → drṣ-ta ;

In the two cases, the sūtra VIII. 2.36 is needful as there is substituted ṣ before jhal (with ch and ś of course). Draksyā-vas of our purpose can be scanned as

dr-a-ṣ + syā-vas, and according to the sandhi of ṣ + s à ks (already spoken about), we obtain dra-ks-yā-vas à draksyā-vas ;

* sya and its nature is said in Pāṇini's sūtra I. 3.92 (vrdbhyah syasanoh), see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.8; the vowel a of sya must be lengthened as it is followed by v of vas, Pāṇ.VII. 3.101 (ato dīrgho yañi), see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.8;

* vas → va, there is a sandhi : the final dental sibilant s of vas is elided before the vowel i of iti, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.17, see tataḥ : tatas (in pausa) = tasmāt, “from that, afterward, thereupon, consequently”, Pāṇ.V. 3.7, pañcamyāstasil ; VI. 3.35, tasilādiśvākṛtvasucaḥ, see both of them in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.14; the good example of tataḥ is seen in Manusmṛti, (...)saṃniyamya tu tānyeva tataḥ siddhim niyacchati /II.93/

“(the knowledge of the self) is the first of all forms of learning because through it immortality is achieved.”

putra- s.m. “a son, a male child”; about the spelling of putra, an idea could be brought from a strophe of Manusmṛti :

Pumṇāmno narakād yasmāt trāyate pitaram sutah tasmāt putra iti proktah svayam eva svayaṁbhuvā / 138/Chap.IX

“Because the male child saves his father from the hell called put, therefore he was called a son (putra) by the Self-existent on himself.”

When considering the sense of this strophe, putra should be written strictly as puttra, Even Pāṇini had written putra in the sūtra I. 2.68, bhrātṛputtrau svasṛduhitṛbhyaṁ.

sahasram : sahasra- s.nt. (samānam hasati has r, in Tārānātha's Vachaspatyam), “a thousand”, Ac.sg.,

kadrūr : kadrūs (in pausa), Kadrū- proper name of one of Kasyapa's wife and the mother of snakes, N.sg., subject of ājñāpayāmāsa ; sandhi : the final dentas sibilant s changes into r before the sonant j of jihmam, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.15; VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.15;

jihmam : jihma- adj. (jahati saralamārga ; *hā-*man sanvat ālopaś ca, Un.I. 138), “crooked, totous, curved, going irregularly”; “morally crooked, deceitful, dishonest, wicked, unfair”; “dim, dark”; cikīṛṣatī : it is really cikīṛṣati according to the edition of B.O.R.I., Poona; it is, of course, not the 3rd pers.sg. of desiderative (San) of the root KR- 8th cl. (or 2nd cl.); cikīṛṣatī may be considered as present participle of desiderative of the root KR-.

Cikīṛṣatī is related to Kadrūr; it may come from the stem cikīṛṣant -/-at- cikīṛṣatī, stem of f.

My present analysis shows interest in the form ci-kīr- ṣ-a-t which is a part of cikīṛṣatī.

It can be set as : KR- + San + śap + a + t = ci-KR- sa-a-t (VII. 4.60, 62, 66, 79), = ci-KR-sa-a-t (VI. 4.16) = ci-kīr-sa-a-t (VII. 1.100)

= ci-kīr-sa-a-t (VIII. 2.76 (also 77)

= ci-kīr-ṣa-a-t (VI. 1.97; VIII. 3.59)

Two sūtras take the 1st importance, i.e. III. 1.7; III. 1.32.

III. 1.7 : dhātoḥ karmaṇoḥ samānakarṭkādicchāyāṁ vā/

There is substituted a palatal in case of the guttural and ha.

ar is substituted for r or ṛ of the reduplication ; ar (I. 1.51, r → ar, guṇa); the final r of ar is elided by the sūtra VII.4.60.

In the case of intensive and those of the same kind (i.e. the reduplicative is in need, including connection with the sūtra VII. 4.90); one may remind the following maxim saying : abhyāsavikāreṣu apavādo notsargān vidhīn vādhate.

VII. 4.79 : sanyataly/79/padāni/sani atah/

vṛttih/ sani parato'kārāntābhyaśasyekārādeśo bhavati/

N.B. Some publications show paratokārāntā°, which can be a misprint; this case may be believed to be paratas akārāntā° (in pausa).

In desiderative, the final short a of the reduplication is substituted by the vowel i.

papāca (li-) → pipakṣati (San), pa → pi.

the case occurred only with the short a, even pāpācīṣate, desiderative of intensive, the long ā is maintained.

CI + San + Šap + tip (VI. 1.9) = ci-či-s-a-ti (VI. 1.97 ; VIII. 3.57); i → ī, u → ū in case of r or v of a root can stand at the end of a pada.

The penultimate vowel i or u belongs to a root ending in r or v, is lengthened, before a consonantal beginning affix.

The case of r or v being in the middle of a pada or word follow the effect of this sūtra ; this rule extends to cases which are not final in a pada.

VI. 1.97 : ato guṇe/97/padāni/ataḥ guṇe/

When the short vowel a not being final in a pada, is followed by a guṇa vowel (= a, e, o), it results as the guṇa vowel which, being subsequent with regard to the precedent short vowel a, is maintained.

añjana : s.nt. (ajyate anenaa ; amj – lyu-), “anointing, smearing with; mixing, unfolding; black pigment used to paint the eye-lashes”; “paint, a cosmetic ointment”; “magic ointment”; “antimony”; the word añjana is seen in Manusmṛti, Chap.IV, st.152:

maitram prasādhanam snānam dantadhāvanamañjanam pūrvāhṇa eva kurvīta devatānām ca pūjanam/152/

“Early in the morning only let him void faeces, decorate (his body), bathe, clean his teeth, apply collyrium to his eyes, and worship the gods.”

Translated into in English by G.Buhler,

The Laws of Manu, Vol.25,

Sacred Books of the East, p.152–153, India.

Añjana can be considered as “a collyrium” as we see it the Vālmīki’s Rāmāyaṇa, Kiṣkindhākāṇḍa, sarga 37 :

Añjanambudasaṅkāśāḥ kuñjarrendramahaujasāḥ añjane parvate caive ye vasanti plavamgamāḥ/5/

“And those monkeys who are black like the collyrium and the cloud and very mighty like the king of the elephants stay on the mountain Añjana.”

Besides, Añjana is a proper name of a mountain.

About the word añjana, we can see it the Pāli text, i.e. the Lakkhaṇasutta of the Dīghanikāya, dealing with the 32 marks of the Great Being or Mahāpurisa destined to be the Universal King (rājā cakkavatti, litt. “the King who makes the wheel of Law rotate” or the Perfect Buddha

uddhaggalomo hoti uddhaggāni lomāni jatāni nilāni añjanavāññāni kuñdalavattāni padakkhiñavattakajātāni ...

Loma means of course the hair on the body and the one on the head of person. The Great Being's hairs stand on end, they shoot with black colour of the special collyrium (añjana) and form the curls revoved to the right-hand side. This is the essential sense of the passage above quoted.

I may bring in what the so-called collyrium was well-known in Cambodian culture. Añjan', that is what everybody calls it until nowadays. Firstly, the añjan' is the creeper having two species: a)the one with the white flowers, b) the other with the blues flowers ; the hybrid species is seldom recorded. The creeper añjan' must be known by the botanist as Clitoria ternatea. Secondly, the añjan' being the collyrium is the matter obtained with the sap of the blue flowers of this creeper. The petals of these blue flowers are bruised. It results from this that the blue ground matter gives rise. This last matter is mixed with the sap obtained by grinding the seed of the Peñ-tree (Pahudia cochinchinensis) against the most potsherd or the piece of stone having made for the purpose (thma tus). A small quantity of salt is added to the blue mixture. The latter is used to smear the eyebrows of the women. On using the collyrium it must get them to be shaved. The shaggy eyebrows are not fit to the añjan'. With the matter, the line of the bow is designed on the shaved place. The drawing is held at the ritual ceremony. In the past, the damsels being the close entourage of a King used this kind of collyrium made from the añjan'. These damsels are called sri sringār (a), (sk. śrī śṛigāra). Till later in the period of Phnom Penh, the ballet-dancers of the Royal Palace and actors and actresses of Khmer popular theatre made up their eyebrows with this collyrium.

bhujaṁgamān : from the stem bhuja-gama- s.m. “a snake”, Ac.pl., Pāṇ.VI. 1.102, 103, see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.9; sometimes we met the form bhuja-ga; ga or gama, these two come from the root GAM-. They can be analysed as :

1º) bhuj bhakṣaṇe ka, bhujah ku-ilībhavan san gacchati gam ḍa, 2º) bhujah san gacchati gam khac mum ḍicca;

By considering the syllable ga at the end of compound, it can be understood as “one who moves or goes on the breast”;

Khmer language uses the word bhujaṅga by spelling like bhujaṅga (the case of an anusvara which is replaced by ṇ can be supposed to follow the Pāṇini's sūtra VIII. 4.59 : vā padāntasya); this word bhujaṅga generally combined with s-ec and nāga, i.e. s-ec bhujaṅg(a) nāg(a), means the King Bhujaṅga, ruler of the Nāga. In prosody, a Khmer mevre is well-known as pad bhujāṅ(a) līlā.

tāñ śāśāpa : tāñ śāśāpa (in pausa), tāñ, from the stem tad– Ac.pl.m., related to bhujam̄gamāñ ;

śāśāpa : coming from the root ŠAP– 1st cl. (or 4th cl.), “to curse”, 3rd pers.sg. of Perfect (Li-), Parasmai pada, śa, reduplication (abhyāsa), Pāṇ.VI. 1.1, 8, 10; VII.

sandhi : the ensemble tāñ śāśāpa, in regular way, must be written down like it may be cleared up by three Pāṇini's

VIII. 4.63 : śāśchoti, see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.7 ;

The augment tuK is added to the end of the preceding word. At the first time the nasal n holds the final position, but it does not become a cerebral nasal.

-a- (= Śap), thematic vowel of conjugation (vikaraṇa), Pāṇ.III. 1.68, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.14;

The root EJ- can be understood through Pāṇini's sūtra III. 2.28 :

ejeḥ khaś/28/padāni/ejeḥ khaś (karmaṇi)/ vṛttih/ eja kampane ityasmād nyantāt karma eyupapade khaś pratyayo bhavati/vārttikam/ khaś pratyaye vātaśunī tilaśarddhe'vajadhe□ tudajahātīnam upasaṅkhyānam/ janamejaya can be rendered as “causing men to tremble”; it is the proper name of a celebrated King to whom Vaiśampāyana recited the Mahābhārata at the session of the sacrifice of serpents. This King was the great grandson to Arjuna; he was the son and successor to King Parikshit who was the son of Arjuna's son Abhimanyu.

We are in front of the kṛt affix khaś as being shown by the sūtra III. 2.28. The letters kh and ś are indicatory, the real affix is a. The letter kh indicates an increment muM (m) to nominal stem ending in a vowel (Pāṇ. VI. 3.67). The letter ś indicates that this is a sārvadhātuka affix (Pāṇ. III. 4.113) and it is employed here with the vikarāṇa (Śap). Then, we have :

* aṅga-am + EJ- + Nic + Śap + tiP *aṅga-m + EJ-e-a + khaś e → ay, Pāṇ. VI. 1.78, see adhyāya 16, st.5; *aṅga-m + EJ-ay-a + a *aṅga-m + EJ-ay-a + a (Pāṇ. VI. 1.97) = aṅgam-ejaya.

Hence, jana-m-ej-ay-a follows the same steps with the same elements as well.

rājarṣeh : rāja- + ṣeḥ, (rājan → rāja in compound); sandhi : a + ṣ= ar, Pāṇ. VI. 1.87, see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.11; rājarṣeh is used instead of rājarṣinā as the Genitive takes the function of the Instrumental ; it may be understood as “(performed) by the royal ascetic”.

pāñdaveyasya : pāñdaveya—adj. “son or descendant of Pañdu or the partisans of the Pāñdavas”, G.sg.m., related to dhīmataḥ and janam-ejayasya as well.

dhīmataḥ : dhīmat-as (in pausa), dhīmat-/–ant–, adj. “wise, intelligent, learned”, G.sg.m., related to janamejayasya. For declension, Pāñ.VI. 4.14; VII. 1.70; VIII. 3.30; VIII. 2.23; VI. 1.68, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.6.

The pāda c of the 2nd line of the strophe has 9 syllables, and the 5th is a long one. That is not correct with regard to the fundamental principle of anusūlbh. I will try to find out an acceptable reading. There are some possibilities as following :

1) janamejayena rājarseh pāñdaveyena dhīmatā, the pāda c has 9 syllables ;

2) janamejaya rājarseh pāñ daveyasya dhīmataḥ, it has 8 syllables in the pāda c, but it is incompatible with pāñdaveyasya ;

3) janamejaya-rājarseh pāñdaveya-dhīmato vai ; when considering the two compounds, we have dhīmato vai, which is wrong as dhī (5th, long one), ma(6th, short one), to (7th, long one), and at last, we may add vai for having 8 syllables in the last pāda. The result of the ensemble is not fit to be considered. By way of having 8 syllables, giving a garbled version of the compounds and taking aim with particle are unfitted for the right reading.

4) sarpasattriṇi rājarseh pāñṣaveyasya dhīmataḥ :

sarpasattrin is another name of the King Janamejaya; by considering the Loc.sg. °sat̄riṇi, the pāda c is then correct. This is still a possibility. By using °sat̄rin and referring to the genitive case (with janamejayasya), we have to admit °sat̄riṇo (G.sg.), and ṇo, the 5th syllable, is a long one! The rule of anusūlbh asserts that the 5th syllable of each pāda must be a short one.

This 4th possibility shows the word sarpa being at the beginning of the 2nd line. So doing, I follow the 1st word of the 1st line.

sarpasattriṇi rājarṣeḥ (...) 2nd line.

atikrūram : atikrūra- adj. very cruel, Ac.sg.m., related to śapam; ati (at – i), prefix used with adjectives and adverbs (and also with noun), very, too, exceedingly; beyond, past, surpassing, superior to;

samuddisऽम् : sam-ud-dis-am, sam-ut- DIŚ- + kta → sam-ut- DIŚ- + ta, sam- ind. Prefix to verbs and verbal derivatives, it means with, together with; sometimes, it intensifies the meaning of simple or verbal derivatives, it can be rendered as very, quite, greatly, throughly, fully;

ut : ind. particle expressing 1) doubt, 2) interrogation, 3) deliberation, 4) intensity; ut of sam-ut- DIŚ- is related to the 4) case.

Sandhi : the final voiceless dental t of ut changes into d before the sonant d of the root DIŚ-, Pāṇ.II. 1.38; II. 1.39. VI. 3.2, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.6;

Moreover, we have samud- adj. meaning, ascending, rising; dis-am : dis-a-, from the root DIŚ- + ta; the sibilant palatal s of DIŚ- changes into a cerebral one, Pāṇ.VIII. 2.36, (see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.5); the voiceless dental t of ta (kta) becomes a cerebral one as it is contact with a cerebral sibilant, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.41 :

Tigma : adj., (tij mak jasya gaḥ), sharp, pointed (as a weapon); violent, hot, scorching, pungent; tigma-vīrya- adj. violent in Atharvaveda, kāṇḍa IV, hymn 27, we read : tigmamanīkam viditam sahasvan mārutam śardhaḥ prtanāsūgram/st.7, (1st line);

vīrya- s.nt. (vīr yat vīrasya bhāvo vā), heroism, prowess, valour; vigour, strength, virility, energy, firmness, courage, power; splendour, lustre;

viṣā : viṣās (in pausa), viṣa- s.nt. (viṣ ka), poison, venom, sandhi : the final dental s of the group -ās must be dropped down before the sonant h of hyete, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.19; VIII. 3.22, see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.18;

Hyete : hi – ete (in pausa), hi : particle, for, because, on account of. Pāṇ.VIII. 1.34, 35, see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.1; ete, from the stem etad-, N.m.pl., related to dandaśukā; sandhi : the vowel i of hi changes into y before the vowel e of ete, according to samprasāraṇa principle, Pāṇ.I. 1.45; VI. 4.131; VI. 1.77; VI. 1.27, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.3;

dandaśukā : dandaśukās (in pausa), (DAMŚ-yañ ūk), s.m. a reptile (in general), N.pl., sandhi : the final dental sibilant s of the group -ās must be dropped down before the nasal m of mahāo, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.19; VIII. 3.22, see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.18;

mahābalāḥ : very strong, adj. N.pl.m., related to dandaśukā, mahā is the substitute of mahāt- at the beginning of Karmadhāraya and Bbahuvrīhi compounds and also at some compounds obtained by irregular way;

Pāṇ.VIII. 3.16; VIII. 3.41; VIII. 3.59; VIII. 3.65; VIII. 3.70, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.3;

tesāṁ: from the stem tad -, G.pl.m. nt., sandhi : the dental sibilant s → ś (a cerebral one), Pāṇ. VII. 3.16 ; VIII

3.41 ; VIII 3.59 ; VIII 3.65 ; VIII 3.70, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.3 ;

Tīkṣṇa : adj. (TIJ– vasna), sharp (in all senses), pungent, hot, fiery, hard, strong, rude, rough, severe, strict, the idea can be seen through the Pāṇini's sūtra V. 2.76 dealing with the function of the affixes ḥak and ḥañ used with the taddhita. In Manusmṛti, chapter VII. one sees the strophe :

tīkṣṇaś caiva mṛduś ca syāt kāryam vīksya mahīpatih tīkṣṇaś caiva mṛduś caiva rājā bhavati sammataḥ/140/

Vidyāṁ : vidyā- s.f. science, knowledge, learning, Ac.sg., object of prādād;

Hanīṁ : hani- adj. (or also hana-), coming from the root HAN-, used generally at the end of compound, killing, Ac.sg.f., related to vidyāṁ; the word hana (s.m. or f.), weapon may have nothing to do with this very present purpose; viśahanīṁ vidyāṁ can be rendered as the science of killing by poison ; sandhi: dental nasal n→ ɳ ; kāśyapāya mahātmane : kāśyapāya, D.sg. of kāśyapa, a descendant of the Sage kāśyapa, for dative case see Pāṇ.VII. 3.102; VII. 1.13, already quoted above; Kaśyapa, proper name of an ancient sage, son of Marīci and author of several hymns of the Rgveda. He was the husband of Aditi. Kadrū, the mother of the snakes of the present narrative knot, was also his wife; by Vinatā, his another wife, he was the father of Garuḍa and Aruṇa. Marīci, the Kaśyapa's father was regarded as a son of Svayambhū, as a son of Brahmā, as a son of Hairanyagarbha. Kaśyapa was one of the seven great Ṛṣi and priest of Paraśurāma and Rāma-candra. Sometimes, he was called Prajāpati. Kaśyapa was the son-in-law of Dakṣa who had many daughters. In Manusmṛti, chapter IX :

dadau sa daśa dharmāya kaśyapāya trayodaśa somāya rājñe satkrtya prītātmā saptavimśatim/129/

*The story of Dakṣa's daughters is told in Mahābhārata, I, 70;
XII. 329.57.*

Mathātmane : māha – ātman-e, D.sg., related to kāśyapāya, the group kāśyapāya till the end of the last pāda of the strophe may be considered as a predicative complement of the verb prādād; prādād : prādāt (in pausa), sandhi : the final voiceless dental t changes into d before the sonant v of viṣahanīm, Pāṇ.II. 1.38, 39; VI. 3.2, see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.6; pra : ind. prefix; with a verb it means forward, forth, in front, onward, away; with adj. it means very, very much, in high rate; pra is also used in Khmer language, its meaning follows sanskrit spirit ;

Pāṇini's two sūtras may be shown, i.e. Pāṇ.III. 1.43, 44;

III. 1.43 : cli luñi/43/padāni/cli luñi (dhātoḥ pratyayah)/vṛttih/ dhātoḥ pratyayo bhavati luñi parataḥ/

Some scholars consider cli as the term pointing out all of aorist types, others see cli a particular way to call the radical type (1st type). The vowel i of cli determines the pronunciation, the palatal c is for accentuation (Pāṇ.VI. 1.162) and in the same time this c indicates that an udātta is at the end.

III. 1.44 : cleḥ sic/44/padāni/ceḥ sic/vṛttih/ cleḥ sijādeśo bhavati/vārttikam/sprśamṛṣakṛṣatṛpadṛpāṁ sijvā vaktavyah/

Sic replaces cli; the vowel i of sic is used for pronunciation, the voiceless c for accentuation, the letter s showing a type of aorist conjugation.

The radical aorist is used with some roots ending with a long ā; there is a Pāṇini's sūtra for this case, Pāṇ.II. 4.77 :

gatisthāghupābhūbhyaḥ sicaḥ parasmaipadeśu/77/padāni/gati sthā ghu pā bhū bhyaḥ sicaḥ parasmaipadeśu (lug)/ vṛttiḥ/ gatisthā ghu pā bhū ityetebhyaḥ parasya sico lug bhavati paramaipadeśu parataḥ/

Ghu is a group of roots stated by the Pāṇini's following sūtra I. 1.20 :

dādhāghvadāp/20/padāni/dā dhā ghu adāp/vṛttiḥ/ dārūpāś catvāro dhātavo dhārūpau ca dvau dābdaipau varjayitvā ghu saṃjñakā bhavanti/

The Guru verbs are DUDĀÑ- (3 rd cl.), DUDHĀÑ- (3 rd cl.), DO- (4th cl., avakhaṇḍane), DAN- (1st cl.), DEN- (1st cl.) and DHET- (1st cl.);

sandhi : pra + a (augment) pra, a + a → ā, Pāṇ.VI. 1.101, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.6; –t, pers. flexional ending of 3 rd pers.sg. Parasmaipada, Pāṇ.III. 4.100, itaś ca (nītaḥ nityam lopah lasya), see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.4; practically speaking, it means ti → t; si → s, (see also Pāṇ.III. 4.99; III.4.101);

There is the sūtra VI. 1.96 dealing with DĀ- + luṇ :

Usyapadānāt/96/padāni/usi apadāntāt/vṛttiḥ/ ādityeva/avarṇādapadāntādasi pūrvaparayogarād□ guṇapavadaḥ pararūpamekādeśo bhavati/

According to this sūtra, the radical vowel ā is maintained, except the 1st person pl. Parasmaipada; this 1st person has uh (or us, ur) as its personal ending; it can be written as following : DĀ + luṇ = a + DĀ- (cli → sic → 0 + uh (or us) (III. 4.108) = a-d-u-h.

Uvāca : coming from the root VAC– 2nd cl. ; u, (reduplication, abhyāsa), Pāṇ.VI. 1.1, see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.2; u–vāc–, strong stem of the root VAC–, in Perfect tense (lit), Pāṇ.I. 1.45, samprasāraṇa principle, VI.

1.15; VI. 1.108 ; VI ; VI ; VI. 1.77. VI. 1.93, see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.1 ;

The interconsonantic vowel a becomes a long one, Pāṇ. VII. 2.116, ata upadhāyāḥ / see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.7, a pers.flexional ending of perfect tense, Parasmai pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.82, parasmaipadānāṁ ḥalatususthalathusa / ḥalavamāḥ /, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.8, (see also Pāṇ.VII. 1.91; VI. 1.8; VII. 4.60);

Tato : tatas (in pausa) = tasmāt, hence, therefore, there-upon, thereafter, Pāṇ.V. 3.7 : pañcamyāstasil /, Pāṇ.VI. 3.35 : tasilādiśvākṛtvasucaḥ /, see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.14; sandhi : the group –as changes into o before the sonant r of rajanyām, Pāṇ.VI. 1.113 : ato roraplutādaplute /; Pāṇ. 1.114 : haśi ca /, see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.17;

Vyus / dyām : vyuṣ-ā, vyuṣ-ā-, past partic., burnt, hassed, dawned, become day-light, become bright or clear, L.sg., related to rajanyām;

Udite : coming from ud-I-, 2nd cl., to rise (as star), to come up, to be seen, to appear, to arise from, to spring, to proceed from, to start up, 3rd pers.sg., present tense, Ātmane pada, the final vowel e is substituted for a (of ta), Pāṇ. III. 4.79 : -ita ātmanepadānāṁ / dre /, see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.3;

Prabhāta : prabhāte (in pausa), sandhi : the final e changes into a before any vowel, except the short a; in this case the hiatus is maintained, Pāṇ.VI. 1.109 : eṇah padāntādati /, (see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.12);

prabhāta- s.nt. day-break, dawn ; prabhāte; L.sg. ; (...) cintayato'ksṇoḥ prabhātam āśit/Śākuntala, Act.II;

Ravau : ravi- s.m. the Sun, L.sg. ;

The 1st line shows an expressing way made in absolute locative : hence, when the day-break proceeds from the Sun, the night becomes clear;

Kadruś ca : kadrus (in pausa), Kadru–, proper name of Prajāpati's daughter and Kaśyapa's wife; she is the snakes' mother; sandhi : the final dental sibilant s changes into a palatal one as it is followed by the voiceless c of ca, Pāṇ. VIII.3.35 : śarpare visarjanīyah/

Pāṇ. VIII. 4.40 : stoḥ ścunā ścuḥ, (see in analysis of adhyāya 15, st.12);

Vinatā : proper name of Prajapati's daughter and Kaśyapa's wife; she gives birth to Aruṇa and Garuḍa ; N.sg.f.;

Caiva : ca + eva, sandhi : a + e → ai, Pāṇ. VI. 1.88: vṛddhireci/ (see in analysis of adhyāya 15, st.3) ;

Eva: ind. just, quite, just so, quite so, Pāṇ. VIII. 1.62 : cāhalopa evetyavadhāraṇam/ (see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.3); Pāṇ.V. 3.15 : sarvakānyakimyattadah kāle dā/"(see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.9);* turagam : (tureṇa gacchati, GAM- da), a horse; (root TUR-6th cl., to hurry, to hasten, to overcome; ved. tura- advancing, speedy, quick; jagmatus : ja-gm-atus, dual 3rd pers. of Perfect, Parasmai pada, coming from the root GAM-, ja, reduplication (abhyāsa), Pāṇ.VI. 1.1; VI. 1.4; (see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.2); the sonant g of GAM- changes into j, Pāṇ.III. 2.178 : anyebhyo'drśyate/ ( see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.5 as five vārttikam are associated with this sūtra); the radical vowel a of GAM- os dropped down, Pāṇ.VI. 4.98 : gamahanajanakhanaghasām lopah knityanani/ (see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.22); -atus, pers. flexional ending of dual 3rd pers., Pāṇ.III. 4.82 : parasmaipadānām nalatususthala□ thusaṇalvamāh/ (see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.2); sandhi : the final dental sibilant s is maintained as it is followed by the voiceless dental of turagam, Pan.VIII. 2.66 : sasajuṣo ruḥ/ (see these three sūtra in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.17);

Antikāt : antika– adj., (antaḥ sāmipyam asyasūti matvarthīyah □han); (ā-nī; amtikam kasmāt ānītam bhavati sannikṛṣṭtvāt), near, closely, within the presence of, from the proximity of, from near;

In chapter XIII of the Bhagavadgītā, we read :

Sūkṣmatvāt tad avijñeyam dūrastham cāntike ca tat/
15/ (2nd line)

In chapter IX of Manusmṛti, we have :

Kriṇīyād yas tvapatyārthaṁ mātāpitror yam antikāt/ 174/ (1st line);

uccaiḥśrava : uccaiḥśravas (in pause), the final dental sibilant s is dropped down in compound, proper name of a famous horse born at the churning of the ocean, (see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.2); draś्वim : infinitive of the root DRŚ-, the radical vowel r changes into ra, this phenomena is stated by Pāṇini's sūtra VI. 1.58 : srjīdrśor jhalyamakīti/, (see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.5). The palatal sibilant s is replaced by a cerebral one, and this is explained by a Pāṇini's sūtra.

cacchandasī/ (see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.6);

Samudram : samudra– s.m. the sea, ocean; Khmer language uses the same word for the sea;

nidhim : nidhi– s.m. abode, reservoir, receptacle, a store house; the ocean; ("ni–dhā adhāre ki); Ac.sg. ; ambhasām : ambhas– s.nt. water, G.pl. ;

makarair : makara(s) (in pausa), makara– s.m. a kind of sea-animal, a crocodile; an emblem of Cupid; the sign Capricornus (of Zodiac); the ocean; Khmer language uses the same word through the form mkar by dropping down the vowel a of the 1st syllable ma; this mkar is still seen on many lintels of Khmer art well-known as Sampūr style (7th century A.D., pre-angkorian period); sandhi : the final dental sibilant s changes into r before the vowel ā of āvṛtam, Pāṇ. VIII. 3.15, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.1; Pāṇ.VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.5, and also in analysis of the present adhyāya, st.2; āvṛtam : ā–vrta–, covered, screened, surrounded, enclosed, spread, overspread, Ac.sg., related to samudram; timimgila– s.m. a kind of fish which swallows a timi; a very large fish ; jhaṣa– s.m. a fish in general, a large fish;

akīrṇam : akīrṇa–, past participle, scattered or spread over, filled or overspread with, crowded, full of aboundingg in, Ac.sg., related to samudram; dadrśāte " da–DRŚ–āte; coming from the root DRŚ–. da. reduplication (abhyāsa), drś– root (it is a weak stem of conjugation), –āte, personal flexional ending of 3rd pers.dual, Perfect tense, Ātmane pada; for abhyāsa, see Pāṇini's sūtra in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.2; for personal flexional ending of Ātmane pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.79 : इता ात्मने पदानाम् इरे /, see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.3. The weak stem of the prsent case of Ātmane pada (i.e. da–drś–āte, da–drś–e) has a reduplication, the radical vowel being maintained as the root shows a vowel immediately followed by a simple consonant (the same way proceeds with the vowel i and u, bi-bhid-āte, bi-bhid-e, even in Parasmai pada the radical vowel u is maintained in case of the weak stem of conjugation, i.e. pu-puṣ-atur, pu-puṣ-a, pu-puṣ-ur).

sattavaiś : sattavais (in pausa), sattva- s.m., living or sentient being, animal, beast; thing; nature, essence, life, vitality; I.pl.; sandhi : the final dental sibilant s changes into ś before the voiceless palatal c of ca, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.35 : śarpare visarjanīyah/; Pāṇ.VIII. 4.40 : stoḥ ścunā ścuḥ/, (see these two sūtras in analysis of adhyāya 15, st.12); bahu : adj. much, plentiful, abundant, great, very much, exceedingly, greatly;

sāhasrair : sāhasrais (in pausa) sāhasra- (sāhasra aṇ), relating to a thousand, consisting of a thousand, bought with a thousand, sandhi : the final dental sibilant s changes into r before the sonant n of nānārūpaiḥ, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.15 : kharavasānayor visarjanīyah/ (see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.15);

nānā : ind. in different places, in different ways, manifoldly, variously, various; Pāṇ.V. 2.27 : vinañbhyāṁ nānāñau nasaha/27/padāni/vi nañ bhyāṁ nā nāñau nasaha/ (see in analysis of adhyāya 15, st.8, along with the strophe 247 of Amarakoṣa, 2nd edition of Varanasi, 1987, p.441);

rūpaiḥ : I.pl. of rūpa-, rūpais(in pausa), sandhi : the visarga is said in some Pāṇini's sūtras : Pāṇ.VIII. 3.35; Pāṇ.VIII. 3.15, (see these two sūtra above-mentioned);

Pāṇ.VIII. 3.34 : visarjanīyasya saḥ/Pāṇ.VIII. 3.36 : vā śari/ (see these two sūtras in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.5);

Samāvṛtam : sam-ā-vṛ-ta-m, past participle of sam-ā-VR-, 5th cl., encompassed, enclosed, covered all over or completely, hidden, Ac.sg. m., related to samudram of stance 4), the suffix kta(= ta) is stated by Pāṇini's sūtra :

Pāṇ.III.4.70 : tayoreva kṛtyaktakhalarthāḥ/70/padāni/
taylor eve kṛtya kta khalarthāḥ/

vṛttih/ tayoreva bhāvakarmaṇoh kṛtyasañjñakāḥ ktakhalārthaś ca pratyayā bhavanti/ bhāva : an impersonal act, karma object; khal (Pāṇ.III. 3.126) may denote the object and the Impersonal act.

Pāṇ.III. 4.71 : ādikarmaṇi ktaḥ kartari ca/71/padāni/ādi karmani kataḥ ktaḥ kartari ca (bhāve, karmaṇi)/

śliṣṭādibhyaś ca yaḥ ktaḥ sa kartari bhavati cakārādabhyāprāptam ca bhāvakarmaṇoh/

The affix kta denotes the agent as well as the act and the object, in case of the verbs implying motion (after transitive roots) as śliṣṭ, sī, sthā, ās, vas, jan, ruh, jṛ

The word ca may mean the act and the object and this sense must be understood in the sūtra.

nityamanādhṛṣyam : nityam-an-ādhṛṣyam, nitya : adj. (nityamena nityam vā bhavam ni-tyap), continual, perpetual, constant, ever lasting, eternal, uninterrupted; the suffix tya (= tyap) is stated by

In Rgveda, VII, 86, 2:

uta svayā tanvā sam vade tat kadā nvantar varuṇe bhuvāni/(...) “And I converse thus with myself : ‘when, pray, shall be in communion with Varuṇa?’

In Khmer of common speech, Varuṇa means “rain, god of rain” (brah varuṇi); ākaram : ākara- s.m. “a mine, source” (syn. utpatitthāna); “plenty, multitude”; in actual Khmer language, ākar means “tax, duty, fine”, it is generally used with bandh ākar; In Rgveda III. 51.3 :

ākare vasor jaritā panasyate anehasaḥ snubha iṁdro duvasyati/(...)

In Hitopadeśa, prastāvikā :

asmimmastu nirguṇam gotre nāpatyam upajāyate/ *ākare padmarāgāṇām janma kācamaṇeh kutah/*44/

“In this (royal) family a child devoid of merits cannot be born; whence can a piece of glass be produced in a mine of rubies?”

ramya : adj. (ramayate'tra yat), “pleasant, pleasing, delightful, agreeable”; “beautiful, lovely”; Khmer language uses this word in compound like samaramy(a), abhiramy(a), bhiramy(a) (in title or proper name), goramy(a); uttamam : uttama < ut-tama, ut-tamp, “best, excellent, foremost, uppermost, highest, chief, principal”, tama is known as GHA, Pāṇ.I. 1.22 : taraptamapau ghah/ (see also VI. 3.43); Pāṇ.VIII. 2.17 : nād ghasya/; Pāṇ.V. 3.55 : atiśayane tamabiṣ-hanau/(see these sūtras in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.10); sandhi : the sonant d of ud changes into t before the voiceless dental initial t of tama, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.55 : khari ca/(see in analysis of adhyāya 15, st.13);

nāgānām : nāga-, “a fabulous serpent–demon living at the pātāla”, G.pl. ; for the case of ānām, see under ratnānām ;

saritām : sarit- s.f. (sṛ iti), “a river”; sarit is also seen in compound as sarit-nātha, sarit-parti, “the ocean”; patim : pati- s.m. “lord, chief, venerable person”; Khmer language uses the same word in the form as following pati > p-a-ti>p-a-ti>>pti>>ptī, “a husband”. The real form pati or patī is also used.

Pātāla : s.nt. (patatyasminnadharmena pat-ālañ); “the last of seven regions or worlds unde the earth, it is the abode of the Nāgas”; the seven regions are : atala, vitala, sutala, rasātala, talātala, māhatala and pātāla; “the lower regions or world in general”; “submarine fire”;

Jvalana– adj. (JVAL– yuc), “flaming, shining, combustible”;

Āvāsam : āvāsa– s.nt. “a house, habitation, abode”; “apartment, room”; “a place”; Khmer language uses āvāsa in the same sense as Sanskrit does, it frequently means “Buddhist monastery”;

Asurāñām : a-sura– (asu-ra, Un.I.42); asuratāḥ sthānesu na suṣṭ̄u ratāḥ sthānesu capalā iyarthāḥ; astāḥ pracyasitā devaiḥ sthānebhyah; asu; āsuḥ prāṇāḥ tena tad vamto bhavanti ro matvarthe ; sondeyānamṛjatam tatsurāñām suratvam asoh asurāñāmṛjata tad surāñāmasuratvam ; soḥ = praśastādātmanāḥ pradesāt/, “demon, evil spirit”;

Sandhi : the thematic vowel a changes into a long one before nām, Pāṇ.VI. 4.3 nāmi/; the dental nasal of nām changes into a cerebral nasal, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.1 : raṣābhyaṁ no naḥ samānapade/; Pāṇ.VIII. 4.2 : aṅkupvāñnuṁ mvyavāyepi/ (see these three sūtras in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.10);

bandhanam : bandhana– adj. “binding on or round, throwing round, clasping, confining, hurting, injuring”; “bondage, tie, fastening”; karam : kara– (karoti, kāryate anena iti, kr – ap); “who or what does, makes or causes”;

bhayam : bhaya– s.nt. (bibhetyasmāt; bhī apādāna ac), “fear, alarm, dread, apprehension”; “fright, terror, danger, risk”, Ac.sg.;

sattvānām : sattva– s.m. “living being, animal, beast”; “nature, essence, life”, G.pl., sandhi : a– → ā before nām, Pāṇ.VI. 4.3 (see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.10);

payasām : payas– s.nt. “water, milk”, G.sg.; in practical way, it is interesting to quote the Pāṇini's sūtra I. 1.47:

midaco'ntyātparah/47/padāni/mid acaḥ antyāt parah/ vṛttih/ acām sannivisङ्गानगantyādacah paro mid bhavati/

The letter m is the indicatory which is technically called mit augments seen immediately after the final vowel of a word. Let's see the case of num, the vowel u and m are it, and the real augment is n; payās + num + i (Pāṇ.VII. 1.72) → payānsi. The letter n is placed between the last vowel that is lengthened and s, the final consonant of the word.

The case of MUC- + śa + ti (Pāṇ.III. 1.77), the sūtra I. 1.47 is needful as

MUC- + num + śa + ti → MU- + ū + c + a + ti → muñcati. The term acah, being in G.case, has the force of nirdhāraṇa, “specification”; expressed in sg., acah induces the force of plural. The sūtra I. 1.47 shows an exception to sūtra I. 1.49 and III. 1.2. The present sūtra bears effect on :

- indicatory - (a-, āt, namu-, tu- ...),
- indicatory k (aduk, asuk, ānuk ithuk kuk ...),
- indicatory m (am, im, um, num, pum, ram śnam).

Nidhim : nidhi- (ni – dhā ādhāre ki), “abode, receptacle, reservoir”; “the ocean”; in later text, there are the nine divine treasures protected by Kubera, viz. Padma, Mahāpadma, Śaṅkha, Makara, Kacchapa, Mukunda, Nanda, Nīla and Kharva. Nidhi is seen in Rg.I. 183.4;

Arṇava- adj. “being agitated, foaming”; “a strem, flood, wave”; “the foaming sea”. With the presence of va in arṇava (arṇa + va), the case could be seen through the spirit of Pāṇini's sūtra V. 2.109 : keśādvo'nyatarasyām/.

śubham : śubha- adj. “eminent, good, meritorious, fortunate, virtuous”, related to ākaram; śubha is also used in Khmer language through pāli form in compound like subhamāṅgala and its opposite is abhamāṅgala; divyam : divya- adj. (divi bhavah yat), “divine, heavenly, celestial being, wonderful”, Pāṇ.VI. 2.101 : dyuprāgapāgudakpratīco yat/(see in analysis of adhyāya 15, st.7);

Yat is the affix that can be added to div, div + ya → divya;

amartyānām : amartya- adj. “immortal, divine, imperishable”, G.pl.;

amṛtasya + ākaram : amṛtasya < a-mṛta- “the nectar”, privative a, Pāṇ.VI. 2.116 ; nañō jaramaramitramṛtāḥ/(see in analysis of adhyāya 15, st.4); ākaram : ākara- s.m. “a mine, a source”, (see also in analysis of st.5), sandhi : a + a = ā, Pāṇ.VI. 1.101 : akaḥ savarṇe dīrghah/(see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.6); param : para- adj. “higher, highest, superior, greatest, best, principal”, sometimes used as an adverb (Ac. Abl.), “beyond, over out of, thereupon, thereafter, however, other wise”, Pāṇ.I. 1.34 : pūrvaparāvara dakaśinottarāparādhāraṇī vyavasthāyāma samjñāyām/34/padāni/purva para avara dakaśinā uttara apara adharāṇī vyavasthāyām asamjñāyām (vibhāṣā jasi sarvādīni sarvanāmāni)/ cost, sea–shore; Khmer language uses velā for the 1st meaning, i.e. time, period, time of day; sometimes, the v is replaced by b, as belā. This latter means the auspicious moment for holding on a ritual act, particularly the Phdim that is the salutation addressed toward the Sun at its very first ray of light. Sandhi of kṣobhodvega° <kṣobha + ud-vega, a + u → o, Pāṇ.VI. 1.87 : ādgunāḥ/ (see in analysis of adhyāya 14 , st.12);

Samutthitam : sam-utthita-, past participle, risen raised, recovered, cured; arisen, produced, born; sam, ind., prefix, (see in analysis of st.2, samantikāt);

Case of ut-thita ut + STHĀ- + i- + kta < ud + STHĀ- + i- + kta,

UD → ut, d → t, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.55, khari ca/ (see in analysis of adhyāya 15, st.13),

The vowel i can be seen through Pāṇini's sūtras as following :

VII. 2.52 : vasatikṣudhori (see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.23),

I. 1.46 : ādyantau kitau/ (see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.23),

VII. 2.35 : ārddhadhātukasyedvalādeḥ/35/padāni/ ārddhadhātukasya i valādeḥ/

vṛttih/ chandasīti nivṛttamārddhadhātukasya valāderidāgamo bhavati/ (this is a governing rule and bears effect up to the sūtra 76)

The case of STHĀ-+i is stated by Pāṇ.VI. 4.64 :

*āto lopa iti ca/64/padāni/āto lopah iti ca/vṛttih/ idādāvārddhadhātuke kniti cākārāntasyāṅgasya

STHĀ- i- + kta → STHĀ + i- + ta → + i + ta → sthi-ta → sthita;

PĀ- pa-PĀ + us → pa- p+ us(h) → pa-p-us(h)→ papus (papuh).

The form ut-th + i- + ktā → ut-th- can be seen through the following Pāṇini's sūtras :

VIII. 4.61 : *udah sthāstambhoḥ pūrvasya/61/padāni/udah

Another Pāṇini's sūtra must be quoted, Pāṇ.VII. 4.40:

*dyatisyatimāsthāmitti kitī/40/padāni/dyati syati mā sthām *vṛttih/ dyati syati mā sthā ityeteśāmaṅgānāmikārādeśo

DO + kta → dita, nir-di-ta (–vat)–, cut off;
ava- S0- + kta → ava-si-ta (vat)–, “terminated” :
MĀ- + kta → mi-ta, “measured”;
STHĀ- + kta → sthi-ta, “remaining, standing”.

The suffix kta of the ensemble ut-th-it + kta is explained by Pāṇini's sūtra, III. 4.70 :

tayorevakṛtyaktakhalarthāḥ/70/padāni/tayoh eva kṛtya kta khalarthāḥ/vṛttih/ tayoreva bhāvakarmanoḥ kṛtyasamjñakāḥ ktakhalārthaś ca pratyayaḥ bhavanti/

Tayoh of those two must be understood as having relation with bhāva an impersonal act, and karma, object; eva has its own nuance as bringing connection with the notion of agent that must be distinguished from it.

Pāṇ.III. 4.71 : ādikarmanīktah kartari ca/71/padāni/ādi karmaṇī ktaḥ kartari ca (bhāve karmaṇī)/ vṛttih/ ādikarmanī yaḥ kto vihitāḥ sa kartari bhavati cakarāt yathāprāptam bhāvakarmanoḥ/ ādikarmanī means the beginning of an action engaged by the roots. The particle ca of the sūtra has also its force, the suffix kta is used at the beginning of an action.

Pāṇ.III. 4.72 : gatyarthākarmakaśliṣṭīn sthāsavasajanaru□ hajīryatibhyaś ca/72/padāni/gatyartha akarmaka śliṣṭā śīn sthā ās vasa jana ruha vṛttih/ gatyarthebhyo dhātubhyo'karmakebhyāḥ śliṣṭādib□ hyaś ca yaḥ ktaḥ sa kartari bhavati cakarād yathāprāptam ca bhāvakarmanoḥ/

The suffix kta is employed with the verb expressing motion and intransitive roots and also the roots ŚLIṢ- (IVth cl.), ŚI- (IIth cl.), STHĀ- (1st cl.), ĀS- (IIth cl.), VAS- (Ist cl.), JAN- (IVth cl.), RUH- Ist), JĀ- IVth cl.).

Pāṇ.III. 4.76 : kto'dhikaraṇe ca dhrauvyagatipratyavasānā□ rthebhyah/76/padāni/ktah adhikaraṇe ca dhrauvya gati prat�avasānārthebhyah (ktah bhāve karmaṇi kartari)/ vṛttiḥ/ dhrauvyagatipratyavasānārthebhyo yaḥ kto vihitah so'dhikaraṇe bhavati cakarād yathāprāptam ca/ rthebhyah kartṛkarmabhāvādhikaraṇeṣu pratya□ vasānārthebhyah karmabhāvādhikaraṇeṣu/

The force of the particle ca in the sūtra extends its sense, being along with adhikaraṇakāraka, toward static action (dhrauvya), movement (gatyarthā) and eating (pratyavasāna = arthebhyah).

Nṛtyantam : nṛti- antam, nṛti- s.f. dance, dancing, sandhi : the final vowel i → y before the initial vowel a of antam, according to samprasāraṇa principle, Pāṇ.I. 1.45; VI. 4.131; VI. 1.77; VI. 1.127, (...), see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.1;

Rg.III. 2.13 : rtāvānam yajñiyam vipramukthya mā yam

Rg.III.46.2 : (...) eko viśvasya bhuvanasya rājā sa yodhayā ca kṣayayā ca janān/

Kṣayayā is the form of subjunctive.

Khmer language uses kṣaya in the form of ksay meaning “end, decay, disappearance, destruction, ruin, death”, sometimes, it is considered as a verb.

Vṛddhi— s.m. “growth, increase; waxing, increase of the digits of the moon”;

Candra— s.m. (cand – ḷnic rak), “the moon”, in Vālmīki's Rāmāyaṇa, Kiṣkindhākāṇḍa, sarga 41, we read : candasuryāñśusaṅkāśah sāgarāmbusamāvṛtaḥ bhrājate vipulaiḥ śrīgairambaram vilikhanniva/29/

“Like scraping the sky by the broad summits, surrounded by the water of the ocean, similar to the ray of light of the sun and the moon, (the mountain Puṣpitaka) shines.”

N.B. The mountain Puṣpitaka is said in the st. 28.

“The Lord emitted the king] by taking lasting components from Indra, the Wind, Yama, the Sun, Fire, Varuṇa, the Moon and (Kubera) the Lord of Wealth”.

Pāñcajanyasya : janya— adj., (coming from the root JAN— kartari yat), “to be born, produced ; born from, occasioned by (at the end of cpd.); relating to, or fit for men”; s.m. “a father; a friend”; s.nt. “birth, production, creation”; “that which is born or created, a created thing, an effect”; “war, battle”; G.sg., it is a predicative complement of jananam;

pāñca-janya— “the five classes of beings, i.e. gods, men, gandharvas, serpents and pitṛ”; or the conch of viṣṇu jananam : janana— (JAN— bhāve lyu-), jan-ana— adj. “producing, causing”; s.nt. birth, being born; production, causing, creation; appearance, rise, manifestation”; “life, existence”;

Gām : a song, verse; “earth”;

Vindatā : coming from the root VID– 2nd cl., to know, to understand, to learn, to find out, to discover; to be, to exist; to happen; 6th cl., to get, to obtain, to acquire; pres. Participle, I.sg.m. (nt.); the root VID– is seen in the Bhagavadgītā, Chap.II, st.16 :

Nāsato vidyate bhāvo nābhāvo vidyate sataḥ (...)

The unreal can never come into existence, and the real can never cease to be.

(Translated by Swami Tapasyananda, Sri Rama-Krishna Math, Madras)

bhagavatā : from the stem bhagavat-/at-, I. sg.m. ; s.m. god, a deity, an epithet of Viṣṇu, Śiva, Buddha; adj. glorious, illustrious, revered, venerable, divine, holy;

In principle, the 3rd case of declension, bhagavat + Tā – → bhagavatā, follows Pāṇ.VII. 1.12 : tāñasiñasāminātsyah/12/padāni/tā ñasi ñasām ina āt syah/ (see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.3);

Govindena : govinda– s.m. “a cow–keeper, a chief herdman”; “proper name of Kṛṣṇa, I.sg., govinda + ina, Pāṇ.VII. 1.12, sandhi : a + ina – → ena, Pāṇ.VI. 1.87, (see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.12); amitaujasā : amita – ojas-, amita- adj. “unmeasured, boundless, unlimited, infinite, great; powerful”; amita – ojas- adj. “of unbounded energy, all-powerful, almighty”, I. sg.m., Manusmṛti, chap. I, st.4 :

sa taiḥ prṣṭādstathā samyagamitaujā mahātmabhiḥ (...) ,

“When the great and great-soulded sages had properly asked him this”;

sandhi : a + 0 – → au, Pāṇ.VI. 1.88 : vrddhireci/88/padāni/vrddhī eci/, (see in analysis of adhyāya 15, st.3);

ojas s.nt. “bodily strength, vigour, energy, ability, vitality; virility, the generative faculty, splendour, light”; “an elaborate form of style, abundance of compounds”, (ojah samāsabhūyastvametad gadyasya jīvitam); varāharūyastvametad gadyasya jīvitam); varāharūpinā : varāha-rūpin- adj., rupin- (rūpa- ini), “appearing, like”; “embodied, incarnate”;

varāha– s.m. “a boar”; name of Viṣṇu in the 3rd incarnation;

antar : ind. (am aran tuḍāgamaś ca), “in the middle, between; in into, inside”; at the first member of compound : “internally, inside, within, in the interior, filled with, having concealed within, secret, hidden”; Pāṇini's has given the following sūtra :

Khmer language in its traditional semantics bears the sense as does classical sanskrit; the recent neologism makes confusion between antar and antara, due to Khmer buddhist monks of modern time.

Pāṇ. VI. 1.87 : ādgunaḥ/, see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.12;

Tapatā : I.sg.m., present participle of form tapant- / tapat-, coming from the root TAP-, “to undergo self-mortification, to practise austerity, to undergo penance”;

Varṣāñām : varṣa- s.m. (or nt.), (vṛṣ bhāve ghañ kartari ac vā), “raining, rain, a shower of rain”. In Khmer Theravāda buddhist order, the word varṣa is used in Pāli form as vassā; it means firstly a “raining” season during which any monk must stay together in a safe place and abstain from travel, In common speech, vassā has the sense of the period in which a monk or a person had been in the order. The monk who is in the order much more vassā than the others is worth while respecting and listening to, according to Pāli Vinaya text Secondly, the word vassā means also of any royal family member. In Khmer socio-religious field, the word vassā has its importance connected with the ritual before and after a “raining” season.

The word varṣa is seen in Manusmṛti, chap.IV, st.103, and in Meghadūta st.35 (...) prāpya varsāgrabindūn (...);

Varṣa of the present strophe means “year”; G.pl., sandhi : the thematic vowel a becomes a long one before nām, Pāṇ.VI. 4.3 : nāmi/, see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.10; the pratyaya is stated by Pāṇini's III. 1.1 (a governing rule); the pratyaya –ām is seen in Pāṇ.IV. 1.2 : svaujasamaut chaśābhyaṁ bhisnebhyāṁ bhyasiasi bhyāṁ bhayasñasosāṁ nayossup/, see in analysis of adhyāya 17, st.18;

The dental nasal n is needful before the pratyaya –ām of Genitive plural in case of the stem ending in short vowel a, in stem called nadī and after the stem of teminine ending in long ā. (nu- in this very case means dental nasal n).

Sandhi : the dental nasal : (nu-) becomes a cerebral nasal ɳ, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.1, 2, see in analysis of adhyāya 16, st.3; this case is largely explained by Pāṇini's sūtra VIII. 4.1 to VIII. 4.42.

Anāsāditagādham : anāsādita-gādham,

Anāsādita- adj. “not obtained, not found or met with; not encountered or attacked; not occurred or having happened; not existent”; it comes from the root ā- SAD-, “to meet with, to encounter, to attack, to reach, to find”;

i [[[kta - → -i-ta is said by some Pāṇini's sūtras : Pāṇ.I. 1.46, see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.23;

Pāṇ.VII. 2.35; VIII. 4.61, 65; I. 3.24; VII. 4.40; VI. 4.64, see in analysis of adhyāya 19, st.9; kta follows what is said in the sūtras III. 4.70, 71, 72, 76, (see in analysis of adhyāya 19, st.9);

Śatam : śata- s.nt., (s.m. is very rare), “a hundred”, śatam used as an indeclinable with an I. is rare, the case is occurred in Rg. I. 48.7 :

(...) śatam rathebhīḥ subhagoṣā iyam vi yātyabhi mānuṣān/7/atrinā : atri- “a devourer, a demon”, (used for at-tri, coming from the root AD-, “to eat”), atrinā should have spelt as attrinā, the case reminds us of puttra >>> putra, see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.6; sandhi : the final dental of the root changes into the voiceless dental t before the one of atri, Pāṇ.II. 1.38 : apetāpoḍhamuktapatitāpatrastairapaśah/;

Adhyātma : adj., (ātmānaḥ sabadham ātman, adhikrtam vā), “belonging to self or person; concerning an individual”; adhyātma is seen in two strophes of the Bhagavadgītā:

<sup>o</sup>yoga : “concentration of the mind on the Ātman drawing it off from all objects of senses (ātmānam kṣetrajñamadhikrtya yogah);

yoganidrā : s.f. “meditation -sleep”, a state of half meditation half sleep (which admits of full exercise of the mental power); “light sleep” like the sleep of Viṣṇu at the end of a Yuga”; nindrām : nindrā- s.f. “sleep sleepiness”, (coming from the root ni-DRA-2nd cl.) ; the word nindrā is also in Khmer language, but in the recent period the wrong and stupid use had begun by spelling nindrā which is left without any explanation of the inserted dental nasal.

sevitah : sevataḥ of devanagari scripture may be a misprinting(?) of sevitah by which the sense can be grasped through the context. Sevitah : sevita-, from SEV-i--kta, Pān.I. 1.46 (see in analysis of adhyāya 17,st.23), Pān. VII. 2.52 (see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.23); in analysis of adhyāya 19, st.9, one must see Pān. VII. 2.35; VIII. 4.61; VIII. 4.65; I. 3.24; VII. 4.40; VI. 4.64; ta(kta) is explained by Pān.III. 4.70, 71, 72, 76, see in analysis of adhyāya 19, st.9, (see also in analysis of adhyāya 19, st.11); sevita-, “served, attended upon, worshipped, followed, practised , pursued, frequented by, resorted, preserved, used”;

nābhasya : the real form is nābhi or nābhī(in later period), “nave, navel, central point”, the form nābha is considered at the end of bahūvrīhi compound when it is used as epithet of Viṣṇu; padmanābhasya : (for padma-nābhi), an epithet of viṣṇu ;

While asleep, a lotus sprang from Viṣṇu's navel, and Brahma the Creator was in this lotus;

Viṣṇor : viṣṇu- s.m., proper name of one of the deities of the Hindu Trimurti (Triad), G.sg.;

yuga : s.nt. (or exceptionally s.m.), “an age of the world”, there are 4 long mundane periods of years : Kṛtayuga, Tretāyuga, Dvāparayuga, Kaliyuga. We are now in Kaliyuga which had begun from 3120 years B.C. The Manusmṛti (Chap.I) shows the following strophes :

“There is the bottomless, fullest, expanded, immeasurable ocean shining (as) an offering of oblations and water to Agni with the inflamed submarine fire”.

Vadavāmukha : s.m. “the submarine fire”;

Dipta : past partic., (DÍP-kta), “lighted, inflamed, kindled”, about kta, Pāṇ.III. 4.70, 71, 72, 76, see in analysis adhyāya 19, st.9;

Diptagnes : diipta + agnes, sandhi : a + a — → ā, Pāṇ. VI. 1.101 : akāḥ savarṇe dīrghah /, see in analysis of adhāya 16, st.6; the final dental sibilant of <sup>o</sup>agnes is maintained as it is followed by the voiceless dental t of toya<sup>o</sup>, Pāṇ. VIII. 3.34 : visarjanīyasya sah /, see in analysis of adhyāya 14, st.17

Pradaṁ : prada- adj. (at the end of compound), “giving, bestowing, conferring on, yielding”; liberal, bountiful”;

Havya□ adj. (HU□karmaṇi yat), “to be offered in oblation”; s.nt. “clarified butter, an oblation or offering to the gods”;

Toya□: s.nt. “water”;

Śubham : śubha- adj. (ŚUBH-ka), “shining, bright”; beautiful, handsome, good, happy”; In Khmer language, this same word is used through the form śubha;

Agādha : (gādh- pratiṣṭhāya ghañ na), “unfathomable, very deep, bottomless”; “profound, sound”; pāram : pāra- s.m. (param tīram parameva aṇ pṛ – Ghañ), “the further or opposite bank of a river or ocean; the fullest extent, the totality of anything”;

vistīrṇam : vistīrṇa- past participle of VISTR□<sup>5th</sup> cl.) “spread out, expanded; wide, broad” “large, great, extensive”;

Ityevam : iti + evam, generally, iti is used to indicate a conclusion connected with the facts that have been spoken or described; evam expresses what it follows as an effect or a result. In Khmer budhist practice, evam in pāli is heard at the end of a sermon held by a preaching monk. He announces the end by saying in Pāli ayam dhammadesanā saṅkhepena ni--hitā followed by a translation in Khmer language and he immediately says evam. This is the last word of a sermon. In that context, evam could be parallel to amen of the practice of Judeo-Christianism.

Sandhi : the final vowel i of iti becomes y before the vowel e of evam, according to samprasāraṇa principle, Pāṇ.I. 1.45; VI.4.131; VI. 1.77; VI. 1.127; VI. 1.15; VI. 1.108; VI. 1.17; VI. 1.93, see in analysis of adhyāya 18, st.1;

Kta is stated by Pāṇini'sūtra III.4.70, 71, 72, 76. see in analysis of adhyāya 19, st.9;

Vidīpitam : vi~~dīp~~i+ i+ kta, coming from vi-DīP-, “to shine forth, to shine very brightly”; the prefix vi- ind. being with a verb expresses an intensity of an action or a situation. Vi~~dīp~~-i-ta may bear an idea of causative, “illuminated, inflamed, incensed”; for the case of derivation related to iṭṭa (i+ kta), one may consider Pāṇini's sūtra shown under vikasitam.

Tam : coming from the stem tad-, related to vidīpitam; Śikhā- (śī khak tasya netvam pr̄ṣo), “top, summit, peak”; “sharp end, edge”; “a ray of light”;

“Hearing Viśvāmitra's speech, the descendant of Raghu (i.e. Rāma), with (his brother) Laksmaṇa, then being surprised much spoke to the sage Viśvāmitra.”

saha : ind. “with”;

vacah : vacas (in pausa), the real form is vācaḥ, Ac.sg.nt., object of śrutvā, coming from vac- s.f., “word, speech, parole”; vā of vācaḥ changes into va as it is the 5th syllable of each quarter of anusṭubh. The case is said in the following definition :

*sloke ṣaṣṭham gurujñeyam sarvatra laghu pañcamam/dvicatuḥ pādayor hrasvam

For kathām̄ (kathā), a Pāṇini's sūtra V. 3.26 may be known :

*thā hetau cacchandasi/26/padāni/thā hetau ca chandasi/
vṛttih/ kiṁ śabdāddhetau varttamānātthā pratyayo bhavati cakārāt prakāravacane/chandasi viṣaye/* *tathā and kathā are explained by this sūtra, (V. 3.2; V.

3.11; V. 3.23, 24.)*

tapah : tapas– s.nt. “warmth, fire” (usṇatva, agni); “pain” (piḍā); “penance”(tapa); “merit”(puṇya); “a long period of time”(kalpa).

iyam̄ : coming from the stem idam–, N.sg.f., Pāṇ.VII. 2.110 :
yah sau/110/padāni/yah sau/

*vṛttih/ idamo makārasya puṇsi sau parato'ya ityayamā□ y is substituted for the d of idam in N.sg.f.

sam-vṛtta + iyam̄ : sandhi : a + i = e, Pāṇ.VI. 1.87, (see under bhūteva);

sam-vṛt + kta sam-VRT-ta, coming from sam-VRT- “to become” (BHŪ), for kta, there are some Pāṇini's sūtra, III. 4.70 : *tayoreva kṛtyaktakhalarthāḥ/70/padāni/taylor
eva kṛtya kta khalarthāḥ/*

vṛttih/ tayoreva bhāvakarmanoḥ kṛtyasaṁjñakāḥ ktakhalārthoś ca pratyayaḥ bhavanti/ tayoh is related to bhāva “an Impersonal act” and karma, “object”.

Sometimes ta is used or called the past passive participle.

Khal (III. 3.126) tends to denote the object and the Impersonal act. After a transitive verb kṛtya, kta and khalārtha do not point out the bhāva, (“an Impersonal action”).

III. 4.71 : ādikarmani ktaḥ kartari ca/71/padāni/ādi karmani ktaḥ kartari ca (bhāve, karmaṇi)/ vṛttih/ ādikarmani yaḥ kto vihitāḥ sa kartari bhavati cakārāt yathā prāptam bhāvakarmaṇoh/

Besides ādikarmani, the particle ca in the sūtra indicates that kta is used to denote the act and the object as well.

III. 4.72 : gatyarthākarmakaśliṣṭiñsthāsavasajanaruha jīry atibhyāś ca/72/ padāni/gatyarthā akarmaka śliṣṭiñ sthā āsa vasa jana ruha jīryatibhyāḥ ca (ktāḥ kartari bhāve karmaṇi)/ vṛttih/ gatyarthebhyo dhātubhyo'karmakebhyāḥ śliṣṭādibhyāś ca yaḥ ktaḥ sa kartari bhavati cakārādabhyāprāptam ca bhāvakarmaṇoh/

The affix kta is also used to denote the agent as well as the act and the object, in case of the verbs implying motion (after transitive roots) as śiliṣ, śi, sthā, ās, vas, jan, ruh, jr.

By virtue to the word ca “the act and the object” is added into the sūtra.

The words kṣaṇa, bhūta, rātri, tapa, kathā are used in Khmer language.

Sarva is seen as sabba in colloquial use.

vākyam : vākyā– s.nt. “a sentence” (vacana); “a speech” (bhāṣana), Ac.sg., object of uvāca; uvāca : coming from the root VAC–, u, a reduplication (abhyāsa), vac–, stem of conjugation with the lengthened a, a, personal flexional ending of 3rd pers.sg. of Perfect tense, Parasmai pada; Pāṇini's sūtra for reduplication : VIII. 4.62; VI. 1.8; VI. 1.9; VI. 1.10; VI. 1.1; VI. 1.4; VII. 4.59; VII. 4.61; VII. 4.66; VII. 4.60; VIII. 4.54; the interconsonantic vowel a becomes a long vowel ā, VII. 2.116; the personal flexional endings of Perfect tense can be referred to III. 4.82; all of these sūtras can be seen in analysis of st.4 āhnikam : āhnika– adj. “daily” (dainika, ahna), “performed or occurring in the daytime”; s.nt. “anything to be performed daily” (nityavrata, nityācāra); “a religious ceremony to be performed every day at a fixed hour”;

kṛta– adj. (from the root KR–), “done, performed”; sandhi: a + a = ā, Pāṇ.VI. 1.101, (see in analysis of st.1);

arindamah : ādama– adj. “foe-conquering, victorious”, N.sg. m., related to rāghavo, used for qualifying Rāma; Pāṇ.III. 2.46 :

*sañjñāyam bhṛtīvrjjidhārisahitapidamah/46/padāni/

(karmanī supi, khac)/ vṛttiḥ/ priya vaśa ityetayoh karamaṇorupapadayor vader

Khac is stated by III. 2.38 :

priyavaśe vadaḥ khac/38/padāni/priya vaśe vadaḥ khac/vārttikam/ khac prakaraṇe gameḥ supyupasama vārttikam/ vihāyaso viha ca/vārttikam/ de ca vihāyaso vihādeśo vaktavyah/vārttikam/ khac ca dīdvā vaktavyah/

The affix khac (= a) is used after the verb VAD-, “to speak” when priya or vaśa is the word in composition with it as an object.

The letters kh and c are indicatory. Kh means that the augment mum must be added (VI. 3.37), and c indicates that there are some short vowels in certain case (VI. 4.94) priya + am + VAD + Šap + tip = priya + 0 + muM + VAD + Khac = priya-m-vad-a, “speaking pleasantly” vaśa + am + VAD + a + ti = vaśa + muM + VAD + Khac = vas-am-VAD-a, “obedient”, “saying submission to the will of another”.

Khac is used with GAM- when a word ending in case-affix is in composition with it : mitaṅgamā hastinī, “the slow-moving”, i.e. “an elephant”, mitaṅgamā hastini, “the slow-moving”, i.e. “a she-elephant”.

About the composition of GAM- and vihāyas, we can have :

vihāyasā gacchati = vihaṃgamah, “that which goes through the sky”, i.e. a bird; for the same meaning, we see vihaga, vihāṅga, vihāṅgas.

Bhuj+am+GAM+Khac = bhujamgam-a, or bhujam-ga, “a serpent” (what goes crookedly).

It concerns the roots ending with a nasal. There are 6 roots: YAM- → ya-ta, RAM- → ra-ta, NAM- → na-ta, GAM- → ga-ta, HAN- → ha-ta, MAN- → ma-ta. We have the suffixes kta and ktavatu for the eighth class (=Tanādi) having ten roots:

TAN- → ta-ta, tatavan ; KṢAN- → kṣa-ta, kṣatavān; ṘN- → ṙ-ta, ṙtavān; TRN- → ṭr-ta, ṭṛtavan; GHRN- → ghṛ-ta, ghṛtavān; VAN- → va-ta, vatavān; MAN- → ma- -ta, matavān, KRN- → kṛta, kṛtavān; the root SAN- takes ā long → (VI. 4.45).

About the suffix kta (=ta), there are some Pāṇini's sūtras,

III. 4.70 : Tayorevakṛtyaktakhalarthāḥ/70/ padāni/tayoh
eva kṛtya kta khalarthāḥ/

vṛttih/ tayoreva bhāvakarmanoḥ kṛtyasañjñakāḥ

Tayoh “of those two” is related to bhāva “an Impersonal act”, karma, “object”. The word eva “only” being in the sūtra excludes the notion of “agent” from it.

III. 4.71 : ādikarmanīktaḥ kartari ca/71/padāni/ādi ādikarmanī, “the beginning of an action”, it may be understood as the action is signified by the roots. The word ca of the sūtra has its force, it means even in the case of the beginning of an action, the affix kta may be used. This affix expresses the act and the object as well; it denotes also the agent in case of the beginning of action.

2) otherwise, nivisःd + āste can be supposed where viśālām : viśālā— adj. “large, great extensive” (mahat, vistīrṇa), related to purīm.

dadrśuh : coming from the root DRŚ-; it can be spelt as dadarśuh, but this case of alternance to the original radical vowel and the guna degree is not important. It is difficult to have a general rule in the matter as the weak stem of the root having r depends on certain group of consonants relating with the vowel r̄.

The case of Thal is said by Pāṇ.VII. 2.65; we can have da-dr̄as—ha or da-darś-i-tha as it intends to be an option (vibhāṣā).

vṛttih/ adhyāsasya halādiḥ śiṣyate anādir lupyate/

The principal word in this sūtra may be śeṣaḥ which is expressed as śiṣyate in the vṛttih. Śeṣaḥ has a principal position in the form, but in the spirit it plays a second one. Does the injunction imply the retention or the cessation of the consonants? Which of the two cases will be the right purpose of the sūtra? One can express these very cases as following :

- a) retention would be on the first consonant, or
- b) every consonant would be dropped down but the first, if there were a first consonant.

According to my own point of view, the case b) may be right with regard to the spirit of the sūtra.

Another aspect of the question may take into account ; it has connection with the word halādiḥ which is not a compound. If the compound were to be considered it might be a karmadhāraya. (it is stated as abhyāsaya in the vṛttih). Beyond the first sense of reduplication, abhyāsa can be understood as jātī or kind having relation with something being gathered in a collection. If any consonant in the middle or at the end of an abhyāsa, it will be dropped down. The spirit of the sūtra seems to instill into one's comprehension the importance of the first consonant that not be dropped down : it may be imperative that one considers this practical way.

The case of root beginning with a vowel must be stated, i.e. the root a- One can see : a- + a- + a. There being non initial consonant. The voiceless consonant - has to be dropped down according to the sūtra. So, one can have :

$$a + a - + a \rightarrow \bar{a} - a.$$

If the present sūtra and the former (i.e. VII. 4.59) will be read together, one will grasp the true sense. What I have Just said is a possible issue.

N.B. viśālāyah is correct. viśālā- s.f. proper name of a city, G.sg..

vāyu → vayo ;

devas → deva, s is omitted (sg.m.); vadhū + s vadhu + →vadhu.

śakrasya : śakra- s.m. “Indra”, G.sg.

Khmer language uses sakka (pāli form) or sakkadevarāj(a) and sometimes in literary texts one can note brah sakkadevarāj(a). Anyhow, indr(a) is well-known in common popular way of speaking.

kathām : kathā- s.f., “conversation, speech, talking together”, Ac.sg., object of kathayataḥ.

It is now an opportunity to state about the word thā in Khmer language. Certain authors (linguist) in Khmer studies said (and wrote!) that thā is coming from the noun kathā where the syllable ka is elided, according to a linguistic principle which is not referred to. The so-called linguistic principle could have been applied in other cases in Khmer language as having regard toward Sanskrit contribution. I felt this way of grasping to be a mistake. Firstly, it appears to me that the case does not deserve to enjoy facilities for saying like that. Secondly, the case of thā and its explanation can be believed to have been a neglect. The way seems to be careless in underrating the heavy indo-khmer heritage left by Angkorian Empire. Khmer scholars of the past did not fail to find out how to burrow from Sanskrit language, which I will have this plausible idea for want to anything better. In general case, they took many elements from Vedic domain. The case of thā may be considered as giving evidence about what I just have said. In Khmer studies, Vedic sphere is at first worth while taking into account. This is intended to be a very fundamental element of methodology. I mean the view to be observed. Thā may be trust to do with Pāṇini's sūtra V. 3.26, thā hetau( . . . ); Khmer language took thā which has the meaning as Vedic language does. Thā introduces the idea of "why?" and requiring reason and cause.

In Vedic domain, kathā, being indeclinable, is used for katham. By referring to the Pāṇini's sūtra V. 3.26, one sees Khmer way of borrowing considers directly thā. I am not to be expected that some authors should make thā derive from the noun kathā by omitting ka. If these authors had considered thā coming from the particle of interrogation kathā or katham, they would have been understood how best to do it.

For all one may think, I bring in the use of kathā in Vedic mantra in Atharvaveda VII.1.16.

*Mā tvā jambhaḥ samhanur mā tamo vidanmā jihvā barhiḥ pramayuh kathā syāḥ/ ut tvādityā vasavo

Here kathā may be understood as “how”.

śubhām : śubha- adj., “splendid, bright, beautiful, handsome, agreeable, pleasant”, Ac.sg.f., related to kathām. Actual Khmer language uses śubha (in pali form) with the same meaning as Sanskrit does ;

asmin : coming from the stem idam-, L.sg.m., it deals with the Pāṇini's sūtra

VII. 1.15 : *ṇasi ḡayoḥ smāt sminau / 15/ padāni/ ḡasi ṇasi is used for Ab. sg., ni for L.sg.(Pāṇ.IV.1.2). In this connection the determining idea may be seen in the governing rule III. 1.2.

deśe : deśa- s.m. “place, country, region”, L.sg.

tu : ind. “but, on the other hand”, Pāṇini's sūtra VI.3.133 is related to this.

This sūtra has been ranged by Bhattoji Dīksita in the Vaidikī Prakriyā, (chapter on Vedic formation). In 1986, Dr Bhabanī Prasad Bhattacharya has edited the Vaidikī and ranged the present sūtra in the section called Dīrghavidhā □ naprakaraṇam. The sutra deals directly with the principle of lengthening in the Ṛgveda, (cf. Vedic Grammar, Vaidikarvyāraṇam, edited by Bhabani P. Bhattacharya, Sanskrit Pustak Bhandar, Calcutta, 1986, p. 84, (devanagari scripture).

api : ind. “even, indeed”, Pāṇ.I. 4.96, apiḥ padārtha. . . , see in analysis of RĀM., sarga 45, st. 2;

yad : yat(in pause), coming from the stem yad-, relative pronoun, Ac.sg.nt.;

tad : tat(in pause), coming from the stem tad-, Ac.sg.nt., object of śrunu;

sandhi of yad and tad, the final voiceless dental t changes into d before respectively v of vṛttam and a of api, Pāṇ.II. 1.38; II. 1.39; VI. 3.2, see in analysis of sarga 45, st. 8;

vṛttam : vṛtta-, from the root VRT- 1st cl., “rounded, occurred, happened, continued, occurred, happened”; s.nt. “an event, adventure”; Ac.sg.; about vṛt-ta, Pāṇ.VII. 2.26 explained as following :

ṇeradhyayane vṛttam/26/padāni/neḥ adhyayane vṛttam/ vṛttiḥ/ nyantasya vṛtter niṣṭhāyāmadhyayanārthe vṛttamitīdabhāvo ḡiluk ca nipātyate/

According to the principal sense or purpose of this sūtra, vṛtta has connection with the causative of VRT-, meaning “studied or read”.

The case of vṛttam of our purpose (st. 14) has nothing to do with the sense of “studied”. Normally, the root VRT is intransitive, and in this very case, it becomes transitive. Accordingly, the derivative bears this transitive function. The affix ta (= kta, Pāṇ.III. 4.70, 71, 72, 76, see in analysis of sarga 45, st.6) is added to the root VRT- with the force of passive form. Pāṇini himself had used vṛt-kta in two times; it can be seen in the sūtra IV. 2.68; V. 1.79, (nivṛttam in these two sūtra). By setting up an analogy of nivṛtta, one can wonder what is the raison d'être of the sūtra VII. 2.26. This latter is likely to convey a reason to us. Does this sūtra need to have dealt with vṛtta?

rāghava : Voc.sg. from raghu, i.e. “O Rāma!”; śruṇu : coming from the root ŚRU- 5th cl. “to hear, to listen, to learn”, Imperative tense (Lo-), 2nd pers.sg. Parasmai pada ; some Pāṇini's sūtras are related to Lo: III. 3.162; III. 3.163; III. 4.85; VIII. 1.51; VIII. 1.52; III. 4.2, 3, 4; (see in analysis of sarga 45, st.7).

In the present case, hi is elided, Generally, the termination hi is omitted after a stem ending in short a, i.e. paca, gaccha. There is a Pāṇini's sūtra

VI. 4.105 : ato heḥ/105/padāni/ataḥ heḥ angasya/

vṛttih/ akārāntādaṅgāduttarasya her lugbhavati/

utaś pratyayādasmyogapūrvāt/106/padāni/utahca ca pratyayāt asamyoγa pūrvāt/ vṛttih/ ukāro yo'samyodapūrvas tad antāt pratyayād uttarasya her lug bhavati/

vārtikam/ utaś ca pratyayād ityaś chandasi veti vaktavyam/

In the Vedas, the elision of hi after u of the vikaraṇa is optional.

A Pāṇini's sūtra VII. 1.35 shows us another case of an optional elision of hi (or tu) :

tu hyostātañāśiṣyanyatarasyām/35/padāni/tu hyoḥ tātañ anyatarasyām/

vṛttih/ tu hi ityetayorasiṣi viṣaye tātaṅgādeśo bhavatyanyatarasyām/

When benediction is meant, tātañ takes place of hi (or tu); Jīv + Loñ Jīv + śap + hi (or tu) = jīv-a-tāt, “may you live long”.

aditeś ca mahābhāga vīryavantāḥ sudhārmikāḥ/15/*

“O Rāma, formely in the Golden Age, there were the mighty sons of Diti, the mother of the demons and Mahābhāga, the virtuous sons of Aditi were powerful”.

Pūrvam : pūrva- adj.“first, ancient” (prācīna) ; “early, prime”(ādya); “in days of yore”; “formely”;

In the Bhagavadgītā, chapter 4, we read :

Evam jñātvā kṛtam karma pūrvair api mumukṣubhiḥ/kuru karmaiva tasmāt tvam pūrvaiḥ pūrvataram kṛtam/15/

Khmer actual language uses pūrva in the Pāli form as pūrb (a) to pointing the East, Eastern region, i.e. dispūrb(a), pūrbādis(a); cūn pūrbāprades(a), “Far Eastern countries”, majjhimapūrbāprades(a); “countries of the Middle-East”, pascimaprades(a), “Western countries”;

kṛtayuge : kṛta-yuga-, proper name of the first of the four Yugas” ; yuga- s.nt. “an age”; yuga + ni → yuga + i = yuge, L.sg.

About kṛtayuga and its framework, four strophes of Manusmṛti, Chapter I may be known :

Catvāryāhuḥ sahasrāṇi varṣāṇām tat kṛtam yugam tasya tāvac chatī sandhyā sandhyāśāś ca tathā vidhāḥ/69/Itareṣu sasamdhyeṣu sasandhayāmśeṣu ca trīṣu Ekāpāyena vartante sahasrāṇi śatāni ca/70/

Yad etat parisāṅkhyātāmādaveva catur yugam etad dvādaśasāhasram devānāṁ yugam ucayate/71/Daivikānāṁ yugānāṁ tu sahasram parisāṅkhyayā brāhmam ekam ahajñeyam tāvatīm rātrīm eva ca/72/

Roughly speaking, kṛtayuga has 4,800 divine years (or 17,28,000 human years). The four yuga together have 12,000 divine years (or 4,320,000 human years); this is called a yuga of the gods.

A thousand yugas of gods is a day of Brahma and a night of Brahma is equal to a thousand yugas of gods.

We can have :

4,320,000 X 1,000 = 4,320,000,00 human years

4,320,000,000 X 2 = 8,640,000,000 human years; that is a day an night of Brahmā.

The same subject is seen in Viṣṇupūrāṇa, chapter III, st.11 to st.16.

rāma : Voc.sg.m. of Rāma, Pāṇ.VI. 1.69, see under rāma, sarga 45, st.14; diteh : dites (in pausa), diti- s.f. daughter of Daksha and wife of Kaśyapa and mother of the demons(daitya), G.sg. . In AthaRva-veda, book VII, hymn 7, st.1, we see the word diti :

Diteḥ putrāṇāmaditerakāriṣamava devāṇāṁ bṛhatāmaṇām/

teṣāṁ hi dhāma gabhiṣak samudriyāṁ nainān namasā paro asti kaś cana/1/

vīryavantaḥ : vīryavantas (in pause), N.pl.m., related to purtrā, “endowed with heroism, having heroism”;

su of dhārmimikāḥ : ind., it may come from vasu or sa (with an analogy of ku with ka); it may be used as an adv. (or adj.), “good, excellent, right, easy, well”; it is rarely used as a separated word, it is most prefixed to substantives, adjectives, adverbs and participle; dhārmikāḥ : dhārmikās(in pause), dhārmika– adj. “righteous, religious” (dharmaśila); “virtuous”(guṇavat–); “just”(nyāyya, nyāyānusārin); N.pl.m., related to putrā;

sandhi : the final dental sibilant s is maintained as it is followed by the voiceless dental t of teṣām, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.34; VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of sarga 45, st. 9;

naraśresṭha : Voc.sg.m., Pāṇ.VI. 1.69, see in analysis of sarga 45, st.14, st.14; “the best of men, the best among men”, used for Rāma; nara- s.m. “a man, a male, a person, a husband, a hero”, (nṛ is the old form of nara); sreṣṭha- adj. “most beautiful of or among” (with G.), “best of or among”;

teṣāṁ : coming from the stem tad-, G.pl.m.(or nt.). Cerebralisation is still a large phenomena in Sanskrit grammar; it has many variations which, in certain cases, stretched over a limit. A dental sibilant s has been submitted to a particular force that has given various cases being difficult to being grasped. Anyhow, some Pāṇini's sūtras have established a good background.

rasam : rasa– “juice, sap” (sāra); “taste” (svāda– s.m.), i.e. “the taste of the nactor”, object of prāpsyāma ; the word rasa is used in Khmer language with the same meaning as Sanskrit does; it is generally associated with jāt(i), i.e. ras(a)jāt(i); vai : ind. particle of emphasis affirmation ; it is very rare in RG., and followed by u ; vai is seen commonly in the Brāhmaṇa and in the works which imitate its style; in Manusmṛti, in the Mahābhārata and in the kāvyas, vai is appeared at the end of the line.

prāpsyāma : pra + a + ĀP- + sya + ma ; this ensemble can be seen through the following way;

vṛttih/ vṛt vṛdh śrdh syand klrp/etebhyo dhātubhyaḥ syesani ca parato vā parasmai padam bhavati/

* ma, personal flexional ending of 1st pers.pl. conditional tense(lṛṇ), ma is coming from mas that is used in present and future(Pāṇ.III. 4.78), the final dental sibilant s of mas is dropped down and the case is stated by Pāṇini's sūtra III. 4.99 :

nityam nītah/99/padāni/nityam nītah (lasya uttamasya saḥ lopah)/ vṛttih/ nīto lakārasya ya uttamas tasya nityam nītah sakārasya lopo bhavati/ma → ma;

we see sya becomes syā + ma, and the vowel a is lengthening, and this case is stated by a Pāṇini's sūtra VII. 3.101 :

ato dīrgho yañi /101/padāni/ataḥ dīrghaḥ yañi/vṛttih/ akārantasyāṅgasya dīrgho bhavati yañādau sārvadhātuke parataḥ/

Yañ means semivowels, nasals bh and jh; its fuller sense (or use) extends to including y and bh. The case of this sūtra deals with the vowel a only as pacāmi, pacāvas, pacāmah. The short u of cinuvas and cinumas is unchanged.

There are some who understand the anuvṛtti of tiñ into this sūtra, and they take arguments from the sūtra VII. 3.88. By requiring Kvasu, any lengthening does not matter, as bhavavān. This latter is thus formed and present in Vedic text. It is interesting that the word sārvadhātuke is an important word in the vṛttih. The sūtra III. 4.117 and VI. 1.8

can clear up the matter and confirm the presence of the word sārvadhātuke in the vr̥ttih.

The question whether to say bhavavān as being a Vedic anomaly or not should be determined. However, it is also a question of what is going to be the necessary sārvadhātuke.

yoktram : yoktra– s.nt. “a rope, a halter”(guṇa); in Khmer language, yoktra means the string that is fastened at any buddhist monks' bowl. They put a part of that string on their right shoulder when they set out in quest of food. Later on, king Rāma IV of Siam had created the sect (in Theravāda circle) called Dhammayuttikanikāya for solving his own problem. This late coming sect had given up the use of that yoktra.

vāsukim : vāsuki–, proper name of a king of snakes. There were three chief kings of the Nagas : Śesha, Vāsuki and Takshaka. Vāsuki gave his sister in marriage with Jāratkāru. From this union, Astika was born; this latter had caused to put an end to the snake sacrifice held at the court of King Janamejaya.

The case of mahāviśam.— mahā is used in compound and generally in this way the weak stem is considered. Later on in Epic, a general tendency is enlarged by taking nominative case to make an element of compound. Certain nouns being at the first element of a compound, especially some nouns formed directly by a verb which follows the way by ending with a short vowel a, (gava°, diva°, nāva°, dr̥ṣda, asra°, uksāṇa°). The case of pr̥sat + udara = pr̥ṣodara may be indicated. In the semblable way, we know the use of maha° for mahat(weak stem) at the first element of a compound ; the vowel a of -at- becomes ā and the voiceless dental t is dropped down. We see also certain particular case as mahaḍgata in Divyavadāna where the vowel a is maintained and the voiceless t changes into the sonant d, (its class).

The word jagat gives rise to the personal pronoun(3rd sg.) gāt' in Khmer language, according to certain linguists in Khmer studies, but unfortunately, the right and operational arguments are still absent. They only said that ja is dropped down, without pointing out at first the condition of the above elision. It remains gat which changes into gāt' by lengthening the interconsonantic vowel a, the voiceless dental t is maintained and the sign (') determines the short “accent” in Khmer pronunciation. Where the idea of lengthening can be taken from? I think this idea may come from firstly the Pāṇini's sūtra and secondly the vārttikam n°3 which shows the case of lengthening. Pāṇinian influence is likely seen in the spirit; the genius of Khmer language is heedful of how to borrow from Sanskrit heritage. The right way lies in being sedulous in taking the spirit of Sanskrit language. Further, another argument must be sought out among Khmer linguistic field and also in Sanskrit grammar for granting a good and appropriate background to any other requirements elsewhere ; it remains certainly many plausible ways facing our eagerness for grasping that craves for our attention.

In case of a root beginning with the un-aspirated sonant dental d and ending with a h, we must have – gdh- as this kind of root is followed or added by kta, i.e. ta, Pāṇ. VIII. 2.40; VIII. 4.53;

[In the Khmer language, one can find the word trā and the verb trā. How can I best explain the nature of these two words? I don't know how to correctly do it. Their etymology is still doubtful; it is now enough simply to appreciate the idea corrected with what Sanskrit gave to the Khmer language which made the most of facilities available.

In Sanskrit, trā, the noun, means “a protector, defender”; in Khmer, the same idea can be seen as trā means “a seal”. The latter bears an authority when it is stamped on a document issued by official (or also private) administration. Being a seal, trā in its use may be “a protector” of a right granted to a corporate body or a legal entity. Trā is “a protector” of a validity as a lawful authority recognises a right; in any historical context one is reminded of an order under the King's private seal. I think the word trā in Khmer comprehension is due to the Sanskrit influence through the idea of protection and defence with regard to a legal condition. In business, trā means “a maker's trade-mark” in common language.

Sanskrit has TRAI- → TRĀ- which is the stem of conjugation, i.e. trāyate, trāti, trātu, trāsate, trātum. Khmer language considered this stem trā that becomes a verb meaning “to protect, to preserve, to carry, to take care”. The well-known meaning of trā in the vocabulary of the four fundamental operations called parikarma (cf.S. Balachandra Rao, Indian Mathematics and Astronomy (Some Landmarks), Inana Deep Publications, Bangalore, 1994, p. 3), Here is a simple example :  $15 + 8 = 23$ . This case of relation can analysed as following :

5 + 8 = 13,
 put down 3 and carry 1, $1+1$  (of number 15), we obtain 2, so we have 23.

Carry is said trā duk in Khmer, i.e. carry 1, trā duk muay. In this very case, Khmer language requires the word duk, (this is also a verb used in combination with trā). Duk due to its position after tra shows a confirmation or assertion needed by trā, especially at this step of the operation. Among a certain number of Khmer words around the idea of protection, and presentation, the word duk has to be added, i.e. raksā duk, thae duk, -ak'duk, pramūl duk.

In locution, Khmer people have luh trā tae, “till, until”. This locution is connected with time and other conditions which have been planned, looked forward and waited for. The presence of trā and its place in the locution is very important. The elision of trā is a clumsy manner and may produce an awkward sentence.

Trā is in the expression trāpranī used as a verb in the polite form aiming at begging pardon. Pranī means “compassion, pity, affection, favour, excuse, commiseration”. Trāpranī can be rendered as “to preserve favour, to observe compassion”, i.e. to forgive, to pardon, to excuse. The opposite is it pranī or gmān pranī.

The verb kat'trā is very significant with regard to the idea of presentation. Kat' means “to notice, to take note, to write down”; trā coming immediately after kat' seems to insist on an act undertaken against forgetfulness by inscribing, registering.

Trā is an element of the word pointing out the important part of a crossbow; this word is trābañ. As one knows, a crossbow has a stock and a cross. When making a crossbow, according to my observations, at one end of a stock, a cross is fixed firmly through a hale; this part is called trā and its lower side is known as bañ. Therefore, the ensemble of these parts is called trābañ which requires all of a crossbow-maker's skillfulness. The bañ, as the lower part, is a sort of protuberance depicted in wood, of course. Literally speaking bañ is “an egg”. This protuberance is useful for handling a crossbow. When shooting an arrow, a crossbowman rises his weapon, holds it up in his left hand; his right hand maintains another end of the stock where a trigger-finger is fixed; this end is called prā and it touches lightly a crossbowman's chin. This is the position for shooting and aiming at an object. We see the leading function of trāban of a crossbow where trā hints at the idea of protection or a fight.

In Khmer literature, there was the most celebrated story of Dum Dāv where the famous personage named Dum had been arrested and assassinated by the regional lord's killing team. This story took place at the end of the 16th century A.D. (period of Lanvaek). As a singer and poet, Dum was promoted as Moen Ek. He got the King's permission to do to 7pūn Ghumm (the North-East province of Cambodia) to fetch his wife. He tood with him the saññā trā tāmñ which was an order under the King's private seal. He showed himself at his mother-in-law's house where his wife and the regional lord's son were married. The regional lord ordered that Dum should be arrested and killed. Facing the fierce trial, Dum did not produce his valuable saññā trā tāmñ; he had put it inside his belt. Dum was taken with the men ready to do anything and he was slain. Dāv, Dum's wife followed with her maid, without being noticed by anyone she came out the house and begun to look for her husband. Both of them saw him dead, and they committed suicide at once by using a knife. Three corpses bay on the ground. People found on Dum's corpse the order under the King's private seal (saññā trā tāmñ) and further, the information reached the royal City of Lanvaek. Then, the King ordered a severe and terrific punishment. Dāv's mother, the regional lord, his family and those who were party to this crime had to be beheaded. The punishment reduced the inhabitants of the district to slavery.

No man, however ignorant he may have been, was able to show the document bearing the royal seal. If Dum had shown the royal-sealed document, he would have brought his wife back. For posterity and till now, there is no reason why he didn't show this very important document. Otherwise, it is natural that he should prove his courage in adversity as a human being and a lover. I think Dum would have his own deep reason for what he had chosen to do. By giving evidence of his courage and his knowledge, he obtained his wife. In the social context, he had some difficulty in making himself understood. He may have been fed up with hearing the overbearing power of the regional lord. The royal-sealed document had nothing to do with this matter. So, Dum would have preferred to bring in his own solution than cherish much hope of his being alive with his wife by producing a proof of the mighty royal power. His wife, Dāv, would have wanted to be different from other people. She would have preferred to commit suicide rather than live without her beloved husband. Her mother had wanted her to marry the regional lord's son, but she wanted to live with Dum, even though the wedding act had been already granted by the King himself.

The story of Dum Dāv is still one of the jewels of national Khmer literature. A few words must be added concerning triēp trā; it was an expression pointing the general parade of an army with a view to set on trial. Now, triēp trā means “in abundance”.

This is an example related to the word trā which may be considered as being connected with Sanskrit.]

In Sanskrit, the word trā is seen in Rgveda :

a-dhī-ya-ta : a, augment(bhūtakarana), Pāṇ. VI. 4.71, see in analysis of st.17, sarga 45;

dhī-, another form of DHĀ- 3rd cl., the long vowel ī takes the place of the vowel ā, the form DHī- is generally used in passive form; for the long vowel ī of this very case, there is a Pāṇini's sūtra VI. 4.66 :

*ghumāsthāgāpājahātisāṁ hali/66/ padāni/ghu mā sthā gā

We have the term GHU- having the foem of DĀ- or DHĀ-, except dāP/daiP ; (Pāṇ.I. 1.20);

-ya-, infix of passive form, Pāṇ.III. 1.67, see in analysis of st.14, sarga 45;

-ta, pers.flexional ending of 3rd pers.sg. Imperfect tense, Ātmane pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.78, see in analysis of st. 1 A, sarga 45; two Pāṇini's sūtra I. 4.100 and I. 4.102 may be known :

“O the Son of Raghu, then all of the demons and the gods churned; O pure One, then being agitated the hunin (stick) mountain went down to the nether region.”

tato : tatas(in pause), “hence, then, therefore”, Pāṇ.V. 3.7 ; VI. 3.35, see in analysis of st.5, sarga 45; sandhi : the group –as becomes o before the sonant dental d of devāsurāḥ, Pāṇ.V. 1.113; VI. 1.114, see in analysis of st.5, sarga 45;

sarve : sarva- “all, all of”, N.pl.m., related to devāsurāḥ; devāsurāḥ dvandva compound, deva + asurāḥ, N.pl.m., subject of mamanthū;

sandhi : a + a = ā, Pāṇ.VI. 1.101, see in analysis of st.1, sarga 45;

mamanthū : ma–manth–ur(in pause), coming from the root MANTH-, strong form of MATH- 1st cl. (or 9th cl.), “to churn, to produce by churning”, ma, reduplication (abhyāsa), see Pāṇini's sūtra in analysis of st.18, sarga

45; math-, root ur, personal flexional ending of 3rd pers.pl. of Perfect tense, Parasmai pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.82, see in analysis of st.18, sarga 45;

sandhi : the final r of -ur must be dropped down as it is followed by r of raghunandana and consequently the vowel u is lengthened, Pāṇ.VI. 3.111; VIII. 4.14;

praviveśātha : pra-vi-veśa-atha,

pra, prefix, vi-, reduplication (abhyāsa), see Pāṇini's sūtra in analysis of st.18, sarga 45;

veś-, root VIŚ-, i → e, guṇa Pāṇ.I. 1.2; I. 1.3; VIII.3.84; see st. 12, Parasmai pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.82, see in analysis of st.18, sarga 45;

sandhi : = veśa + atha, a + a = ā, Pāṇ.VI. 1.101, see in analysis of st.1, sarga 45;

raghunandana : Voc.sg.m., used for Rāma, Pan.VI. 1.69; VII. 3.107; VII. 3.108, see in analysis of st.12, sarga 45;

nandana – adj. “rejoicing, gladdening”; NAND- 1st cl. “to rejoice, to delight, to be pleased with, to be glad of”; otherwise, nandana has -ana as suffix that is stated by Pāṇini's sūtra III. 2.150; III. 1.134; VII. 1.1, see in analysis of st.4, sarga 45;

The initial dental nasal n of nandana cannot be changed into a cerebral nasal ṇ; it is stated by Pāṇini's sūtra VIII. 4.39 :

kṣubhnādiṣu ca/39/padāni/kṣubhnādiṣu ca/

The cerebral nasal ṇa is not the substitute of a dental nasal na in the words like kṣubhnā and so on.

pātālam : pātāla– s.nt. “the lower world” (adholoka–s.m.); “a hole” (chidra– s.nt.);

“submarine fire” (vaḍavānala– s.m.), Ac.sg., object of praviveśa;

manthānah : manthānas (in pausa), root MANTH– + āna, present participle in passive form ; the suffix āna has to be added to weak stem of any athematic conjugation; for –āna, Pāṇ.III. 2.124; III. 2.127, see in analysis of st.5 E, sarga 45;

parvato'nagha : parvato, parvatas(in pausa), parvata– s.m. “a mountain, a hill”, N.sg., subject of praviseśa ;

'nagha : anagha (in pausa), a–nagha– adj. “innocent, pure , faultless”, Voc.sg.m. used for Rāma ; for Voc., see in analysis of st.12, sarga 45, see under used for Rāma; for Voc., see in analysis of st.12, sarga 45, see under raghunandan in this strophe;

sandhi : –as + a, the group –as changes into o before the privative a of anagha and consequently this a must be dropped down, Pāṇ.VI. 1.109, see in analysis of st.12, sarga 45; for the privative a of a–nagha, Pāṇ.VI. 2.116, see in analysis of st.16, sarga 45.

The word ārdhadhātuka in the sutra is very importance at considering the vowel i□which is needful with a consonant, except y. In the opposite of this, the sūtra VII. 2.76 ordains that i□be used with sarvadhātuka affixes in the conjugation of the verb belonging to Rudādi group. Val consonant means all consonants other than semi-vowel y. This is an adhikāra-rule.

lū + i- + tavya = lavitavya.

see in analysis of st.16;

prati-grahaṇa– s.nt. “marrying”, Ab.sg., Pāṇ. VII. 1.12, see in analysis of st.1A; tāś: tas(in pausa), from the stem tad–, N.pl.f., used for apsarasas as having been stated since the strophe 20; sandhi : the final dental sibilant s of tāś changes into palatal sibilant s before the voiceless palatal c of ca, Pāṇ. VIII. 3.35; VIII. 4.40, see in analysis of st.15;

smṛtāḥ : smṛta–, past participle of SMR– + Kta, SMR + ta, “regarded, recorded, mentioned, designed, called to mind”, N.pl.f., related to tāś sarvāḥ and sādhāranāḥ; for Kta, Pāṇ. III. 4.70, 71, 72, see in analysis of st.6; see also Pāṇ. VIII. 2.40, see in analysis of st.2B;

sādhāraṇāḥ : sādhāraṇa– adj. “ordinary, common”; <sup>o</sup>strī, “common woman”, i.e. prostitute; N.pl.f.; in Khmer language, people used till now strīsādhāraṇa instead of sādhāraṇastrī in Sanskrit compound. The same meaning is found in Sanskrit and in Khmer. In Khmer common speech, the equivalent to strīsādhāraṇa is strī or srī saṃphiṅ. About sādhāraṇa, Khmer speech pronounces only/sādhā/while observing the same spelling as Sanskrit does. Some vowels or syllables at the end of a Sanskrit loan-word are omitted in pronunciation; this is one of the fundamental rules of Khmer phonetics.

amṛta- s.nt. “nectar of immortality, ambrosia”, N.sg.; the initial vowel a of a-mṛta is a privative one, Pāṇ.VI. 2.116, see in analysis of st.16, sarga 45;

uttamam : ut-tama- (ud-tamap), “best, excellent, highest, uppermost, foremost, first, greatest”; there are tamap and tarap showing comparison; Pāṇini's points out both of them as GHA ; we have four sūtras connected with this :

I. 1.22 : taraptamapau ghal/22/padāni/tarap tamapau ghal/

Pāṇ. VIII. 4.55 :

vṛttih/ khari ca parato jhalām carādeśo bhavati/ jhal and car are seen in the former sūtra ; jhal means all non-nasal + fricatives (jhaY + śal); car, all voiceless un-aspirated + sibilants ; khar, all voiceless consonants (= khaY + śar); the vṛttih points out the condition of the substitution (ādeśa).

bhid + tumun = bhed + tum = bhet-tum ;

labh + sya = lap-sya ;

yudh + san = yu-yudh + sa- = yu-yut-sa.

udatiśṭhan : ud-a-ti-ś-h-a-n, ud < ut, prefix, sandhi : the voiceless dental t changes into the sonant d before the vowel a (augment), Pāṇ. II. 1.38; II. 1.39; VI. 3.2, see in analysis of st.8, sarga 45;

a, augment(bhūtakarāṇa), Pāṇ. VI. 4.71, see in analysis of st. 16, sarga 45; ti, reduplication(abhyāsa), which one can say, according to the general principle of reduplication ; the present case tis̤lh-a is worth while considering as the stem of present conjugation(aṅga) and this is stated by Pāṇini's sutra VII. 3.78, see in analysis of st.12, sarga 45;

The radical vowel a of STHĀ- must be dropped down, see firstly Pāṇ.VI. 4.64;

VII. 2.52; VI. 1.97, in analysis of st. 5E, sarga 45; it remains sth-+a+n; the vowel a is called vikaraṇa by which the stem of conjugation tis̤lh-a is obtained, Pāṇ.III. 1.68, see in analysis of st.12, sarga 45;

-n, personal flexional ending of Imperfect tense, 3rd pers.pl., Parasmai pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.100, see in analysis of st.16; III. 4.99, see in analysis of st.17; III. 4.101, see in analysis of st.21, sarga 45;

sandhi : the dental sibilant s of sth-a changes into a cerebral one as it is preceeded by the vowel i of ti, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.16; VIII. 3.41; VIII. 3.65 . . . , see in analysis of st.16, sarga 45; the voiceless dental th becomes a cerebral th as it follows the cerebral sibilant s, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.41, see in analysis of st.25, sarga 45.

*Atha tasya krte rāma mahānāśit kulakṣayaḥ/

diteḥ putrān asūdayan /27/*

“Then O Rāma, the ruin of a family (of the demons) took place for that (nectar). But the sons of Aditi killed the sons of Diti.”

tu : ind. “but” Pāṇ.VI. 3.133, see in analysis of st.14, sarga 45;

atha : ind. then;

krte : kṛta- KR- + kta → kṛ- + ta, for kta, Pāṇ.III. 4.70, 71, 72, see in analysis of st.3, sarga 45; L.sg.;

rāma : Voc.sg., “O Rāma”; mahānāśīt : mahān-āśīt, mahān from the stem mahat-, mahat + su / mah-a-n-t + Su → mah-a-n-t + (Pāṇ. VI. 1.68) = mah-a-n+(VIII. 2.23 → mah-ā-n-tau/am/as, mahān : N.sg.m., with regard to the final dental nasal, Pāṇ. VIII. 3.30; VIII. 3.7; VI. 1.68; VI. 4.8; VIII. 2.7; VI.
4.14; VII. 1.70; see in analysis of st.8 H, sarga 45;

The Pañini's sūtra VI. 4.10 must be added to this ensemble as the last vowel a of mahān is lengthened.

sāntamahataḥ samyogasya/10/padāni/sānta mahataḥ samyogasya (dīrghaḥ)/ vṛttih/ sakārāntasya samyogasya yo nakāraḥ mahataś ca tasyaupadhāyā dīrgho bhavati sarvanāmasthāne parato'sambuddhau/

* in case of stem ending in s, the penultimate vowel is lengthened,

* in case of stem ending in s with a nasal consonant preceding it,

The case of Vocative must be kept off; the sūtra VI.
4.10 has nothing to do with the stems having tudant-/tudat- as paradigm.

āśīt : a-AS-ī-t, a, augment (bhūtakaranya), Pāṇ. VI. 4.71, see in analysis of st.16, sarga 45; AS-, root, 2nd cl., “to be”, sandhi : a + a à ā, Pāṇ. VI. 1.101, see in analysis of st.16, sarga 45.

kula- s.nt. “a race, family, community, tribe, caste, set, company”;

kṣaya- s.m., from the root KṣI-, (KṣI-+aC), “loss, decline, waste, wane”; “destruction, end”; “negative sign” (in algebra), minus”;

There is Pāṇini's sūtra VI. 1.201 :

kṣayo nivāse/201/padāni/kṣayah nivāse/vṛttih/ kṣayaśabdo nivāse'bhidhaye adyudātto bhavati/

When being with affix GHA(III. 1.118), kṣaya means “house, dwelling, residence”; when being added by aC(III. 2.31) kṣay-ā means “destruction, decline, waste, wane”;

kula-kṣaya- s.m. “decay of a race or a family”;

Khmer language used generally kṣay(ksay)(a) by considering the case of KSI + aC.

adites : aditi- s.f. wife of Kaśyapa and mother of the gods ;
see in analysis of st.24, Pāṇ.VII. 4.40;

tatah : tatas(in pauza), “then, therefore, hence”, Pāṇ.V. 3.7; VI. 3.35, see in analysis of st.5, sarga 45;

the final dental sibilant s of the group -ās is dropped down before the sonant d of diteḥ, Pāṇ. VIII. 3.19; VIII.
3.22, see in analysis of st.15, sarga 45;

G.sg., sandhi : the final dental sibilant s becomes visarga before the voiceless p of putrān, Pāṇ. VIII. 3.34, 35, 36, see in analysis of st.15, sarga 45;

putrān : putra- s.m. “a son, a male child”. Ac.pl., Pāṇ.VI.
1.102, 103, see in analysis of st.8 h, sarga 45;

Puṁnāmno narakād yasmāt trāyate pitaram sutah/tasmāt putra iti proktah svayam eva svayambhuvā/138/, Chap.IX

“Because the male child saves his father from the hell called put, therefore he was called a son (putra) by the Self-existent on himself.”

According to this putra should be written strictly as puttra.

Pāṇ.I. 2.68 :

bhrātṛputrau svāśrduhitṛbhyaṁ/68/padāni/bhrātṛ putrau svāśr duhitṛbhyaṁ/68/padāni/bhrātṛ putrau svāśr duhitṛbhyaṁ (śeṣah)/ vṛttih/ yathāsaṅkhyam bhrātṛputraśadvauśisyete sahavacane svāśrduhitṛbhyaṁ/

This sūtra puts an end to the effect of the governing rule I. 2.65. We have here the words duhitṛ and svāśr. One may retain : putra + duhitṛ = putrau; bhrātṛ + svāśr = bhrātarau.

The verse of the Yajñavalkya Smṛti patnīduhitaraś caiva pitarau bhrātaras tathā, is the practical application of this sūtra. With regard to the spirit of the latter, bhrātṛ may mean “brothers and sisters”, so the sisters have a right to inherit property of their brothers. Otherwise, if bhrātaras be considered as simply the plural of bhrātṛ, it means only “brothers” and the sisters are excluded. The very case could create the jurisprudence at the justice-court.

asūdayan : a-sūd-ay-a-n. a, augment(bhūtakaranya), Pāṇ.VI. 4.71, see in analysis of st.16, sarga 45; SŪD-, root 10th cl. (or 1st cl.), “to kill, to destroy”;

—ay-, infix of 10th cl., —a-, vowel of the stem of conjugation(vikaranya), Pāṇ.III. 1.68, see in analysis of st.12, sarga 45;

—n, personal flexional ending of Imperfect tense, 3rd pers.pl., Parasmaipada, Pāṇ.III. 4.100, see in analysis of st.21, sarga 45. The stem of conjugation of Imperfect tense is a-sūday-a. The final nasal n can be seen through Pāṇ.VIII. 2.23, see in analysis of st.8 H, sarga 45.

N.B. It can also be seen as ekatāmagaman.

ekato'bhyāgaman : ekatas abhi-ā-GAM-a-n (in pause), ekata- adj. “exclusiveness”; “an invariable rule of conduct or action”; “exclusive aim or boundary”; “exclusive recourse”;

ekatas abhi-ā-GAM-a-n, sandhi : * -as + a à o, Pāṇ.VI. 109, see in analysis of st.12, sarga 45;

* the i of abhi changes into y before the vowel a(augment), according to samprasāraṇa principle, Pāṇ.I. 1.45; VI. 4.131; VI. 1.77; VI. 1.127; see in analysis of st.2, sarga 45;

—n, personal flexional ending of thematic Aorist, 3rd pers.pl. Parasmai pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.100; III. 4.99; III. 4.101; VIII. 2.23, see respectively in analysis of st.16, 17, 21, 8 H, sarga 45;

ā—GAM— 1st cl. “to arrive at, to attain, to reach”; “to fall into”; “to have recourse to”;

abhy-ā—GAM— “to come near to, to approach” ;

sarve : sarva—, “all, all of”, N.pl.m., related to asurā; hyasurā : hi asurās(in pausa), hi, particle, “for, because”, Pāṇ.VIII. 1.34, 35, see in analysis of st.12, sarga 45;

sandhi : the vowel i of hi changes into y before the vowel a of asurā;

asurā : a-surās(in pausa), a-sura— s.m. “an evil spirit, a demon”, N.pl.; at a first glance, the vowel a may be considered as a privative one(Pāṇ.VI. 2.116); in Vāyu Pūrāṇa, the asūra were created as sons from Prajāpati's groin. The privative a would have nothing to do here if asu bore the sense of “breath”, (it may be believed to be a lower breath), according to the Brahmanas (see in analysis of st.25, sarga 45), Consequently, one cannot see as if the word asura were the opposite of sura, “god”.

sandhi : the final dental sibilant s of the group —ās must be dropped down before the sonant r of rākṣasaiḥ, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.19; VIII. 3.22, see in analysis of st.15, sarga 45;

rākṣasaiḥ : rākṣasais(in pausa), I.pl., rākṣasa— s.m. “a demon, an evil spirit”, (rakṣasa idam an);

saha : ind. “with, together with, along with”; “accompanied by”; “together, jointly, conjointly”; “simultaneously, at the same time”, (astodayau sahaivāsau kurute nṛpatir dvīśām);

yuddham—āśīn—mahāghoram, yuddha: yudh + kta (for kta = ta, Pāṇ.III. 4.70, 71, 72, see in analysis of st.3, sarga 45); yudh + ta → yudh + da, t → d, Pāṇ.II. 1.38; II. 1.39; VI. 3.2, see in analysis of st.8, sarga 45; the h of dh is then associated with =, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.53 :

jhalām jaśjhaśi/53/padāni/jhalām jaś jhaśi/ āśīn : āśīt (in pausa), a, augment (bhūtakaraṇa), Pāṇ.VI.4.71, see in analysis of st.16, sarga 45; AS-, root, 2nd cl., “to be”, sandhi : a + a = ā, Pāṇ.VI. 1.101m see in analysis of st.1, sarga 45;

–ī–(=ī–), Pāṇ.VII. 3.96, see in analysis of st.16, sarga 45;

–t, personal flexional ending of Imperfect tense, 3rd pers.sg., Parasmai pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.100, see in analysis of st.16, sarga 45;

sandhi : the final voiceless dental t changes into the nasal n of dental class before the labial nasal m of mahāghoram : Pāṇ.II. 1.39; VI. 3.2, see in analysis of st.16, sarga 45;

mahā : from mahat- (mah – ati), adj. “great, big, house, vast”; mahā is considered at the beginning of Karmadhāraya and Bahuvrīhi compounds and also at the beginning of some irregular words. (For some cases of declension of mahat-, see in analysis of st.27, sarga 45; mahā is used in the st.5, 8, 12, 15, 2 B); ghoram : ghora- adj. “terrific, violent, frightful, terrible”, Ac. sg.nt., related to yuddham;

yuddham : yuddha- (YUDH-+kta, yudh- + ta), past participle (of the 4th cl.), “fought, encountered”; s.nt. “war, battle, fight, engagement, contest, struggle, combat”; Khmer language uses the same word and has the same meaning as Sanskrit does.

vīra : Voc.sg. “O Hero”, used for Rāma ; mhanam : mhana- s.nt. an epithet of Śiva, name of one of the five arrows of Kāmadeva ; s.nt. “stupefying, bewildering, perplexing, puzzling; stupor, loss of sensation, mistake, embarrassment, perplexing, any means employed for bewildering others, seduction, fascinating”; (MUH- ḷic-lyu lyu- vā), for ana, Pāṇ.III. 2.150; III. 1.134; VII. 1.1, see in analysis of st.4, sarga 45; trailokya— s.nt. “the three worlds(taken collectively)” ; it is an opportunity to say that the world trailokya is a part of the gāṇa-caturvarṇādi. It is also known as brahmaṇādi or akṛtigāṇa which has 106 words. The matter is stated by a Pāṇini's sūtra V. 1.124 :

guṇavacanabrahmaṇādibhyah karmāṇi/124/padāni/guṇavaca brāhmaṇādibhyah karmāṇi ca (syañ)/ vṛttih/ gunamuktavanto gunavacanāḥ guvacanebhyo brāhmaṇādibhyas ca tasyeti śaśīśamarthebhayah karmāṇyābhigheye yañ pratyayo bhavati/cakārād bhāve ca/vārttikam / caturvarṇādīnāṁ svārthaupasāṅkhyānam/

The ca in the aphorism is used with the intension of including the “nature” of the matter aimed by the spirit of the sūtra. The word karman points out what it can be considered as duty, and the sense (or meaning) extends from this sūtra till the end of the chapter I. The idea connected with “nature, state, condition” may be felt since the sūtra V.I.119. The affix syañ is seen since the sutra V. 1.123 that is intended to denote colour, the sense of “nature thereof”; the affix syañ of the sūtra V. 1.124 brings in a precision relating to the word expressive of quality, the sense of activity or occupation of something or some one. In practical way syañ is ya, iman(imanic), tva, tā.

4.70, 71, 72, see in analysis of st.3, sarga 45;

in case of ga-ta, the labial nasal m of the root must be dropped down, Pāṇ.VI. 4.37, see in analysis of st.6, sarga 45;

kṣayam : kṣaya- s.m., from the root KSI- 1st cl.(or 5th or 9th cl.), “loss, decline, waste, wane, diminution, destruction, decay, wasting”; kṣayam + GAM-, “to become less, to be diminished, to go to destruction, to come to an end”, (kṣyam + YA-, kṣayam + I-); *Pāṇ.*VI. 1.201, see in analysis of st.27, sarga 45; with affix GHA-(III. 1.118), kṣaya means “house, dwelling, residence”; KSI- added by aC(III. 2.31), kṣaya means “destruction, decline, wane”;

sarvam̄ : sarva– pron. “all, whole, all, all of, complete” (akhila, sakala, viśva, pūrṇa), Pān.I. 1.27, see in analysis of st.3, sarga 45;

viṣṇur mahābalah : viṣṇus mahābalas (in pausa), viṣṇu— s.m. proper name of the God, 2nd deity of the Triad, his function is the preservation of the world, he has many incarnations; (viṣ vyāpane nuk); there is a popular idea about this god :

*yasmād viśvamidaṁ sarvam

yadā : ind. “when, at the time when”, “whereas, since as”; (yad kāle dāc); tadā : ind. “then, at the time ; “then, in that case”; (being generally correlative of yadā), Pāṇ. V. 3.15, see in analysis of st.4, sarga 45;

tūrṇam : tūrṇa– adj., Ac. (or ind.) as used with the verb aharat, “quickly, speedily” (tvaritam, kṣipram, drutam); amṛrtam : a-mṛta– s.nt. (or adj.), “the nectar”, the vowel a is a privative one, Pāṇ.VI. 2.116, see in analysis of st.16, sarga 45;

mohinīm : mohinī– s.f., proper name of an Apsaras(nymph); “a fascinating woman” (the form assumed by Viṣṇu at the time of cheating the demons of the nectar), Ac.sg., object of āsthāya; āsthāya : abs. in -ya– of the root ā + STHĀ– 1st cl., “to use, to have recourse to, to resort to, to practice, to take, to assume, to follow”, for absolutive in -ya–, see Pāṇ.VII. 1.37, see in analysis of st.18, sarga 45;

so'harat : sas aharat (in pausa), sas : from the stem tad–, N.sg.m., sandhi : as + a → o, Pāṇ.VI. 1.109, see in st.12, sarga 45;

aharat : a-har-a-t, from the root HR– 1st cl., a–, augment (bhūtakaraṇa), Pāṇ.VI. vowel r changes into ar, Pāṇ.I. 1.51 :

uraṇ raparah /51/padāni/uḥ aṇ̄ ra parah/ *vṛttih/ uḥ(rkārasya) sthāneṇ prasajyamāna eva raparo

There are three important words :

* uḥ, genitive sg. of r (“of r, in the place of r”, as it can be rendered);

* añ means a, i, u(long and short);

* raparah qualifies añ meaning a r after.

With regard to the sūtra, a is the guṇa of r, and this a must have r after it. So, we have r → ar, see also the sūtra VII. 1.100; IV. 1.115; IV. 1.97; viṣṇunā prabhavīṣṇunā/30/*

“Those who faced Lord Viṣṇu were killed in the battle by mighty Viṣṇu, the undecaying Lord and the best among the men”.

puruṣottamam : puruṣa + uttama, “the best of men, the best among men”, Ac.sg.

uttamam : ut-tama- (ud-tama), “best excellent, highest, uppermost, foremost”; this is the case of tamap and tarap called GHA by Pāṇini's sūtra : I. 1.22; VIII. 2.17; V. 3.55; V. 3.57, see in analysis of st.26, sarga 45; ud ा ut, d → t, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.55, see in analysis of st.26, sarga 45; puruṣa- s.m. “a man”;

viṣṇum : viṣṇu- s.m. proper name of the God being considered as the 2nd of the Triad, (see a well-known strophe of the Viṣṇu-Purāṇa, quoted in analysis of st.29, sarga 45);

akṣayam : a-ksaya- adj. (nāsti kṣayo yasya), “undecaying, exempt from decay, imperishable, undying”, Ac.sg., related to viṣṇum, privative a, Pāṇ.VI. 2.116, see in analysis of st.16, sarga 45;

gatābhīmukham : gata + abhimukha-, sandhi : Pāṇ.VI. 1.101,
see in analysis of st.1, sarga 45;

gata-: from GAM- + kta = gam-ta, kta, Pāṇ. III. 4.70, 71,72
see in analysis of st.3, sarga 45;

the labial nasal m of the root must be dropped down, Pāṇ.VI. 4.37, see in analysis of st.6, sarga 45;

abhi-mukha- adj. (abhigatam mukham yasya), “with the face turned or directed towards, in the direction of, towards, turned towards, facing”, Ac.sg., related to viṣṇum; there is a Pāṇini's sūtra VI. 2.185 :

abhermukham /185/ padāni/abheḥ mukham (antodāttam)/

vṛttih/ abheruttaram mukhamantodāttam bhavati/

The compound abhimukha can be called as bahuvrīhi or a prādisamāsa. The present compound cannot be believed to be an Avyayibhāva (cf. Pāṇ.VI. 1.223). With regard to the sūtra VI. 2.177, the present one gives more precision connected with the word mukha having acute on the final when preceeded by abhi.

ye : coming from the stem yad-, N.pl.m., Pāṇ.VII 2.102 :

tyadādīnāmah /102/padāni/tyadādīnām ah/

vṛttih/ tyadītyevamādīnāmakārādeśo bhavati vibhaktau paratah/

There is a short a which is substituted to tyad when vibhakti follows.

sampiṣṭās : sam-piṣ-a, sam-piṣ-kta, coming from the root Piṣ- 7th cl., “to pound to pieces, to bruise, to crush”; “to destroy, to kill”, past participle, N.pl.m., sandhi : the final sibilant s of the group -ās is maintained before the voiceless dental t of te, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.34; VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of st.9, sarga 45; the voiceless dental t of ta becomes a cerebral one after the final sibilant s of Piṣ. VIII. 4.41, see in analysis of st.25, sarga 45;

te : from the stem tad-, N.pl.m., Pāṇ.VII. 2.102, see under ye;

tadā : ind. “then” (tasmin samaye), Pāṇ.V. 3.15, see in analysis of st.4, sarga 45;

yuddhe : yuddha- from YUDH- + kta → yudh- + ta → yudh- + d (t → d, Pāṇ.II. 1.38; II. 1.39; VI. 3.2, see in analysis of st.8, sarga 45; the h of dh is then associated with d, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.53, see in analysis of st.2 B, sarga 45; yuddha + i → yuddhe, L.sg., sandhi : as + i → e, Pāṇ.VI. 1.87, see in analysis os st.8, sarga 45;

viṣṇunā : viṣṇu- s.m. “the god Viṣṇu”(see under viṣṇur mahābalah, in analysis of st.29, sarga 45);

prabhaviṣṇunā : prabhaviṣṇu- adj. “strong, mighty, powerful”; “pre-eminent, distinguished”; an epithet of the god Viṣṇu; I.sg., related to viṣṇunā;

gata- “gone, departed, gone for ever, dead, deceased, departed to the next world”;

Khmer language uses gata bearing the sense connected with “death, to die”. In Royal vocabulary, drañ'sugat (a), drañ' soy brah divāṅgata(a). When speaking about a monk, to die can be expressed by aniccadhamm(a), sugat(a), kālakiriyā(in ritual text). The term brah sugat (a) is exclusively for the Buddha. Brah sugat(a) can be rendered as “the One who has the good destiny or has well-departed”. i.e. he had reached the Nirvāṇa.

Aditer ātmajā vīrā diteḥ putrān nijaghniре/tasmin yuddhe mahāghore daiteyādityayor bhṛśam/31/

“When this great-frightfulled battle was intensely engaged between the demons and the gods, the sons of Aditi killed the ones of Diti.”

vīrā : vīrās(in pausa), vīra- adj. “heroic, brave”; “mighty, powerful”, N.pl.m., related to ātmajā; sandhi : the final dental sibilant s of the group -ās must be dropped down before the sonant d of diteḥ, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.19; Pāṇ.VIII. 3.22, see in analysis of st.15, sarga 45;

aditerāmajā : adites ātma-jāś(in pausa),

sandhi : the final dental sibilant s of adites changes into r before the vowel a of ātma-jā, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.15; VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of st.7, sarga 45;

ātma-, ātman- s.m. “a soul”, “self”; in compound the final nasal must be dropped down;

jā : coming from the root JAN-), atma<sup>0</sup>, “self originated”; “born from one's self”, “begotten by one's self”, i.e. “a son” sandhi : the final sibilant dental s of the group -ās must be dropped down before the sonant v of vīrā ; Pāṇ.VIII. 3.19; VIII. 3.22, see in analysis of st.15 sarga 45; it can be understood as “the ones issued from the soul of Aditi”, i.e. “the sons of Aditi”; “the god”;

ātma-jā : N.pl.m., subject of nijaghniре;

diteḥ : dites (in pausa), diti– s.f. “the mother of the demons”, G.sg., sandhi : the final dental sibilant s becomes visarga before the voiceless p of putrān, Pāṇ. VIII. 3.34, 35, 36, see in analysis of st.15, sarga 45; putrān: putra– s.m. “a son, a male child”, Ac.pl., Pāṇ. VI. 1.102, 103, see in analysis of st.8 h, sarga 45;

bhrśam : bhrśa– adj. “strong, powerful, mighty, intense, excessive, very much”; –am “exceedingly, intensely, violently, excessively in high degree, greatly”;

tasmin : from the stem tad-, L.sg.;

mahāghore : mahā–ghora–, mahā coming from mahat- (mah – ati), adj. “great, big, huge, vast, see in analysis of st.28, sarga 45;

ghore : ghora- adj. “terrific” violent, frightful, terrible”, L.sg.; from tasmin . . . <sup>o</sup>ghore, it may be considered as an absolute locative; yuddhe : yuddha, (coming from the root YUDH–), yuddha– s.m. “war, battle”, L.sg., yuddha + i → yuddhe, a + i à e, Pāṇ.VI. 1.87, see in analysis of st.3, sarga 45;

Moreover, the spelling of yuddha can be seen as YUDH– + kta, yudh– + ta, Pāṇ.III. 4.70, 71, 72, see in analysis of st.6, sarga 45; yudh– + ta → yudh + da, t → d, Pāṇ.II. 1.38,39; VI. 3.2, see in analysis of st.8, sarga 45;

Yudh + da → yud+dha, h + d → dh, Pāṇ.VIII. 4.53, see in analysis of st.2B, sarga 45;

daiteya- s.m. (diterapatyam dhak), “a son of Diti”, i.e. “a demon, a rāksasa”;

ādityayor : ādityayos(in pausa), dual G., āditya– s.m. “son of Aditi”, “a god, a divinity”;

sandhi : the final dental sibilant s changes into r before the sonant bh of bhrśam, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.15; VIII. 2.66, see in analysis of st.7, sarga 45;

a + ā → ā, Pāṇ.VI. 1. 101, see in analysis of st. 1, sarga 45;

nijagnire : ni–ja–ghn–ire, ni, prefix, ja reduplication (abhyāsa), Pāṇ.VI. 1.4; VI. 1.10; VII. 4.59; VII. 4.62, see in analysis of st. 18, sarga 45; (see also Pāṇ.III. 2.178, see in analysis of st.2 B, sarga 45);

HAN– 2nd cl., root, “to kill, to slay, to destroy, to strike down, to beat, to burst”, before a pers.flexional ending beginning with a vowel ghn is used as it is stated by two Pāṇini's sūtra, VI. 4.98, see in analysis of st.3 C, and Pāṇ.VII. 3.54;

ho hanter ūṇitneṣu/54/padāni/hah hanteḥ ūṇit neṣu/

pratyaye parato nakāre ca/

A guttural is substituted for h of HAN– before an affix having an indicatory ū, ṇ, and before n.

ire, personal flexional ending of 3rd pers.pl.Perfect tense, Ātmane pada, Pāṇ.III. 4.81, see in analysis of st.18, sarga 45; the vowel i of ire is said Pāṇ.III. 4.81, see in analysis of st.18, sarga 45; the vowel i of ire is said by Pāṇini's sūtra VI. 4.64, see in analysis of st. 18, sarga 45.

Nihatya ditiputrāṁś ca rājyam prāpya purandarah/śāśāsa mudito lokān sarsisaṅghān sacāraṇān/32/

“Having killed the sons of Diti and obtaining a right sovereignty, Indra happily ruled the worlds of the ascetics and the celestial singers.”

nihatya : abs. in -ya of the root HAN–, Pāṇ.VII. 1.37, see in analysis of st.18, sarga 45;

diti : “the mother of the demons”, first member of tat purusa compound diti<sup>o</sup> putrāṁś : putrān (in pausa) putra-s.m. “a son”, see in analysis of st.27, sarga 45; putrān, Ac.pl., Pāṇ.VI. 1.102, 103, see in analysis of st.8 h, sarga 45;

sandhi : the final dental nasal n changes into –ṁś before the voiceless palatal c of ca, Pāṇ.VIII. 3.7, see in analysis of st.21, sarga 45;

prāpya : pra–ĀP–ya : abs. in –ya, Pāṇ.VII. 1.37, see in analysis of st.18, sarga 45; pra, prefix, ĀP–, root of 5th cl., “to obtain, to attain, to get, to reach, to occupy”;

“The Water Festival”, that is what French People call this picturesque ceremony. In fact, this is the pirogue racing; it could be in its first aspect the ceremony recalling the Angkorian valiant combatants'naval engagement to any Khmer people. The significant image is suggested by the bas-relief of the Bayon temple. This pirogue racing is known as Puṇy(a) Um Dūk which lasts 3 days a year (November, 14th day of the waxing moon, full moon of the month kṛttikā, the 1st day of the warning moon of the same month). The race is in the afternoon of each day; at the evening of the full moon (2nd day of race), the royal ritual service performs the ceremony called Sambah Brah Khae, “Salutation to the Moon”. It is of course followed by the particular kind of songs known as Criēn sakravād(i) (its technical singing is called criēn he). The best crew is chosen at the 3rd race of the 3rd day. The “captain” of this crew is then authorized to hold the sword which has been previously purified and consacrated by the Brahmin coming from the Pārāyan(a) country in the Northern province Kompong Thom, nearby the pre-angkorian site known is Prasat Phum Prasat. This Brahmin keeps under its protection the four sacred spears of Khmer Kingdom. He bears the high title of Cau Bañā Brahm(anya) Jāy. At the purposeful moment of the Pirogue racing, he has performed the purification of the sword in front of the images of Śiva, Viṣṇu, Gaṇeśa, Kaccāyana (or Kātyāyana of Kati?) and Prakāṁ (“the genius of lasso”); these five divinities are called Pañcaksetr. Concerning any doubtful point in the ritual performing act, the Cau Bañā Brahm(anya) Jāy's view is determinating and must be listened to. At the last solemn race, the “captain” of the winning crew holds out the sword, the pirogue goes on high speed, followed by the others. A hide rope is stretched across the river by two boats. The “captain” must cut off this hide rope at one time. When passing through the large space limited by the two boats, any rower has to raise up his oar and makes the ho which is a loud scream; this is, needed , a war-cry. These acts and scream are known as the ritual Cāp' kūn khlaen, “to catch the chicks of kite (Tyo Alba).” After this, all the pirogues spread far and wide. As the pirogue racing is on the Daanle Sāp river. connected with the mount Bhnam Gūlaen (the Mahendra- parvata of Khmer country) by the Siemreap rive (sdiñ Siemrāp) which flows across Angkor Thom, the water, in the months Āśvina and Kṛttikā, is called dik aṅgar pāk', “water that runs fast from Angkor” or “water that pours tremendously from, Yacodharapura”. At a certain place near the Mount Bhnam Gūlaen, there are many linga which had been depicted even in the bottom and on the shores of the river. So, its flow is permanently blessed by Śiva before reaching Angkor Thom, the Lake Danle Sāp, the Danle Sāp river at Phnom Penh. Joining the river Me Gang(a), this dik aṅgar pāk' goes on toward the Southern sea. Cutting off the hide rope stretched across the river may mean a liberating act by which the flow pouring down from the mount Bhnañ Gūlaen will reach the sea. The gist of the ritual of pirogue racing is that the awe-inspiring ceremony makes it easy to understand the natural and the cultural elements, by putting before anyone from the start, that one may see it mirrored throughout the concrete evidence. The ritual ceremony may be bound to the Gāṅgā's descent from the heaven on the earth. Her descent had been granted by Brahmā himself, (cf. the Bālakāṇḍa of Vālmīki's Rāmāyaṇa). Can the Brahmin from the Pārāyaṇ(a) country be the symbol of the Rṣi Jahnu?

After the ceremony of the New Year (Caitra), this is one of the important, pictureque rituals before the real beginning of ploughing the paddy-field. Each year the ritual takes place on the ground called Vāl Brahmaṇu, “the Plain of Meru Mountain” which is, in Phnom Penh, at the North East of the Royal Throne Palace. According to the Khmer calendar, the ritual ploughing is held on the 4th day of the waning moon of Vaiśākha month (May). The man who drives the plough is always a civil servant of the ministry of Agriculture, and the Minister had traditionally borne the title Bahuladeva. As he drives the plough pulled by a pair of go usabharāj, “the royal oxen”, his wife follows him in the company of some ladies, sows broadcast the seeds of paddy, (alternately toward the left-hand side and another). The choice species is known as Krayā sambān'. The man is called Sēc māgh and his wife Brah mae huo. Within 48 hours of the ceremony, the couple are considered as the King and Queen. Ploughing and sowing must be made three times during the procession round the symbolic paddy-field. At each round, the conchs are blown by the Pāragū. When the 3rd round has been accomplished, the procession must come to a stop before a pavilion built at the East side of the symbolical paddy-field. A statue of Viṣṇu is in it. The Brahmin bearing the title Isībhadd comes near the plough and releases the go usabharāj from the yoke. He presents the two oxen to the divinity and begins to bless them by reciting some special mantra and sprinkles them with holy water. Afterward, this Brahmin drives the two oxen before the Royal Tribune being at the South side of the symbolic paddy-field and its main facade is opened toward the North. Before the King and his family surrounded by the official entourage, there are on the North. Before the King and his family surrounded by the official entourage, there are on the large rush-plaited mats (kandel) seven big trays containing respectively the paddy (srūv), beans (sanḍek), maize (bot), sesame(līla), fresh herbs (smau sras'), water (dik) and alcohol (srā). The seven elements are taken into account according to what the two oxen will eat or drink. The whole rural population is eager to know the prognostication and also wait for the official bulletin bearing the royal seal. The two animals are set free, they go on and see the seven big trays. As they start eating, the Brahmin Isībhadd standing around them go on and see the seven big trays. As they start eating, the Brahmin Isībhadd standing around them observes the attitude of each one of them. What is the degree of their fondness for different provenders? Who is very keen on such and such big tray? How many times each one of them eats at such and such big tray? For example, if they eat more paddy (srūv), the next harvesting will be prosperous. If they are keen on alcohol, the country will be disturbed by many thieves. This prognostication will state many things to people, i.e. the wind (storm ...), the fire (outbreak of fire), the water(flood), the earth(land-slide, earthquake), the running movement of rainy weather, the rate of next harvest determined by insects or gnawing animals or crabs and also some species of sparrows), the good or bad production of fruits and vegetables (included big-wig). Then the group of Pāragū and the Service of Astrology (Krum Horāsāstr) must write a survey with useful advice for people facing the possible dangers within the eleven months of the current year. These services must submit the survey to the King and He will give needful instructions to different ministeries.

Concerning the sense of ploughing the paddy-field, cf. Baradat, R. Les Samré ou Pear. Population primitive de l'Ouest du Combodge, in B.E.F.E.O., XLI, 1941. Cérémonies des douze mois, Fétes annuelles combodgiennes, issued by Institut Bouddhique, Phnom Penh, , 2nd edition, 83 pages. A point must be made : in the publication of Institut Bouddhique, one sees 'Baladeva' as the title of a Minister of Agriculture, 'Baladeva' is the name of Kṛṣṇa's elder brother. Had Balarāma something to do with agriculture? He used to carry his plough. In oral and popular belief, the title of this Minister is Bahuladeva, "the god of [what is] abundant". In this case, I prefer the oral and popular opinion to 'Baladeva' of the Institut Bouddhique. Bahuladeva may be supposed to be a Khmer innovating its way in socioreligious feeling.

The ritual ceremony of ploughing the paddy-field as well-known to Khmer religious practice can be related to what is said in Bālakāṇḍa of Vālmīki's Rāmāyaṇa. In sarga 66, Janaka, King of Mithilā told Viśvāmitra :

lāṅgalād utthitā mayā kṣetram śodhayatā labdhā nāmnā sīteti viśrutā /14/*

*Bhūtalād utthitā sā tu vyavardhata mamātmajā vīryaśulketi me kanyā
sthāpityam ayonijā /15/*

“Once, when I was ploughing the sacrificial grounds in order to clean them up, the blade of my plough turned up a little girl. This child who was born from the earth has grown up as my daughter and she is known in the world as Sītā.I announced that since this child was not born from a human womb, she would be won in marriage only after a test of strength”.

This is an important book dealing with living Khmer buddhist practices. It shows six chapters where fifty practices had been described, some of them provided many details. One can see religious ceremonies, private ceremonies, propitiatory performing acts and exorcism. I have made a long review of these ceremonies by focussing my attention on the evolution of Khmer buddhist monks in various ceremonies. I can say and accept it as consistent with the evidence. A Leclère's work may be a sort of “pattern” for living Khmer buddhist studies. Before World War II until the last decade of the XXth century, facing the Khmer realistic aspects, some surveys made by Western scholars seem incapable to disentangle their train of thought, and each time to cause them to labour under an error. At last they were flourdering through their habit of seeing the matter under their “futile theories” often affiliated with totalitarian propaganda that is reinforced by their ideological sympathy. In the future, the history of methodology used by alien in Khmer socio-religious studies will record and give a real discerning point of view. The forthcoming account whether to distinguish between right and wrong or not will matter greatly to anyone. Now, one is not aware how it shall be done. I am not worried about what is going to happen as logic and evidence shall stand for the first references and certainly tell on the general result.

What impresses us about this book today may not be what will impress future Khmer generations, but our judgments could not appreciate the real value of the subject. The coming Khmer generations will be able to understand what had been said in the book. The cause of being ill-disposed to remove the ill-conditioned aspects must be grasped through the ill-mannered Khmer leaders of the Nation, who gave up striving to hold on the authentic value (syadharma) of the people. A Leclére's book is still the rare witness of cultural activities at the beginning of the XXth century in Cambodia.

He had no knowledge in social or religious studies; he knew how to carefully record the facts with useful details. After more than twenty years in Cambodia, he was accustomed to living with all kind of situations. Reading A.Leclére's work many times, I feel his work to be a smooth way without making an effort to record things.

Even the so-called “educated Khmer” people of modern time may have found the book irksome not to be able to grasp rightly the elements of their own culture but from one period to another these people continued with their humdrum manners as befitting the humdrum sort of people they were.

I just have summed up the position of A.Leclére's book in the essential context of Khmer Theravāda Buddhist studies and social anthropology in general. There is nothing for it but to hope the present observes would set up their own guard-rails for themselves quickly.

This is a noticeable book with six chapters handled with good arguments grounded on what R.C. Majumdar had opened a wide panorama of the greater India. The work shows a great insight into the Sanskrit as known to the Khmer rulers and people of Cambodia. Its simple, direct style sets off the grand subject to its fullest advantage dealing with the synthesis of expression to sense. By the way, numerous pages can impress any reader about how Cambodian people had used and taken useful, positive dharma spread from India. The author has gained his purposeful aim as the appreciation of the greater India with happy contribution needs to be broadened into a proper comprehension of it, which I may say how he can improve true information.

N.B. An adequate mention must be made about A.K. Bhattacharyya's article issued in Arts Asiatiques. tome VI, fasc. 2, Paris 1959. Under its title laid out as The Theme of Churning of the Ocean in Indian and Khmer Art, the author gave an overview on some interesting pieces of art in the two countries without forgetting the Hindu (or Brahmanic) influence in Java. He had quoted significant passages from Viṣṇu-Purāṇa and Kūrma-Purāṇa and discussed the theme seen through Prasat Sneng West, Prasat Kuk Daung, Prasat Preah Enkosei. About a piece of unknown origin, A.K. Bhattacharya had tried to identify the persons at the upper part of a lintel(?) or a tympanum(?) by referring to the data given by the Matsya-Purāṇa.

This A.K. Bhattacharyya's article would become a pattern of iconography and its methodology as we see the reference ascertained by texts and a consistent view on Indian and Khmer art. The analytical were generally written without a reference-text. When one reads calmly some Khmer iconographical surveys, one saw a certain number of texts being mixed with speculation as some authors imbued with sonorous titles left a subtle blend of rambling ways and a trivial side-face of iconography. One should like an iconographical article which is conducive to appreciate a narrative line and an expression of depicting art.
